Lochiel-Alexandria Over Top As Counties Reach Loan Quota

Other Glengarry Loan Districts Below Objectives In Sixth Drive — Alexandria Salesmen Turned In Record Sales In Sixth Loan

The United Counties unit has once again surpassed its objective in the Sixth Victory Loan drive, according to final returns from loan headquarters, yesterday, but Glengarry failed to reach its objective of $650,000. Lochiel-Alexandria district, with $184,000, lead in volume of sales in the county and was the only canvassing unit to top its objective.

With total sales of $581,750, Glengarry reached 89.5 percent of its $650,000 objective, according to final figures. The district results were as follows:

District	Final Sales	Obj % of Obj
Lochiel	$184,000	108.2
Char.	163,950	91.1
Kenyon	124,100	75.2
Lancaster	109,800	81.2

An analysis of the final returns for the county shows that though total sales were well below the $658,700 of the fifth loan, the number of individual purchases in this drive reached a new high, with 1764 sales being recorded, 150 more than were made in the last drive. The numbers of investors by districts was as follows: Lochiel-Alexandria — 569; Kenyon — 451; Charlottetown—394; Lancaster—380. This record is an indication of the thoroughness of the canvass made by Glengarry loan salesmen and also points to the readiness of Glengarrians to "Put Victory First."

Alexandria played a leading part in the success of the drive in this district according to the final returns which show the two town salesmen, Messrs Macdonald and Morris, with total sales amounting to $108,250, well over their individual sales quotas.

The cumulative total for the three counties has been announced as $3,416,000, some $3,000 above the minimum quota. The oversubscription keeps the tricolour units string of successes intact, the objective having been reached in every loan drive.

A record final figure is expected in the national campaign. As of Wednesday the cumulative total stood at $1,356,125,500., within $27,600,000 of the last loan total. Final returns are expected to be the highest yet recorded.

Miss M. Cameron Home From India

Born 32 years on missionary work in Central India, Miss Margaret Cameron has returned to Canada and with her sister-in-law, Mrs. R. W. Cameron of Cornwall, paid her first visit to her native Glengarry last week end. Miss Cameron reached Canada by troopship in February and she is at present enjoying a furlough until her retirement in June.

Born at Fassfern, a daughter of the late Donald C. Cameron and his wife, Marjorie McPhee, Miss Cameron trained as a nurse at Pittsburgh, Penn. completing her course in 1910 and leaving the following year for India to serve with the United Church of Canada Mission.

Talking with Miss Cameron, one receives the impression she has much enjoyed her life work and she speaks highly of the cultured Indian. Though she would not be quoted on her impressions of Ghandi and the Indian nationalist movement, Miss Cameron has first hand knowledge of the problems, faced by the British Raj with the outbreak of war. Great statesmanship will be required to solve the many problems leading to nationhood for India, she declares.

Miss Cameron, we understand, purposes residing in Montreal.

Many Mourn Murdoch A. Clark

It is with sincere regret we record the death of Murdoch Adam Clark, prominent and lifelong resident of Stewart's Glen, who passed away suddenly on Tuesday night, May 9th at 11 p.m. as the result of a heart attack. Mr. Clark had not been well for some time and had been confined to his bed for the past three weeks, but good hopes were entertained for his recovery, and his death came as a shock to his family and friends.

Born on the homestead where he died, he was a son of the late William Clark and his wife the late Catherine MacMillan and was in his seventy-second year.

He served the ratepayers as Deputy Reeve for some time and as such was a member of the Counties Council. He also was active in the Stewart's Glen Sunday School having been one of the teachers there, for the past few years. The late Mr Clark was held in high esteem by his many friends and acquaintances, and was possessed of a bright and cheerful disposition which endeared him to old and young. He had a pleasing smile for all and will be sadly missed.

Holstein Breeders Plan Field Day

Discuss Possibility Of Appointing County Breeders' Salesman

A meeting of the Directors of the St. Lawrence Valley Holstein Breeders' Club was held in the Agricultural Office, Alexandria, on Wednesday evening, to discuss the programme for Holstein Extension work.

The question of a Field Day was discussed and all were unanimous that such an event should be held. A committee consisting of R. McLennan, S. Wightman, and J. A. Dalrymple was named to meet with the Ayrshire Breeders to discuss the holding of a joint Field Day or make whatever plans they saw fit.

The question of a salesman for the Holstein Breeders was discussed at considerable length. Many of the Directors felt that it would be an advantage to the Holstein Breeders of the County to have some breeder in the County named as salesman, who could be contacted by prospective buyers, as well as breeders who had animals for sale. Following this discussion it was decided to hold this matter over until a future meeting and in the meantime more information might be gathered on how Fieldmen in other Counties advertise, etc.

A maximum of $25.00 was voted for Calf Club work, to be spent as the Agricultural Representative, J. A. Dalrymple, saw fit. It was suggested that each Club member who completed the year's work would receive $1.00, or a special prize, equivalent to this amount. This was done to encourage Club members to carry through their year's project. The usual grant of $25.00 to each of the two Fairs in the district, namely Maxville and Williamstown, was approved. The Directors were advised that the Black and White Show would be sponsored by the Williams-town Fair, as it alternates between the two Societies.

It was again decided that the Directors would be forwarded 10 membership tickets with the usual membership fee of 50c. The Club had a membership of 110 last year, and is hoping to equal this or even better it.

Presbyterial W.M.S. Held Annual

The thirtieth annual meeting of Glengarry Presbyterial of the Presbyterian Church in Canada was held in St. Luke's Church, Finch on Thursday, May 11. Ideal weather, a good attendance of delegates, a well arranged program encouraging reports, and the cordial welcome expressed by Mrs. Millar, on behalf of the Auxiliaries of the congregations, were responsible for a successful meeting. Mrs. E. E. Preston expressed thanks for the welcome.

Three sessions were held, Finch Auxiliary taking charge of the morning devotions, and Avonmore Auxiliary of the afternoon, and Rev. R. Millar of Finch for the evening. Miss Laura Pelton, general secretary of the W.M.S. brought greetings from the Ontario Provincial Society, and also addressed the meeting on the duties and responsibilities of members and all departments regarding the W.M.S. work. Mrs. Lloyd gave an interesting report of the Ontario Provincial meeting in McNab Church, Hamilton, in April.

Reports of vice-presidents, emphasized the value of sectional meetings, and a W.M.S. Sunday with a special speaker. All vice-presidents had sent out cash and supply allocation for 1944 to the auxiliaries.

C.W.A.C. Bands To Visit Alexandria

Fine All-Girl Military Bands To Be Here Wednesday, June 21st.

Glengarry is to enjoy a visit by the famed Pipe and Brass Bands of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, on Wednesday evening, June 21st, according to an announcement by Capt A Howarth, district recruiting officer. The all-girl bands will parade in Alexandria early that evening and will present a concert on the Separate School grounds, according to preliminary plans.

The C.W.A.C. bands are making appearances across Canada in aid of the national campaign for 5000 recruits needed by the Women's Army Corps and it will be pleasing news that Glengarry is to have an opportunity of seeing and hearing these fine musical organizations.

Present plans call for a parade along Main street from the Sacred Heart Church to St. George street, east to Dominion, thence south to Elgin and back to Main from where the parade will proceed to the school grounds. It is safe to say the visit will draw a record crowd.

Returns From Overseas

Pte. Peter McDonald, son of Mr and Mrs Dan McDonald, Elgin street west, is home after two years service overseas with the R.O.A.S.C. He returned to Canada for medical reasons. Two brothers, Pte. Alex McDonald and Donald J. McDonald, are at present serving in Italy.

New Traffic Bylaw Passed By Council

Town Council moved to give its enforcement officers some basis for regulation of traffic when, at Monday's meeting a new traffic by-law was given third reading. It will come into effect after approval has been received from the Provincial Highways' Department.

The bill covers traffic and parking regulation and restrictions for all vehicles and pedestrians and also designates through streets in a safety measure which has been long needed. Under the bill Main street, Lochiel, St. Paul and that part of Kenyon street west of Main are designated 'through' streets and all drivers of vehicles must come to a full stop before entering or crossing those streets.

Parking of all vehicles is also to be regulated, the bill specifying vehicles should be brought to a stop with their right side next to the curb and not more than six inches from the curb. They shall not be parked within 20 feet of any cross street or within 10 feet of a hydrant or so as to prevent convenient removal of any other vehicle previously parked. There shall be no parking on Main street between Gerush and Elgin streets, or on the Mill Square when "No Parking" signs are in place. It is pointed out discretion will be used in designating such "No Parking" areas, the principal period in mind being Saturday nights when traffic congestion is at its height.

Bicycles also come under the new bill which would prevent bicycles being ridden without at least one hand on steering device. They shall not be ridden on sidewalks by persons more than ten years old and if in groups bicycles must ride single file.

