TRUSTEES WOULD NOT OBJECT TO MAXVILLE AREA

Area High School Board Indicates Agreement If Counties Council Takes Action In Matter

Might, However, Involve Delay While Other Municipalities Being Again Approached — W. McDonald, Summerstown, Is Chairman

The Area High School Board would not object if Counties' Council saw fit to alter the present county-wide area to allow Maxville and the adjoining sections of Kenyon and Roxboro to set up a High School Area centred at Maxville. This was indicated by resolution at Monday evening's first meeting of the Board of Trustees for 1952, held at Alexandria High School.

Wilfred McDonald of Summers-town, vice-chairman last year, was elected chairman to succeed Stuart McIntosh, Martintown. Named vice-chairman was Robert Edgar of Lancaster. Make-up of the Board of Trustees is unchanged, all members having been re-appointed for 1952.

There was considerable discussion on the subject of new school buildings and not too much hope of early action. It was pointed out that Counties' Council might not act on the matter of re-distributing areas until the April session or later and should such a move be made it will still be necessary to re-approach all municipal councils for their agreement. If half of Kenyon were placed in an Area with Maxville, it would mean the loss of some $2 million of assessment. Total assessment in the county is $13,200,000.

There would have to be agreement, too, on the site for the school at the front of the county. The suggestion was made at Monday's meeting that Williamstown High School might be temporarily enlarged and renovated, but the matter was not discussed at any length. There is, however, the possibility that last night's meeting of municipal councillors, trustees and educational department spokesmen might bring matters to a more hopeful status.

The chairman and secretary were named an unofficial committee on publicity to see that meetings of the Board get wider coverage in the press.

The complete list of committees follows:

FINANCE — Robt. Edgar, chairman; Edwin McDonald, Lochiel; Leonard McLachlan, Lancaster.

MANAGEMENT — Hector Perrier, Dalkeith, chairman; D. S. McIntosh, Martintown; Dr. D. J. Dolan, Alexandria.

PROPERTY — H. J. Morrow, Maxville, chairman; R. J. McPherson, 3rd Kenyon; G. G. Aubry, Alexandria.

TRANSPORTATION — Kenneth Barton, Martintown, chairman; Robt. Edgar, Hector Perrier, R. J. McPherson.

SITES AND NEW BUILDING — G. G. Aubry, chairman; Leonard McLachlan, Kenneth Barton.

AGRICULTURE — D. S. McIntosh, chairman; R. J. McPherson, Edwin McDonald, Robt. Edgar.

Killer Of Bursey Committed Suicide

A despatch from Colorado Springs, Colo., where Air Force Sgt. Martin Bursey was killed in a hold-up on August 14th, discloses the fact that his slayer, Robert Cassinetti committed suicide by hanging himself in his jail cell in early December before coming to trial on a charge of murder.

His common-law wife, Betty Jane Cassinetti, also charged with murder in the slaying of Bursey, will face trial during the January term of district court.

Bursey was a son of Mrs. Adolphus Bursey of West Chazy, N.Y., the former Liza Ann Ritchie of Alexandria.

Verbal Assurance Of P.U.C. Building Received

The Public Utilities Commission early this week received verbal assurance from Osie F. Villeneuve, M.P.P., that the Hydro Electric Power Commission will approve the addition to the new Hydro building of another floor to be used for courtroom purposes. Mr. Villeneuve has received word that approval will be granted though official notification has not been received here yet.

The architect has been called in and we understand work will be resumed as soon as less severe weather permits.

Rory McCormick Is 102 Tomorrow

Roderick (Rory) McCormick, Glengarry's grand old man, will pass another milestone tomorrow, when he marks his 102nd birthday. A Mass for his spiritual and temporal welfare will be sung in St. Finnan's Cathedral that morning and members of the family and friends will offer congratulations personally later in the day at the home of his son, Roderick and Mrs. McCormick, with whom he resides.

Though now confined to his room, he is able to be up and about daily and enjoys the visits of family and friends. Without his eyesight, for the past 26 years, Alexandria's centenarian enjoys his other faculties and his memory is still quite clear.