The new bill directs pedestrians to pass on the right side and three people or more must not stand in a group so as to obstruct free passage of pedestrians after being requested by the constable to move on. Children are to be allowed to coast only on streets designated by council. Other regulations cover every aspect of the traffic act and penalties for infringement are a maximum of $10, and costs for first offence, $25 and costs for second offence.

Also given third reading and passed at Monday's meeting was the new by-law covering organization and duties of the Fire Brigade. It was reviewed in a recent issue of this paper.

Mayor Rouleau gave a brief report of last week's visit to Toronto by a delegation from council.

Bishop At St. Raphael's For Unique Observance Mothers' Day

Modern Liberals And The Bank Act

(By Angus H. McDonell)

When the Hon. J. L. Olesly, Minister of Finance, finished speaking on the introduction of the decennial revision of the Bank Act in the House of Commons early last week, attention was focussed on two prominent Liberal members and what they would have to say in reply. The anticipated criticisms of the Social Credit and C.C.F. were quite obvious. But what most people wanted to hear was the reply from Gerald Gratton McGeer, K.C., who represents Vancouver-Burrard, and Arthur Slaght, K.C., nationally known corporation lawyer from Toronto, who sits for Parry Sound in the House of Commons.

A filled House was in attendance to hear those two stalwarts of the Liberal party present their case in favour of monetary reform. Facing odds greater in height than the Peace Tower that adorns the Assembly they were speaking in, first McGeer and then Slaght — fearlessly unshathed their debating sabres and attacked the Bank Bill in its present form like real disciples of Britain's historic Gladstone.

"Gerry" McGeer spoke first in the afternoon. Parliament listens to McGeer as it does to few of its members because he has in him what men call character and personality, one of the few to-day who give glamor to our politics.

Mr. McGeer reviewed the issue more from the standpoint of public credit and using it without regard to any monopoly enjoyed by the banks. The Vancouver member spoke in a pleasant manner contrary to the belief that he would really "tear things apart". He wasn't as forceful as his colleague Slaght, however, he dealt in simple forms that were easily visualized. He received a rousing ovation from all sides of the House when he concluded.

Herewith are the highlights of Mr. McGeer's speech.

Speaking during resumed debate on the bill to revise the Bank Act, Mr. McGeer said Canada's 12,000,000 people had the resources to make them the richest in the world, but in the (Continued on page 6)

Addressing Meetings

Most Rev. R. Brodeur, D.D., Bishop of Alexandria, leaves Monday for St. Louis, Mo., where he will address one of the sessions of the convention of the Catholic Hospitals Association of the U.S. and Canada.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. W. J. Smith, D.P., D.C.L., Rector of St. Finnan's left yesterday for Antigonish, N.S., where he will preach the Baccalaureate sermon at the graduation exercises of St. Francis Xavier University, Sunday evening, in St. Ninian's Cathedral.

Modern Liberals And The Bank Act

There was a vast gathering at St. Raphael's last Sunday. It was "Mothers' Day," and favored with ideal weather, the call to rally in her honor was answered in a manner, that made the moment distinctly notable, even for the small matter of numbers. It was the exercises that followed, however, that lent joy and enthusiasm in plenty, to move the hearts of all present.

Promptly at 2 p.m. summoned by the glad welcoming tones of the bells of old St. Raphael's, the colorful procession was under way, from Iona to the parish church.

Led by the Cross-Bearer and Accolytes directly preceding His Excellency Most Reverend Rosario Brodeur, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese, the loyal clergy and sanctuary boys in surplice, came Our Lady's Banner, carried by Donald Bernard McDougald Grade XIII, and accompanied by the pupils of Iona, forming the living Rosary.

Then came the May Queen and her attendants who were followed by a group of Sisters of Holy Cross, and many more pupils from the other schools of the parish.

Then came the mothers and former pupils of Iona and the faithful in general and when all had entered the church, the sacred edifice was filled to capacity.

His Excellency then addressed the gathering expressing the proud satisfaction he experienced in cooperating, as I gladly do, he said, in this new and praiseworthy effort to give to "Mothers' Day" a different meaning, a meaning more suggestive of our hopes from Mother's help, and above all, to encourage all mothers, to greater consecration than ever before, to the noble duties of their office. Then came an act of Consecration to Mary Queen of Socialists during which she was solemnly crowned.

The next number, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, closed the Church ceremony, and the congregation heard with rapt attention, Iona Choral's splendid rendition of the full Capello Benediction Service. Immediately, the Procession re-formed and went to the Parish Hall, where a short social programme was offered. The first number was a tribute to the mothers spoken by Miss Mary Adams, Grade 12.

She spoke as follows:—
Having planted the earth and jewelled the night, God in His infinite mercy and love created man to His own divine image. In an Eden of beauty God placed him, to rule "the fishes of the sea, the fowls of the air, and the beasts and the whole earth". But Adam in the midst of the splendours of the Universe was lonely, and the Lord God said: "It is not good for him to be alone". Then it was that the Creator looking down the vista of years, visioned man's need, and with Fatherly solicitude, sent us the blessing we thankfully own—the love of a Mother's great heart.

This day then, we have set apart to honour the greatest human gift of God to man; none other has meant so much for the uplifting and happiness of immortal souls as the gift of Mother. There is a world of truth in the saying of the moralist Francois Maurice, which, at the risk even of losing much of its force, I take the liberty of translating:
To whatever depths of sin he falls, No man is wholly lost, Whilst yet his mother lives. It is because the memory of failure, of disgrace and (Continued on page 4)

The Ottawa Spotlight

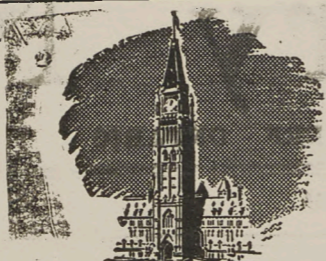

By M. McDUGALL

OTTAWA, May 17—Some idea of the vast growth that has taken place in the production of Canadian farms may be gained from the present congestion in the packing plants. The acute congestion which has been in evidence for several weeks shows some signs of becoming alleviated, but the heavy flow of hogs and cattle to the stock yards and packing plants continues. It was recently pointed out by the minister of agriculture, J. G. Gardiner, that while the number of men on the payroll of packing plants at Winnipeg on the first day of this year was 3,450 this had increased to 3,884 by April 22nd. One of the urgent jobs of selective service officials has been to get more men for processing plants. The monthly flow of hogs through the plants this year has been about 40 per cent over the same period last year. Bacon is being shipped to Britain at a weekly rate that if it keeps to the same levels will ensure the fulfillment of the British contract for bacon. Last year also no beef was being shipped to Britain. This year to date about 105,000 head of cattle have been purchased and will be processed for export. The labor department with the cooperation of provincial governments and farm organizations are trying to get adequate farm labor to keep hogs and cattle running uninterruptedly through the packing plants.

Bank Act in Parliament

It is readily seen by everyone that the amendments to the Bank Act would meet with sharp, intensive criticism in the commons. The act has almost become a political battleground. There is nothing more baffling of course to the ordinary man than a credit and monetary theory backed by a fiery rhetorician. The debater has in almost every case studied his subject well and there is little doubt of the sincerity of his beliefs. The Social Creditor has his plan for the issuance of credit based on the productivity of the people. The C.C.F. member holds firmly to the belief that to ensure the control of credit being in the hands of the people or of parliament, the chartered banks must be nationalized. The banks according to C.C.F. members have a monopoly of credit, which for the good of all must be broken. The government holds the view that control and regulation of credit for the public good lie with the publicly owned Bank of Canada, and that the commercial banks play a living and essential part in the economic life of the country. The minister of finance, J. L. Disley told the house that socialization of the banks could not prevent the recurrence of business cycles. Government ownership would not prevent the

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

Throughout Canada is campaign in progress which, in its seemingly insignificant way is related to the bigger things in this war and so merits a spot in this column. Paperboard containers are vital to the needs of our forces overseas. And that's why the National Waste Paper Drive is on.

At one time it was difficult to ship waste paper except in carload lots and this made paper salvage difficult in small communities. New arrangements have now been made, however, and 300 pound lots and over are being handled. Provincial Salvage Supervisors can supply information concerning shipments.

Just think what the paper container from your waste paper do in the war—provide protection for medical kits, blood plasma, emergency rations, gas masks; paper parachutes to convey food to earth for isolated units; containers for naphtha and benzine; electrical conduits, or dehydrated foods which save some 85 per cent of cargo space, for bombs, airplane propellers, just to mention a few. The shortage of paper, which maybe doesn't mean much lying around cluttering up your basement, might conceivably jeopardize the war effort. Mills are operating from hand to operation of economic laws. The bill is now in the hands of the banking and commerce committee where there will be further bitter discussion. An important feature of the bill which encourages the extension of credits to farmers will have doubtless more intensive consideration than it has had thus far in the house.