Mr. McCormick and this newspaper were featured on the program, "Ontario's Patriarchs and Papers", last Friday night over CFRB, Toronto, but, unfortunately, many in Alexandria who tuned in were unable to hear that station clearly. The sponsoring Cities Service Oil Co. is endeavoring to arrange for its rebroadcast over a more accessible station at a later date.

The script opened with a salute to this paper's diamond anniversary in February, and briefly reviewed its early history under the management of the late Col. A. G. F. Macdonald, its editor for fifty years. There was mention, too, of Alexandria's proximity to the power development of the St. Lawrence seaway; to the new Carnation Milk plant now building and to Glengarry's fine dairy industry.

Data on Mr. McCormick and incidents from his early years were related on the second half of the program; his early years at Glen Nevis and, in early manhood, his experiences while building timber snow-sheds in the Rockies to protect the young C.P.R. from disastrous snowslides. There were Mr. McCormick's recollections of the life of Cariboo Cameron, whose funeral he attended while in British Columbia.

The script told of a memorable date in Mr. McCormick's life — March 1st, 1900. Our centenarian was farming just north of Alexandria in those days. One of the worst snowstorms of the winter had blocked all roads when, early that morning, he and his neighbors heard the clamor of church bells and factory whistles in town. Thinking the town afire he set out to help and battled drifts all the way. Reaching town more dead than alive, he found our citizens celebrating the Relief of Ladysmith in the Boer War. As the script put it "there was no fire, but I'll bet there was plenty of firewater."

Through the courtesy of the Cities Service Company, this paper will shortly present to Mr. McCormick his portrait in charcoal done by the well-known Canadian artist, Egbert C. Reed.

New Council Assumes Duties On Monday

Virtually a whole new Council will officially take office in Alexandria, next Monday evening, when the inaugural meeting for 1952 is held. George Simon will be assuming the mayoralty after an interim of 30 years since he was last mayor of the town. Reeve Angus A. McDonald is the only member of 1950 Council to return. The six councillors are: Sebastian Laporte, George Lefebvre, Lloyd McHugh, Magnus Lemay, John Malkin and Adelard Menard.

The new Council has decided to meet on Mondays at 8 p.m., instead of on Tuesday, as in recent years.

Almost One Highway Accident Each Day

Eleven persons met death and 71 were injured in 289 accidents on Glengarry roads in 1951, according to the annual report of Inspector J. W. Reavley in charge of District 11 of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Largest accident toll was claimed by Highway 2 from Grey's Creek to the Quebec border, this stretch having 171 mishaps, one involving a fatality and 44 with injuries to persons. On Highway 34 there were 46 accidents with one death and 12 injured. Highway 43 had five accidents with but one person injured. Two were killed and six injured in 39 mishaps on county roads. Township roads claimed 28 accidents with two deaths and injuries to eight.

The 1951 record was black in comparison to the previous year. There was but one death in 201 accidents on Glengarry roads in 1950, when injuries resulted to 55 persons.

New Year's Babies Born In Hospital

Local doctors could report no babies born here on New Year's day, though they have been busy since. In Cornwall hospitals, however, there were three New Year's babies who could claim affiliation with Glengarry.

First to make an appearance in brand-new 1952 was a six pound, 11½ ounces baby boy born to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Duggan of Cornwall, formerly of Alexandria. Born at Cornwall General Hospital, at 2:55 p.m., he is their fourth child.

Hotel Dieu Hospital had two New Year's babies. A son born to Mr. and Mrs. William Macdonell of Apple Hill, at 8:20 p.m., weighed in at eight pounds, 15 ounces. He is their fourth child. Just as New Year's day was ending, at 11:39 p.m., a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Leger of Green Valley. Their third child, she weighed eight pounds, one ounce.

Missing Hill Farmer Is Being Sought

Ontario Provincial Police are seeking the whereabouts of Stanley MacLaurin, missing Vankleek Hill farmer, who has been unreported since August 24th last.

Mrs. MacLaurin reports that her husband, father of three children, a nine-year-old daughter, and two sons, aged 19 and seven years, respectively, left home in his car on August 21st for a routine trip to Alfred.

When he failed to return to his home, the police were notified and the car was later recovered in Alfred. There was, however, no trace of the missing farmer.

Since that time, Mrs. MacLaurin has had no word from her husband. Mr. MacLaurin is about 45 years of age and of medium height and slight build. His wife asks that anyone who knows of his whereabouts notify her at Vankleek Hill.

Napoleon Martel Dies At 79

On the 27th December at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Taillon, 6 in the 9th Kenyon, Mr. Napoleon Martel, father of Mrs. Taillon, died at the age of seventy-nine years. He leaves to mourn his departure, his wife, Olive Claude de Nicolas; one son, Napoleon, and one daughter, Dolores, Mrs. Emile Taillon.

The funeral took place on Monday, December 31st, to St. Alexander's Church, where the Solemn Mass of Requiem was sung by the pastor, Rev. C. F. Gauthier, assisted by Rev. A. L. Cameron and Rev. J. D. McPhail, rector of St. Finnan's Cathedral.

The pallbearers were Rene Taillon, Roger Ouimet, Ernest and Arthur Thivierge, Napoleon Martel and Alcide Taillon.

Mrs. David Fraser Of South Lancaster, Former Red Cross Worker, Dies

South Lancaster lost an esteemed member of one of its oldest families with the death on Thursday, January 3rd, of Mrs. David Fraser. In failing health for the past ten years, Mrs. Fraser had latterly been a patient in Cornwall General Hospital, where her death occurred. She was aged 82.

Mrs. Fraser had a notable record in Red Cross work in England during and after World War I, which brought her a decoration. As an associate of Lady Drummond, she went to London in the early days of the war, working for five years in the distribution of Red Cross parcels. For another five years following the Armistice, Mrs. Fraser remained in London on Red Cross work connected with the war graves of Canadian soldiers. This work is reviewed in another column.

Both of her sons served in the forces, one son, Neville, paying the supreme sacrifice. Another son, Gordon, predeceased her many years ago.

To mourn her passing she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Eric Motzfeldt of Montreal, wife of a former Officer Commanding the Black Watch; one sister, Miss Hilda Cameron of South Lancaster; and one brother, Dr. A. D. Cameron of Edmonton, Alta.

The former Harriet Cameron, Mrs. Fraser was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cameron of South Lancaster. Following her marriage in 1893, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser resided for six years in St. John's, Newfoundland, his death occurring after their return to South Lancaster. Following her return from overseas in 1925, Mrs. Fraser conducted a business in antiques at her home, St. Lawrence Lodge.

Her passing will be regretted by a wide circle of friends who knew the hospitality of her home.

Representatives of the Canadian Legion and of the armed forces were in attendance at the funeral, held from her home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, to the United Church. The coffin was draped with the Union Jack in recognition of her service with the Red Cross in World War I. Rev. B. Mallalieu of Lancaster United Church, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Dr. J. U. Tanner of South Lancaster. Interment was in Salem Church cemetery at Summerstown.

Pallbearers were Air Commodore N. F. Mossop, Stewart MacGillis, Fred Throsby and J. A. McArthur of Lancaster; Dr. D. Mitchell of Montreal, and Harold Woods of Cornwall.

Representing John McMartin Branch 297 of the Canadian Legion at Cornwall were H. J. Crowe, Norman Page, George Williams, and Dr. G. W. Sugden. There were also representatives of the Black Watch and other friends from Montreal and Ottawa.

Many floral tributes and messages of condolence testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Annual Contest At Local Billiard Hall

Albert Lauzon, proprietor of Bert's Billiard Hall here, held his annual pool contests on Monday, with more than thirty participating. Prizes were given in two classes of straight pool and in Boston with Laurie Michaud winning the finals in Class A straight pool.

The prizewinners were: Straight Pool, Class A — Claude Lecompte, Aurel Bellefeuille and Laurie Michaud. Class B — Roger Menard, Robert Lemieux, Bern Massia.

Boston — Louis Lauzon, Paul Lauzon, Lawrence Levac, Arcade Dubaut, Francois Bergeron, Norman Macdonald, Aurel Bellefeuille, Gilbert Depratto, Elzear Periard, John Robertson, Robert Taillefer, Hubert Taillefer.