(Health Insurance)

A meeting of the minister and officials of the department of pensions and national health with ministers and deputy ministers of the provincial departments of health have been giving careful study to the draft health insurance plan that has been prepared by the federal government. The draft plan has it is stated carefully worked out, but the administration of health measures lies within the jurisdiction of the provinces, and the future of the health plan lies mainly in their hands. This conference, which is only a preliminary one has enabled the Federal Government to explain the bill, and has given the provinces an opportunity to give full expression to their views. The objectives of the bill are extensive while the principle on which the projected measure is based is, as Pensions Minister Ian Mackenzie stated, to provide medical care for those who cannot afford to pay for it.

(New Housing Act)

Although the Housing Act itself will not be brought down until later in the session some of its terms have been made public. Those who build houses will pay on loans for construction not more than 4 1-2 per cent. The rate under the present act has been 5 per cent. War needs have still priority on construction materials, but the government urges that construction be carried out to the full extent that materials are available. House building comes next in priority to war requirements. Loans will be up to 90 per cent on houses of a value to $3,200 while the percentage will be 80 for homes costing from $4,000 to 5,000. The time of full payment of loans is extended from 20 to 25 or 30 years. With the cooperation of the provinces and municipalities, community planning will play an important part in house construction.

Official and civilian Ottawa has been deeply stirred by the obvious sincerity and warmth of the feelings of the British people for Canada's part in the war, which was shown so unmistakably and enthusiastically when Prime Minister Mackenzie King last Thursday addressed both houses of parliament in London. The tributes paid by the London and Provincial press were clear evidence of the solidarity and the tremendous moral and material force of the British Commonwealth in the prosecution of the war to victory, and of the common aim of the great brotherhood of nations of strive in cooperation with other nations of good will for the establishment of a new era after the war.

month, as it were, requiring 20,000 tons of waste paper a month. The appeal has all the elements of essentiality, of urgency, so won't you cooperate with your local salvage committee, when that appeal is made through your local paper or over the radio. Your own son over there" is mighty interested.

The Canadian government will spend $1,162,000 this year through the Canadian Legion Educational Services for courses for the men of the armed forces and our prisoners of war. Up to the end of last December, $1,904,698 had already been spent to finance some 67 courses for servicemen. The idea is to help them carry on interrupted or deferred studies preparing them for re-establishment after the war. Classes are being carried on in Sicily and Italy and it is interesting to know that with textbooks furnished by the International Red Cross through the Legion, of the 4,098 men in one German prison camp, some 2,373 attended these classes.

From May 22 to May 27 the eyes of the nation will be focused on Mrs. Consumer, Women's Institute, church and club groups from coast to coast, will observe the week with special programs featuring the part Canadian women are playing in carrying out the government's economic stabilization program. Every woman, whether in the rural or urban centres will be asked to stand firm against any increase in the cost of living. A country woman tending her house and garden, milking the cows and looking after the chickens is responsible in no small measure. After all, there are approximately 732,715 farmer's wives in Canada. These women, through the way they run things in their own homes and on their farms, whether by saving money to help make their land free from debt, or by putting their surplus cash into Victory Bonds and Certificates, by managing to get along on their rations and not buying more than they need, by refusing to pay higher than ceiling prices; by helping to pay farm taxes promptly, are able to make an effective contribution not only to the security of their own homes, but also to the stability of their own Canada. That's just logical.

The United Kingdom is taking pretty much the same amount of cheese from Canada this coming twelve months, as in the past twelve. An agreement went into effect last week by which we will be shipping 125,000,000 pounds of cheese at a price of 20 cents a pound at the cheese factories.

Victory gardens are big stuff in Canada and an important part of our wartime economy, make no mistake about that. A survey was planned, tabulated and analyzed by the economics division of the Department of Agriculture with assistance and cooperation of the Women's Voluntary Centres of the National War Services Department, and it really is interesting. A total of 115 million pounds, or 37,500 tons, of vegetables were grown last year in 209,200 wartime gardens in Canadian cities and towns of a thousand or more population, and that doesn't include the many thousands of war gardens in villages and on farms. They estimate the production per garden was about 550 pounds. One urban householder in every seven had a wartime garden in 1943, which is 15% up on 1942 and 24% above 1940. Approximately 37 per cent of the stuff grown were potatoes. 19% tomatoes; 10% carrots 6 per cent beets, 4% cabbages, etc. The survey showed that of the 37,811 gardens in seven cities 53 per cent canned, dried, pickled or conserved products for winter use.

Canada's export trade to Southern Ireland (Eire) is mostly in our favor. During the first three months of 1944 Canadian merchandise to the value of $2,012,000 went to Eire as against $414,000 in the same period of 1943. Our imports from that country, though have dropped from $372,277 in 1940 to $2,383 in the whole of 1943.

This year will show some increase in the number of prisoners of war permitted to work on farms. A camp for between two and three hundred is to be established at Chatham, Ont., for work on sugar beet farms, as is one in the Lethbridge Alberta area. Some prisoners of war are placed on individual farms, around 65 are in the Metcalf, Ontario area, and a 100 at Brooks, Alberta.

Canadian Japanese, of which about 75% are Canadian born, totalling about 5,000, from the coastal areas of British Columbia are working in Manitoba, Alberta, Ontario and B.C.

A new order now also provides that Alternative Service Officers may direct conscientious objectors to most essential employment and agriculture has been singled out mainly in that regard. At the end of last year out of 8858 postponed, more than 5,160 are working on farms. They get $25 a month plus board and lodging, the difference between this and the going wage rate is paid to the Canadian Red Cross.

This piggy went to market, is right. In the fall of 1943 hog slaughtering rose above the weekly mark of 180,000 for the first time in the history of Canada. But has that mark gone up? For every 100 hogs slaughtered in the first quarter of last year, 174 have gone the way of all flesh in the first three months of this year.

An article in the Canadian Journal of Public Health shows there are 12,344 known blind in Canada, which doesn't include those who do not come within the definition of blindness. Of the 10,040 blind, 40 years and over, 6,386 are pensioned under the Act. Lowest rate of pensioners per 1000 population is in Alberta at 0.302 highest in New Brunswick at 1.665. Total expenditure for 1942 on pensions was $1,532,640, cost being distributed 75-25 per cent to federal and provincial governments. The higher ratio of blind per thousand in the eastern provinces thought due to the fact they are the oldest settled parts from which many young people migrated west and to the United States.

Canada's new embassy building in Chungking, China, a simple two story structure is now in use. In the former place, people engaged in Embassy business had to toil down half-a-mile of steps, cross a river by sampan, and then up a similar number of steps at the other side in order to reach the business section of the city. Extra rations of food for the extra firm help engaged seasonally in all parts of Canada will be provided this year on the basis of a limit of five meals per person per day, if that number of meals is being served each day. However ration administration officials say sugar is still scarce and there will be no concessions in that regard.

Pleasure Trippers

Crowded coaches, men and women of the armed forces standing in the aisles and leaning against the seats; these are familiar sights on Canadian railways these days. Unessential travel should be off the books. Passenger trains, everywhere are overtaxed enough now with essential travellers, without having 'pleasure trippers' tagging along as well.

LET US REMIND YOU

The question is often asked of us if we do certain kinds of printing.

THIS is due perhaps to the fact that printing orders are unlike goods sold from the shelf. Practically every piece of printing is different. . . Each job of printing is manufactured for each individual order. Good printing takes a little time to produce, and that is why it is often necessary for The Glengarry News to suggest a day or two longer for the "curing" of the finer lines of printing.

But The Glengarry News is equipped to rush orders in record time.

Let us remind you of some of our lines which we produce promptly and cheaply:—

- LETTERHEADS
- ENVELOPES

Spring is in the markets—the counters are beginning to take on colourful appearance, and to present some items we haven't seen in a long time. Asparagus, for instance, is coming in every morning. It grows quickly and as the season is all too short we should make use of it while we can.

One of the nice ways to serve asparagus is with slices of ham. Cook the asparagus stalks standing them up in a saucepan or with the heads propped up out of the cooking water by inserting a small tin at one side of the kettle. Heat slices of boiled ham in a small amount of tomato juice, using another saucepan. When you are ready to serve, lay the slice of ham on the platter and put a serving of asparagus on it. Serve with a mock hollandaise sauce.

There are still potatoes on the market this year. But let's not waste them. Keep them in a cool dark place and prepare them in ways to prevent waste. A good rule is to serve baked potatoes three times a week.

1. Check the price per pound or car or package of the food you wish to buy and consider nutritive value before you buy.
 2. Store the imported vegetables carefully; they are accustomed to a moist cold atmosphere. Clean and store them in your electric refrigerator in the crisping pan.

ASPARAGUS RABBIT

Welsh rabbit served over cooked asparagus tips placed on toast makes a splendid luncheon dish. Crisp bacon may be served in addition.

Melt 1 tsp. butter in the top part of the double boiler, blend in flour. Add 1-2 cup milk stirring it in gradually to make a smooth sauce. Cook until thickened somewhat and smooth. Grate 1-2 lb. cheese (2 cups) and stir until melted. Add seasonings (1-4 tsp. salt, 1-4 tsp. prepared mustard and 1-4 tsp. paprika). Pour and serve immediately.

ASPARAGUS SALAD

Arrange cooked, chilled asparagus on olivory or watercress. Serve with French Dressing:

1 tsp. salt, 1-2 tsp. pepper, 1-4 cup vinegar, 2 tbsps. chili sauce mixed together. Drop in 1-2 cup salad oil, shaking after each few drops.

ASPARAGUS ROLLS

Cut bread thin, remove crusts and spread with butter. Place in the centre of each slice a cooked asparagus tip marinated with French Dressing. Roll bread around it and secure with tooth picks. Cut in two at an angle after thoroughly chilling the rolls. These are favorite at wedding teas.

CREAMED POTATOES AND ASPARAGUS

Cook vegetables separately, allow one-half pound asparagus to six potatoes. Combine with cream sauce, using half asparagus water and half milk for liquid.

MOCK HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

Two tablespoons butter, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 1 1-2 tablespoons flour, 1 tbsps. lemon juice, 1 egg yolk.
 Melt butter on top of double boiler. Add flour and blend until smooth. Add salt and lemon juice. Add cold milk gradually stirring constantly. Cook over hot water continuing to stir until mixture thickens. Cook for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour hot sauce over beaten egg yolk. Return to top of double boiler. Heat thoroughly, serve very hot. Be sure and remove from heat if sauce must be kept standing for a while before serving.

The Question Box

Mrs. J. M. asks: How do you bake kippers?

Answer: The easiest and dyet nutritious way: Arrange them on an oven-proof platter or pie plate and pour tomato soup over them. Dot with butter; sprinkle with seasoning and bake in a hot electric oven for 20 minutes. Serve with a slice of lemon and piping hot toast.

Mrs. B. J. asks: How do you make a good crumb pie paste?

Answer: Use very dry bread crumbs. Make fine crumbs. Combine with two tbsps. sugar and two tbsps. melted mild-flavoured shortening or butter to each cup of crumbs. Pack into pie plate about one-eighth inch thick and bake in electric oven at 350° for 15 to 20 mins. Then cool and fill.

Mrs. A. H. says: Tell folks that their housecleaning is not finished until they clean the condenser of their electric refrigerator. We clean the fine coils twice a year with the vacuum cleaner attachment or a long handled brush.

Note: Pull the cord from the convenience outlet to disconnect the refrigerator before you start the cleaning.

Mrs. S. Mc asks: Why do some pieces of home-corned beef become tough when boiled and other pieces do not?

Answer: You never "boil" ham or corned beef. If the water is kept boiling the fibres of the meat become tough. Start the meat in boiling water and boil it for several minutes so the heat will penetrate to the centre of the meat, then turn down the element so the water does not bubble but keeps at a simmering temperature.

Adventure In 'Above Suspicion'

Joan Crawford and Fred MacMurray bring Helen MacInnes' characters to life on the screen of the Garry Theatre, where they are now co-starring in M-G-M's "Above Suspicion." Friday and Saturday.

Joan and Fred play a honeymoon couple who take advantage of their position as typical tourists travelling in Germany before the outbreak of war to track down a mysteriously missing British agent. The trail starts in Paris, leads them to Salzburg, where bookshop owner Felix Bressart gives them the next clue. In Salzburg they become friendly with Conrad Veldt, and Basil Rathbone and receive the clue leading to the end of the trail.

In Pertisau, they discover Rathbone to be a Nazi spy and Veldt to be a member of the British Secret Service. They rescue the missing agent and make their escape in a series of hair-breadth adventures.

Joan Crawford is at her most glamorous as the young bride and MacMurray uses his air of non-chalance to best advantage as her groom who must combine sleuthing with his honeymoon.

For the ladies, Joan wears several new hiking costumes to inspire those of us who are walking more these days.

The drama thriller was photographed against a breathtaking landscape of the Tyrol and Richard Thorpe's splendid direction assures the audience of ample thrills and comic relief.

MacKenzie Gives Draft Plan To National Health Parley

National health insurance will provide the answer to the increasing demand for medical care by Canadian people who are unable to provide themselves with full and complete preventive and treatment services, Pensions Minister MacKenzie said Friday.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the opening of a three-day Dominion-Provincial health insurance conference, Mr. Mackenzie said the need for health insurance was indicated by the census of 1941 which showed that 62 percent of wage-earners received as wages less than $950 a year. "Such persons are unable to provide themselves with full and complete preventive and treatment services. . . . And it is, therefore, the duty of a national Government to assist in providing health and medical services for the people," said Mr. Mackenzie.

Main Objects of Plan

Health insurance had been discussed in Canada for 20 years, and the Federal Government now was in a position to place before the conference a draft national plan. The main objects of the draft plan were:

1. The reduction of morbidity and mortality and the creation of positive health.
2. The provision of medical care for all.
3. The protection of families against the hazard of illness.
4. The eradication of tuberculosis and venereal diseases; the reduction of mental illness, heart disease, arterial disease, nephritis, diabetes, cancer, and diseases of middle life.
5. To attack the causes of sickness and death vigorously and effectively.
6. The protection of motherhood and childhood.
7. The extension of public health services throughout the country.
8. The expansion of hospitals, sanatoria, laboratories, health units and health centres.
9. The integration of public health and medical care.
10. The provision of the services of the general practitioner, the consultant, the specialist, the surgeon, the nurse, the hospital, the dentist and auxiliary services to everyone.

Mr. Mackenzie said the proposed plan would cost an estimated $250,000,000 annually, an amount less than the present annual cost of illness.

Extra Farm Help Get Extra Rations

Arrangements have been made by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to provide this year extra rations of food for extra farm help engaged seasonally in all parts of Canada on the basis of a limit of five meals per person per day.

Any farm household in Canada, engaging seasonal help for such work as threshing, silo filling, woodcutting, and other work, will be able to make application for extra rations for these crews up to a limit of five meals for each member of the crews, if five meals are being served each day. This rule was in effect in 1943 but only in a comparatively small number of cases was it utilized to the limit. Application forms for the extra rations will bear a statement this year to the effect that rations may be applied for up to five meals a day per person, if required.

Officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board believe that this extra allowance will enable farm homes to meet their needs for most rationed foods for the extra gangs. No further concessions can, however, be made for sugar.

Education Asso. 7 Point Policy

TORONTO, May 7.—The executive of the Ontario Educational Association, at its first meeting since the organization's annual convention here at Easter, tonight formulated a seven-point educational policy for 1944-45. The policy stressed the following needs:

1. More effective publicity for education.
2. Resumption of special courses for teachers to relieve the current shortages of specialists.
3. Certification of returned men with special ability as mechanics and artisans.
4. Higher standards for teachers.
5. Greater attention to the study of civics, with emphasis on practical aspects.
6. The teaching of democratic responsibility through practice in democratic living.

More men like to seek the truth than like it when they find it.

Some know not what they do. Others do not know what they know.

TONS OF WASTE PAPER ARE NEEDED EVERY MONTH FOR MAKING ESSENTIAL WAR MATERIAL

● The need is desperate! To help Canada meet the critical shortage, not a scrap of wanted paper should be burned or thrown away!

WHAT IS WANTED

You can remedy this critical paper shortage by saving every scrap of Waste Paper, namely: wrapping paper—store bags—cardboard—cartons—corrugated board—old magazines and books—envelopes and letters—news-papers. These represent the raw material for making vitally needed Paper containers.

It through your local voluntary Salvage Committee or other War Voluntary Organization, or sell it through any known trade channels, your pedlar, dealers or others. The important thing is to get your Waste Paper moving to the mills.

HOW TO DO IT

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL WAR SERVICES

They're TALKING ABOUT . . . a Ten-Cent Dollar!

They speak of it glibly...but what does it mean? It means that every pay-day if your boss paid you in crisp new one-dollar bills each of them would buy only a measly ten-cents' worth of goods.

All those savings you've made with ten dimes to a dollar would shrink to the size of one. That's inflation! So we're lucky in Canada that price ceilings and other anti-inflationary measures have kept our dollar value HIGH. In fact, a dollar goes further to-day . . . buys more goods than the dollar of 1918. Look at these prices, a pound of cocoa to-day compared to the it was then. The same quality towels now, were then. Yes, we get a good dollar's worth to-day. And remember—you protect your dollar value when you refuse to pay more than the ceiling price...denounce black markets . . . buy Victory Bonds and help keep the cost of living down!

save . . . pay off debts and help keep the cost of living down!

save . . . pay off debts and help keep the cost of living down!

save . . . pay off debts and help keep the cost of living down!

Make This Pledge Today!

I promise to give my support to keeping the cost of living down. I will buy only what I need. I will observe the ceiling whether buying or selling goods or services. I will pay off old debts, save for the future, invest in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. And I will support taxes which help lower the cost of living.

Bishop At St. Raphael's
even of crime is banished by a mother's kiss, and hope and love of purity come again to life; it is because Mother is every ready to meet doubt with faith, and to conquer hatred with love that we look to her for guidance; for without her, the strongest in time of trial might easily sink into the helplessness of despair. Motherhood stands for the very highest type of love, service and sacrifice. Famous men and women have been made the subject of much eloquence and have received the tribute and plaudits of men, but there are many Mothers who are greater heroines than the world has ever paused to honour. Poet and artist, writer and orator, have each in turn attempted to express the wonder and glory of motherhood, only to realize that the deep and lasting reverence for all mothers, that resides in the hidden recesses of our souls, is beyond human expression. Yet every story told, every picture painted, every life, lived without the thought of mother in it, is incomplete. Do you recall Christ's beautiful parable of the Prodigal Son? Is it not possible that the Master meant to teach us thereby the lesson of an Absent Mother? The Gospel tells of the fine home, the wealth and influence the good father and dutiful son, but there is no mention of a mother. Had a mother been there, in that home, the world might never have heard of the Prodigal Son. Is it surprising, therefore, Mother, that we fondly dwell on the love and tenderness you have lavished upon us from our cradle days? How fervent the prayer you whispered that God might guard the sleeping infant! How snug the arms that rocked the little babe! How gentle the hand that soothed the pain and brushed the tears from childish cheek! How sweet the kiss with which you tucked us into bed, or chased away the wild dreams that made us cry out, as you smoothed the rumpled pillow! And as the years slip swiftly on, it is ever from the flame in your heart, Mother, that are lighted the symbolic fires of home. Yours is the flame that warms and brightens our hearth, yours, the beacon fire that gleams to guide our wandering feet. You are Life's first teacher; you are Life's best teacher; you are Life's truest friend. All life and love, all service and duty circle around you, Mother. Gladly then, prayerfully, do we join to honour her whom we love and revere, and to pledge to her our undying fealty. God dower you with kind consoling words For wounded hearts, with gloom and anguish filled,— Soft soothing words, to sing like happy birds, With voice prophetic, till the storm is stilled! In body and in soul, God keep you strong To toll for Him, and never fear the fray! This is our wish,—the burden of our song— "God bless you" on this glorious Mother's Day. Bishop Welcomed Miss Teresa O'Flaherty then advanced to welcome the Bishop. Your Excellency: One last number, on our programme, remains. One last pleasant task, which we trust, Your Excellency's extreme kindness will allow us to perform. Today, since early morning, has been filled to overflowing with joy. At the Holy Table to begin with, and later, in singing Holy Mass, profoundest gratitude has filled our hearts for one of heaven's most precious blessings—our dearest, darling Mothers. It remained, however, for the beautifully impressive ceremony of the afternoon to give to "Mother's Day" a new meaning and to "Mother's role in life," a new value, so noble and so exalted, that whilst memory lives, MOTHER must forever claim our respect our devotion and our love. How shall we thank. Your Excellency, for so kindly joining us today, and at a time, when pressing duties must have allowed you to do so, only at the cost of effort and sacrifice? And what return shall we make for your helpful inspiring words in the Church a few moments ago and for the precious gain certain to be ours, through your fatherly benediction? Needless to say, we are deeply thankful, as we assure Your Excellency in the name of Reverend Sister Superior and of all the Sisters, and in the name of all the pupils and Sodalists—Iona does not forget. His Excellency, speaking in the name of all the Mothers, was pronounced in admiration of the splendid tribute to which we have just listened. No comment is called for, Mothers, he said, let us try to live up to such idealism and the world will be the better for it. As for your kind reference to myself, I thank you profoundly and beg of Sister Superior to give you a half holiday in my name. The mothers and sodalists then adjourned to Iona Academy where they were the guests of the Sisters, for luncheon and as the curtain went down on this last scene, the common prayer was uttered— God bless and keep the mothers of this perfect day.

A trio was rendered by Mrs W. Johnson, and Misses M. and E. McLean. The financial statement by the treasurer, Miss M. Hermiston, showed that the allocation had been exceeded by a substantial amount. The President Mrs Preston, reviewed the work of the past year with gratitude to God for homes and happy surroundings in Canada. Victory over evil, must come with personal power, she stated. Mrs J. H. Dear Donnie:
It is with feelings of much pride, and also of sadness, that we, your friends and neighbours are gathered here, to-night to honor you and spend an evening on the eve of your departure for overseas.

We are proud of you, another boy who is sacrificing everything—leaving home to fight for King and country and the freedom we all cherish so much. It is that spirit which we know will finally crush our enemies and bring us victory and peace.

At the same time we are sorry to be bidding you farewell as you will be greatly missed by all. However we will always be thinking of you in the uncertain days that lie ahead and as a slight token of our remembrance we ask you to accept this little gift on behalf of your friends in Kenyon and Lochiel.

May God protect you through all the dangers of war and bring you safely back so that before long we may all meet here again to welcome you home. It is with such a wish that we now bid you farewell and a safe return.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbours.

Cheese Agreement For 2-Year Period

Under the terms of a new two year agreement between Canada and the United Kingdom, Canada will supply the British Ministry of Food from the production of the 12 months from April 1, 1944 to March 31, 1945 with 125,000,000 lb. of cheddar cheese, and a similar quantity from the production of the 12 months April 1, 1945 to March 31, 1946. The agreement was signed on behalf of Canada on May 1st by Hon. James G. Gardiner, Dominion Minister of Agriculture.

The price to be paid by the British Ministry during the period of the agreement is 20 cents per lb. at factory shipping point or country grading station shipping point. In addition to this price the Dominion Government is now paying a bonus of 20 cents per 100 lbs. for milk used in the manufacture of Cheddar cheese and also a two cent premium on cheese scoring 94 or more points and one cent per lb. on 93 score. The minimum score for first grade cheese is 92.

The Ontario Government is paying a premium of two cents per lb. on all cheese made in the province and the Quebec Government is paying a premium of two cents per lb. on first grade cheese only. More than 94 per cent of all cheese produced in Canada is made in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

The price to be paid by the British Ministry for Canadian Cheddar cheese during the life of the new agreement is the same as was paid under the previous agreement and the bonuses and premiums paid by the Dominion Government and the Governments of Ontario and Quebec remain the same.

Under the 12 months agreement with the British Ministry of Food, which terminated on March 31, 1944, Canada agreed to supply 150,000,000 lbs. but conditions prevented all this amount from being shipped, but more than 7,000,000 lb. of butter was exported to Britain, the equivalent of about 15,000,000 lb. of cheese.

Employees Frozen In Agriculture

Persons employed in agriculture are frozen to the industry, subject to the authority given to such persons to engage in employment outside agriculture which is not in an urban municipality for a period of not more than 60 days in any year when such employment does not interfere with agricultural production, states National Selective Service.

As a general rule the movement of agricultural workers to employment outside of agriculture must be discouraged except where the new employment is to be in one of the following primary industries: lumbering and logging, forestry, fishing, trapping and mining.

Selective Service points out that every effort should be made to further the policy of retaining agricultural workers in agricultural employment and seasonal employment in the primary industries named.

200,000,000 Bus. Grain Needed

Ontario farmers are being asked to produce 200,000,000 bushels of feed grain on their farms during this year 1944, says John D. McLeod, Director of the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This will be essential, he points out, in order to maintain the maximum production of food for the armed forces, for our allies and for the hard-working people at home.

Indications from Western Canada at the present time are that owing to lack of moisture the 1944 grain crops will be below average. In view of this western situation and the fact that there is no great grain reserve in the Province Ontario farmers are asked to plan for an increased production, particularly of oats, barley and mixed grain, in order that there may be ample food for all requirements.

The 1944 objective of 200,000,000 bushels of grain can be obtained says Mr. McLeod, not necessarily by sowing more acres but by producing more per acre. This objective can be reached by producing one and a half bushels more per acre in 1944 than was produced in 1942. This is possible providing weather conditions are favourable by the adoption of proven soil management methods, by sowing clean, well graded seed of suitable varieties and by treatment of the seed for smut and other seed-borne diseases.

A plentiful supply of high quality seed is available and every bushel of such seed must be put to work. Those requiring seed are advised to get in touch with their agricultural representative or with the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

past Canada had been "misguided" by financial advisers. When the Second World War started Canada's financial advisers said the country could only finance a $100,000,000-a-year war, Mr. McGeer. However, when France fell and Britain stood alone the Canadian government had declared that "no monetary consideration" was to stand in the way of the war effort.

As a result of the government's stand, the Dominion's war budget was raised from $100,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 over a period of a few years. Canada loaned Britain $700,000,000 and placed $1,000,000,000 worth of Canadian goods at the disposal of the United Kingdom. To do this, Canada did not borrow money in Europe or in Britain.

Financial Independence "Is anybody going to say that out of that experience Canada has not found her financial independence?" asked Mr. McGeer. "Are we going to go crawling to some international banker for money to put our people to work after this war for a better Canada?"

"I think that would be just as ridiculous as to suggest that we might finance this war by issuing the 5 1/2 per cent tax free bonds that came from that minister of finance. Sir Thomas White, during the First Great War. That was during the years of the orthodox financiers and it was said to be the soundest money that Canada ever issued.

"That kind of nonsense will never be repeated again. Let us hope that no government will ever say that we have to borrow abroad to finance Canada's development when this war is over."

Consumers' Goods Mr. McGeer said: "We now face a world with tremendously improved capacity to produce consumers' goods.

"We now face a nation with a burden of debt unprecedented in history. Our cities are overtaxed and moving with difficulty under a debt load of $1,000,000,000; our provincial governments are carrying another debt load of $2,000,000,000; our federal government carries already a debt of $11,000,000,000, which is the first fixed charge upon the payment of the taxpayers money into the consolidated revenue.

"I have no hesitation in saying that if we are going to sustain full employment or higher employment after the war and avoid the disastrous consequences of a post-war depression, government spending must continue on almost as large a scale in the period of adjustment as during the war years."

There were projects awaiting development from coast to coast and in them could be found employment for that vast army of highly trained technicians and artisans, who have made a contribution in this war that has given us an industrial revolution that we could not have achieved in probably 100 years of peace."

Members in all sections of the House, including Finance Minister Ilsley, applauded when Mr. McGeer concluded.

In the evening Arthur Slaght carried on in support of Mr. McGeer, Slaght, like McGeer, commands and receives recognition of knowing at least something about finance. He is perhaps a more colorful speaker as he has mastered most of the technique of public speaking. Arthur Slaght maintained that constructive suggestions had been invited and he was going to reply. He did and also in his criticism he didn't pull any punches.

The point that pleased this writer most was Slaght's reference to general banking. Too many people confuse Government borrowing from the banks with general banking of the public. In this respect Slaght said bankers were among the finest people in any community and his quarrel was with the monopoly the banks enjoyed and not with the people. The following excerpts are taken from Slaght's speech.

Right to Issue Credit Arthur Slaght, (L. Parry Sound) said the right to issue credit should be held only by the government and the banks should lose the monopoly they held at the expense of the people. Bankers were among the finest people in any community and he said his quarrel was with the monopoly the banks enjoyed and not with the people.

Banks had the privilege of "turning the crank" and producing their own money bills, he said.

Mr Slaght said that banks were able to provide credit in excess of their money holdings. Unless a bank had out several times its cash reserves it was not being profitably conducted. He said he would not call it a racket, but it was a monopoly.

The Dominion had "peddled out" the right to produce paper money, he said. The banks had a monopoly. They could lend to others something they had not got.

Profit of $47,000,000.

Last year the banks had made a profit of $47,000,000, before taxation, on capital of $145,500,000. Banks spokesmen had claimed that if their credit rights were affected, service charges would have to be increased. But already charges were made and he knew of a small business which paid a service charge to a bank of $10 a month.

The service given to small depositors was slender, said Mr Slaght. The small man was paying heavy taxes. Last year, 300,000 persons earning less than $100 a month had paid $32,000,000 in income tax.

The people's morale should be lifted by eliminating taxes in the lower brackets and making use of debt-free money for government purposes.

There had been talk of inflation when it was suggested the banks be interfered with and that national currency be issued by the Bank of Canada. Inflation was a "bugaboo" that kept Canadians in the hands of the Canadian monopoly.

Mr Slaght said he proposed to cooperate with G. G. McGeer (L., Vancouver Burrard) in sending this "bugaboo" down the Rideau Canal" even if they had to stay in Ottawa all summer. The national credit of Canada could be used "for public need and not for bankers' greed."

Mr Slaght's line was that constructive suggestions had been invited and he was going to give a couple. One, was that the right to issue national currency and credit be invested in the people and not in the chartered banks; the other was, the government shall not borrow by using debt-bearing securities, sold by them to the banks. He said that new money should be "spent" into existence, not "borrowed" into existence.

Then, the member commended the banks for doing a fine, patriotic job in the war, said his purpose was to help them—to help them to remain private. His quarrel was with the system alone. He gave figures to show that the dividends have ranged from 8 to 16 per cent and he dwelt on the point that, when they have so much, they can issue, as he claimed, twenty times as much. "The way they make money," he said, "is to lend more money than they have." No one in any other line enjoyed such a privilege. It is here that he likened it to a racket, "al-most." Then, Mr Slaght claimed that the small man is grossly overtaxed and he besought freedom from taxes on incomes up to $1,800. A propos of taxation, he called "inflation a bugaboo which is kept around the necks of the people." He affirmed his readiness to "stay here all summer" to see that this theory goes into the canal.

The preceding two paragraphs are comments by the veteran journalist Charley Bishop.

This article will be concluded in the next issue of the News. A suggestion will be offered of how created or debt free money could be procured, controlled and used to the benefit of all Canada. Glengarry county in general with Maxville and Alexandria in particular will be cited as examples.

Woman Killed Near Vankleek Hill

HAWKESBURY, May 7.—Mrs. George Duval, aged 54 was instantly killed late Saturday evening while walking north on highway No. 34, about one mile north of Vankleek Hill, when she was struck by a car driven by Leo Oulmet, 23, of Vankleek Hill. According to Provincial Constable George Nault, of Hawkesbury, who investigated the accident, Mrs. Duval, in company with her husband, George Duval, whose home is at Lacerte Mills, Que., were walking north to the home of P. Sauve, Mrs. Duval's brother situate on highway No. 34, about two miles north of Vankleek Hill, when a car travelling in the opposite direction and driven by Leo Oulmet struck both Mr. and Mrs. Duval, instantly killing Mrs. Duval and throwing Mr. Duval into the ditch. He received severe back injuries.

Dr. H. H. Kirby, of Hawkesbury, district coroner, after viewing the body, turned it over to McRae's undertaking parlors at Vankleek Hill. A jury was chosen and an inquest will be held in the town hall, Vankleek Hill, on Monday afternoon, May 15.

Mr. Oulmet stated a car travelling in the opposite direction blinded him with its lights and he failed to see the couple walking on the highway.

Need For Flax Seed Still Urgent

Canada is still in urgent need of vegetable oils, and, while efforts are being made in the Dominion to increase the production of soybeans, sunflowers, and rape seed as vital sources of oil, it is not possible to grow enough of them consequently, it is all the more necessary, that the acreage of the seed-bearing type of flax should be maintained. It is the most important oil-producing crop now grown extensively in Canada.

It is computed that Canada can find an outlet of from 18 to 20 million bushels of flaxseed during the crop year 1944-45. Canadian flax-crushers are now equipped to handle at least 6,000,000 bushels annually, and the British market is prepared to take large quantities of oil or flax for crushing in their own mills. The higher quality of Canadian flaxseed continues to attract buyers, and the Agricultural Supplies Board States that there is no danger of over-production for a few years at least. Districts which produce starchy or plebeian wheat can grow flaxseed of high-quality market quality. Also the highest price paid for flaxseed in many years will be in effect during 1944, namely, $2.75 per bushel, basis No. 1 C.W. Fort William or Port Arthur. In addition there are no quotas restricting the delivery of flaxseed at present.

Success in the production of flax depends upon the use of good seed of suitable varieties, grown on a clean, well-prepared seed-bed, coupled with favourable growing conditions. Full information on these points is given in the revised special pamphlet "No. 1 Flaxseed," which may be obtained from Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Before you blame your telephone...

CHECK THIS DISTANCE

Engineers designed the mouth-piece of your telephone to give best results at one-quarter of an inch from the lips. When your lips are farther away than this, your voice is transmitted less strongly... less clearly.

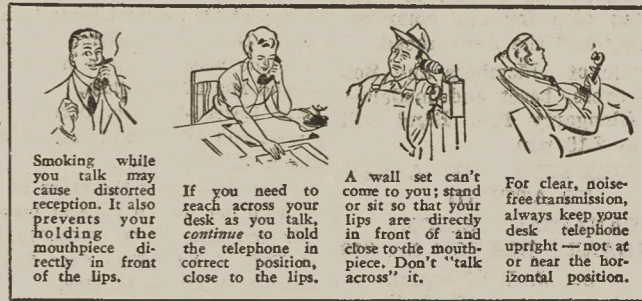

Failure to remember these simple facts accounts for the great majority of "trouble" reports.

Help avoid needless service check-ups, and at the same time let those you talk to hear you without strain. Just remember: Talk clearly, normally, directly into the telephone, with your lips just one-quarter of an inch from the mouthpiece.

On Active Service

Giving Wings to Words

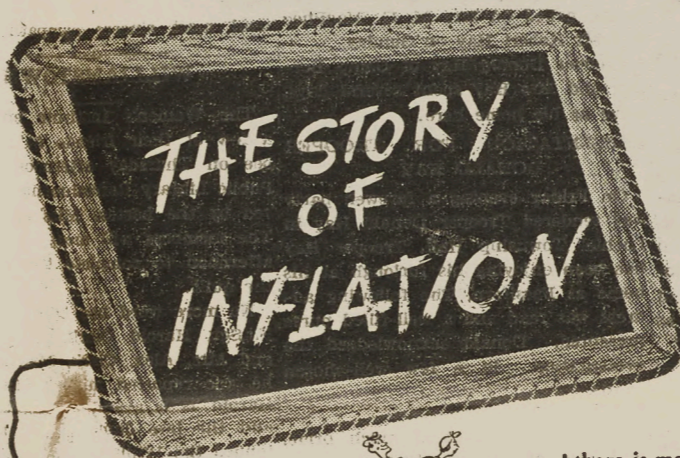

Smoking while you talk may cause distorted reception. It also prevents your holding the mouthpiece directly in front of the lips.

If you need to reach across your desk as you talk, continue to hold the telephone in correct position, close to the lips.

A wall set can't come to you; stand or sit so that your lips are directly in front of and close to the mouth-piece. Don't "talk across" it.

For clear, noise-free transmission, always keep your desk telephone upright—not at or near the horizontal position.

Victory For Love

--By Pamela Wynne--

CHAPTER 1

As Dr Warner sauntered along breathing in the exquisite beauty of the scene that stretched out around him—Downs that ran to the edge of the sea and lost themselves in the gray jagged rocks now almost covered by the incoming tide—he wondered whether it wasn't almost too beautiful. Had one any right to remain in a place where there wasn't even a siren when the glory of immortal London was being smirched day and night by savages? Well . . . Dr. Warner raised his head and tried not to think.

He was on his way to Pole Star House to see Mrs Maturin. Everybody in Battle Point knew they had been friends for years, but no breath of scandal had ever touched them. Some day that pathetic vacant figure in the expensive nursing home would faller out into the Unseen and then perhaps . . . And at that point Mrs Maturin would shake back the curly hair from her face and decided it was wiser not to think any more. For to be his wife! What bliss!

"Any letters for Pole Star House, Burwash?" he asked as the old post-man passed.

"Yes, sir, one from Mr. Sholto." Old Burwash? he asked as the old post-man passed. "I thought you'd be pleased." Dr. Warner lowered himself into his special chair.

Mrs Maturin bent over the sheet of notepaper in her hand. The fire-light shining on her hair turned it to a reddish gold as she folded up the letter and put it back into the envelope.

"Who's your other letter from?" asked Dr. Warner.

"O, one of those scrubby, yellow Government things. Like Income Tax. Pretty soon I shan't have any money left," said Mrs Maturin childishly. "I shall have to keep a hotel or something. This house would do beautifully for a hotel." She tore open the envelope.

"Oh! No!" she gasped out the words, staring at him like a frightened child. "Listen."

"Madam—On investigation we find that Pole Star House has accommodation for twelve evacuees with their parents. Four sharing a room. Plans are not yet matured for evacuation ly as he held out one hand. With a little rush Mrs Maturin was on her knees at his chair. She caught hold of his hand and held it to her face. "Listen to me," he said. "I have a plan. And I want to explain it to you."

While Dr. Warner and Mrs Maturin talked in the drawing room, Grace sat in the kitchen having her tea and feeling miserable. Something was on foot. She could tell it from her mistress' expression. A lot of dirty evacuees that's what it was. "I won't stay," muttered Grace. "Not even for the mistress I won't stay and clear up after a lot of dirty monkeys."

But the bother was that Grace knew she would stay, and was sitting there wondering how she would be able to bear it. Months and months of it, perhaps years—because no one knew how long this war would last. Her glance strayed over her beloved kitchen and she thought how everything was changed for the worse, just because a dirty little paperbanger hadn't been choked when he was on or someone hadn't crammed his head into his pallid whitewash when they could have done it.

That was how Mrs Maturin found her; sitting there, just staring into the fire. Mrs Maturin's face was flushed because she had just said goodbye to Dr. Warner.

"Tell me why you look so miserable," Mrs Maturin had a soft, quick way of speaking. "Come into the drawing room and tell me. I have something to consult you about."

"I know what it is. It's about evacuees. I can't stay if you have evacuees. At least I can, but it'll break my heart," wailed Grace.

"Grace, dear, listen." Mrs Maturin was trying not to laugh. "It isn't evacuees. Come along, you darling old thing, and I'll tell you."

"Now then, Grace," she began, while Grace listened with her nice old face intent. "What do you think?" Maturin asked finally.

"Well, mum," Grace lifted trusting eyes, "whatever you say, mum, that's careers I couldn't have stayed." "Oh, Grace!" Mrs Maturin sat forward, "I was so afraid that you would say you must go. Dr. Warner thinks that we could take four paying guests."

And then in front of the bright little fire they began to talk, while overhead a flight of ducks winged its way to a nearby lake. The ducks rather contemptuously changed their course as a Sunderland flying boat roared up from an airfield hidden among trees and rocks and camouflaged sheds.

"Never have so many owed so much to so few." The immortal words leapt into Mrs Maturin's mind as she heard the roar above.

And as she and Grace talked, John Wynter switched round in his office chair and groaned with fatigue. Below his window the London traffic roared and squealed. Overhead the guns crashed and bellowed. Hell let loose; Should he order his staff below? He pressed the bell on his desk.

"Yes, Mr. Wynter." It was his typist, neat as a new pin. Lips made up a turn and the curls on her neck neatly set.

"What about a descent to the depths?"

"I should prefer to finish my letters if you don't mind, Mr. Wynter. I want to go to a dance tonight, and I don't like to waste any time."

"Just as you like." What right had he to feel tired? thought John Wynter when he was alone again. Fearless and undaunted, these young people were too marvelous for words. He felt suddenly refreshed and alert.

The next morning Mrs. Maturin hurried off to consult her friend Netta Jackson on the proposed plans.

"Why have you come so early?" asked Netta. "I could tell by your voice on the phone that you were bursting with something."

"Well, it's this. To begin with I can tell you that Grace agrees; I know you'll ask me that first. Also Dr. Warner."

"Then proceed." Netta's clever face was attentive. "I see," she said as Joan finished. "And I think the idea is excellent. But how are you going to make your hotel known to the sort of people you want to collect?"

"What would you suggest?"

"Just this." Netta picked up a copy of The Times from a chair and ran her finger down a back-page column. "On the coast of Cornwall, far from military objectives, a small private hotel has accommodation for four visitors. Terms, five guineas a week." Netta put down the paper.

"As much as that?"

"You can always reduce it and there are loads of people who can afford five guineas a week, especially now that the Government has declared a moratorium for evacuated areas. Let's get busy about the advertisement."

After a moment or two she lifted her close-cropped head. "Listen," she said. "How do you like this? On the North Devon coast, far from military objectives, a small private hotel can take four visitors. Excellent golf links and gas fires. Hot and cold water in all bedrooms. Terms five guineas a week."

"I like it," said Joan, reflecting, "but I feel quite sick with error," she said simply.

"Oh, don't be feeble, Joan," said Netta bracingly. "Get a grip. You're far too spoiled. This is war, and you must take your share of it. I would, only I literally can't write with bombs falling and I must write to live. Now, if you approve of this, I'll type it out and we'll go and get a postal order. With luck it will be in London tomorrow and in The Times the next day, and then you'll begin to have answers."

The two friends started down the steep path that led from Netta's cottage to the main road. Soon the letter was mailed and they went through the gate that took them up the rough path to Pole Star House.

"It was a preposterous place to build a home," said Joan, staring at the back of it. Grace and straggle, as if built without plan but inside warm and snug.

"Yes, but it's got a divine view." Four bedrooms all facing the sea, except one that faces the lighthouse. All the rooms were nice, thought Netta, making a tour of them. . . everything dusted and as it should be. . . Pretty brocade curtains lined with dark green for the blackout.

As the landlady of No. 7 Prince's Terrace came down the stairs she saw that Monsieur Victor had not taken in his morning paper, so she tapped at the door. "Here is your paper, sir," Mrs. Payne spoke very quietly, as she always did to Monsee, as her husband called him. For it was so awful to see a gentleman just doing nothing but staring into an unlighted gas fire.

Albania Grows
Albania is slightly larger than Sicily, or Vermont, and supports a million people. Less than one-tenth of its area has been under cultivation. It normally exports olives, cheese, cattle, hides, bitumen, copper and oil. Oil production increased from 10,000 to 619,000 barrels a year in three years, lifting Albania to sixth among European nations in crude oil production. The Italians built a 45-mile pipeline from Petrolia to Valona.

Several district tribes comprise the Albanian "nation." Separated by high mountains, these tribes are in some instances more foreign to each other than to peoples living across international borders. Constant feuding is a tradition of highland life.

Great strides toward modernization have been made in recent years. Albania has mineral wealth, large forests, ample water power and other natural resources to support industrial growth.

First Floss Plant
Petoskey, Michigan's new $165,000 milkweed floss processing plant is the first of its kind in the world. Purchase of a factory building in south Petoskey and its remodeling, and the construction of a 90 by 150-foot concrete annex was approved by the new company.

Processed milkweed floss, used as a substitute for kapok, now unavailable because of Japanese occupation of former island sources, will turn out millions of pounds of milkweed pods for use in life preservers, life jackets, and airplane wings for the navy. The navy will require from eight to ten million pounds of the pods in the next three years. The Petoskey plant will have a capacity of drying out 25,000 pounds a day.

Refuge From Heat
Frascati is foremost of the so-called Castelli Romani—villa-surrounded towns that dot the Alban slopes at a thousand feet above sea level and provide refuge from Rome's summer heat. Normally the villas are occupied in season by wealthy Romans or by tourists from abroad. Some belong to the state. In this class since World War I is Villa Falconieri, outside Frascati on the road to Tusculum. Until that war it belonged to Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, who made it his vacation home on many occasions.

Pork Curing
The secret of curing pork is to use good sound meat, the correct curing ingredients, and clean containers. Of course, it is necessary that there be cool weather for curing.

Salt is the agent primarily responsible for curing. Excessive amounts of salt injure the flavor of the meat and cause a too great hardening of muscles. Too small an amount allows bacterial action to set in, causing subsequent spoilage of the meat.

Sugar is used in the curing process to counteract the hardening effect of the salt and to improve the flavor and texture of the meat. White or brown sugar, or even molasses, may be used.

Reprocessing Pears
If the boiling-water-bath method of canning originally used, housewives do not need to reprocess pears that were put up without acid, or bring the total contents of each jar to a boil and boil for 15 minutes before tasting or using. If the open kettle method was used, however, the pears should be processed in a boiling-water-bath or the entire contents emptied into a pan and boiled for 15 minutes before being tasted or used regardless of whether or not lemon juice was added to the fruit. To reprocess proceed as for canning fresh raw pears in the boiling-water-bath, recanning only fruit that is in good condition.

U. S. Comics Take On New Names in S. America
So firmly have our comic strips entrenched themselves in the southern republics that they now appear as regular weekly supplements to most of the large newspapers published in Latin America. Except for occasional changes in the names of characters and Spanish, Portuguese or French texts instead of English, they are identical with comic strips distributed in this country.

In this way, the Brazilian planter sipping his morning coffee and the Argentine gaucho sipping his mate are as familiar with Mandrake el Mago, Henry Tarzan, El Gato Felix and Pepe Palooka as any North American addict. This universal appeal of the funny papers is creating new ties of affection and understanding between the peoples of North and South America. Alley Oop becomes Trucutu, Donald Duck; El Pato Pasqual and Etta Kett, in San Salvador at least, mysteriously metamorphoses into Quetera Pando. And in that Central American republic, the Katzenjammer Kids cut their capers under the title of Maldades de dos Pikelos, while the incorrigible Jiggs, plain Pancho to his addicts, suffers his interminable bringing-up in a strip called Educando a Papa. The formidable Maggie, known as Ramona, does the honors.

Cuquita la Mecanografa resolves herself into the besetuous Tillie the Toiler, sharing honors in several comic supplements with Tapon Lopez. Tapon Lopez, on closer inspection, reveals himself to be none other than Snuffy Smith, peerless yardbird. Pedro Harapos is unmasked as Hobo Pete, Chiquito Abner as the inimitable hillbilly and Pepita y Lorenzo as Blondie and Dagwood, respectively.

New Plastic Window Aids U. S. Deep Sea Divers
Seventy of the government's deep sea divers, including 25 working on the gutted S. S. Lafayette (Normandie) in New York harbor, are wearing a new type helmet with a window of crystal-clear plastic.

A light, virtually unbreakable window of "Lucite" methyl methacrylate resin eliminates the heavy metal protective grille needed in old type helmets. It increases the diver's field of vision, reduces the weight of the headgear, and makes it easier for the diver to maneuver.

These helmets have been used at depths down to 320 feet in various parts of the world, and much greater depths are predicted by the manufacturer. A helmet made entirely of "Lucite" is being tested.

The streamlined helmet's curved window is made from the same plastic which is now used in record quantities for the noses, gun turrets, navigation "blisters" and other transparent enclosures on military airplanes.

Credit Unions On Increase

Rapid development of the Credit Union movement in the Province of Ontario is indicated in the annual report for the year 1943 which has just been issued by G. F. Perkin, Inspector of Credit Unions and released by Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture. The report shows that during the year 1943 new Credit Unions were incorporated in the Province, bringing the total number now in operation up to 163. Of these, 148 have been incorporated during the last four years, since the Credit Union legislation of Ontario was amended at the 1939 session of the Legislature. The Unions now operating have 32,672 members and have assets $3,483,789.50. During the year loans were made to 12,707 borrowers.

The reports give some interesting facts as to the classification of the Credit Unions of Ontario. Of the total number, 64 are classified as associational, including co-operative, racial and religious associations; 65 are occupational and have been organized by groups of industrial, government and educational employees, while 19 have been formed by groups of rural residents and 15 by groups of urban community residents.

Features of the 1943 operations included an increase of 8,973 in the number of members and of 3,661 in the number of borrowers. Paid-up shares increased by $307,369, deposits by $406,995, the amount loaned was $2,426,472 greater than in 1942 and total assets increased by $338,329. In addition to financing the purchase by their members of Victory Bonds in substantial amounts, Ontario Credit Unions have invested $528,050 of their reserves in Victory Bonds since the declaration of war. Another interesting feature of the report shows that during the year bad debts amounted to only $92.67, of only 5-1000th of one per cent of the total amount loaned.

"TIRED" ALL THE TIME

She felt miserable—lower in spirits. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. At once she took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear headed energy and restful sleep. Headache, backache, lassitude and other signs of faulty kidneys disappeared. 112

P. M. King In London

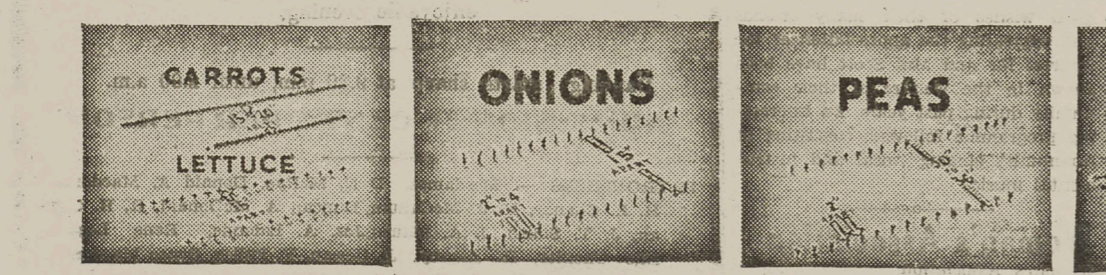

Speaking before members of both Houses of Parliament in London on Thursday, May 11th, Prime Minister Mackenzie King stated: "Like the nations of which it is composed, the British Commonwealth has within itself a spirit which is not exclusive, but the opposite of exclusive. Therein lies its strength. That spirit expressed itself in co-operation. Therein lies the secret of its unity. Co-operation is capable of indefinite expansion. Therein lies the hope of the future." Above, before the first talks of the conference between Commonwealth Prime Ministers began. Vincent Massey, High Commissioner for Canada; Sir Archibald Sinclair, British Air Ministry; Canada's Prime Minister and Peter Fraser, Prime Minister of New Zealand hold an informal, outdoor discussion.

Measure Spaces Between Garden Rows

Garden authorities stress the importance of planting rows of seeds a certain distance apart, depending on the type of seed. Carrots and lettuce: rows of carrots ought to be from 15 to 20 inches apart, lettuce rows 15 inches apart. Onions: rows of onions should be 15 inches apart and plants spaced every two to four inches. Peas: experts say that peas should be in rows 39 to 36 inches apart, the plants separated by two inches with 2 inches of earth over them. Beans: beans require 24 inches between rows, the plants two to four inches apart, seeds covered with two inches of earth. Rows of seeds planted too far apart waste valuable garden spaces.