Not Egg-Zactly Small

Something to really cackle over is the egg now on display in our window. Measuring 9½x7¼ inches in circumference it is the largest egg we have yet seen — and it came from a barred Rock hatched only on May 22nd, 1951.

Mrs. Angus McDonald of Crimmon brought it in to us. The chick was from Angus Urquhart's well known breed.

To Be "At Home" On 40th Wedding Date

On the occasion of their fortieth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. MacGillivray, Glen Sandfield, Ont., will be "at home" to their neighbors and friends on Thursday, January 17th, 1952, from 6 to 9 p.m.

Red Cross Work Of Mrs. David Fraser

Specially written for the News by MISS A. L. DUNLOP, Williamstown.

Mrs. David Fraser of South Lancaster, has gone. She was laid to rest Sunday afternoon in the cemetery by the St. Lawrence at Summerstown.

And now it shall be told, and now it can be understood, because memories of World War I, and the work of the Red Cross are not so much of the dim and distant past these days.

Mrs. Fraser left for England in 1915, and arrived in Irish waters as the submarine warfare began. She joined Lady Drummond of Montreal, who had by that time organized the Information Department of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

This society, whether by accident or design, was a personal thing, with the personal interest and contacts of the innermost but often inarticulate voices of lonely, suffering people. The Information Department had working for it 1,100 visitors, mostly English, who on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross, visited casualties in all hospitals, to give gifts and bring back reports on the condition of Canadian men. This department had in connection with it a Hospitality Branch composed of English people who placed their cars and time at the service of convalescent soldiers. These men were taken for drives, to the theatres, on picnics, and most important of all, shown the courtesy of being invited into the homes of England.

At any time there is interest and anticipation in the parcel addressed to the soldier and to the wounded men parcels were very important. Mrs. Fraser was in charge of the Parcel Department and part of her work was to see that all the needs of Canadian men in British hospitals were filled. As a matter of course, when the men arrived, they were given a kit bag and cigarettes. Lady Drummond had a special fund for extras, and often Mrs. Fraser went down to Covent Garden to get grapes from Sicily, and other fruits, eggs and jellies with which to coax back the appetites of sick men.

Not always was everybody cheered by letters in the daily mail, but from the Newspaper Department papers from their home towns were distributed to the men in hospitals.

After the battle of Ypres, prisoners of war were added to the numbers for whom the Red Cross was already responsible, and these men

Honour Couple On 25th Wedding Date

A surprise party was held on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philias Leduc, Apple Hill, on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Approximately seventy friends and neighbors gathered to offer congratulations.

The evening was spent in singing and dancing, with music supplied by Misses Rita Legault and Rita Leduc.

A corsage of pink carnations was pinned on the bride by Mrs. Octave Gauthier, and a white carnation on the groom of 25 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Leduc were presented with a complete set of dinnerware. The presentation was made by Miss Reta Leduc, while Mr. Armand Menard read the address. The table was centred with a four-tier wedding cake.

A sumptuous lunch was served. Mrs. Oliver Poirier gave the toast.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Gauthier of Casselman, parents of Mrs. Leduc, were also present for the celebration.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Leduc thanked their many friends for the gifts and for remembering them at this time.

Eleven New Members Initiated At Annual Meeting Of Local Legion

Membership Has Jumped 111 In Past Year Report Of Secretary Shows — Fred Deer Returned As President

A year of rapid growth and much activity was reviewed in reports of committees at the annual meeting of Alexandria Legion Branch, No. 423, held Tuesday night in the Armouries here. Some 60 members were in attendance including a large delegation from the recently organized Maxville section.

A highlight of the meeting was the initiation of eleven new members

S. O'Connor, Sr. Is Widely Mourned

Local Registrar of Deeds for the county during the past 17 years, during which time he was a valued resident of Alexandria, Mr. Stephen O'Connor, Sr., died in St. Mary's Hospital, Montreal, on Friday, following but a brief illness. He was in his 76th year.

Mr. O'Connor had become widely known and esteemed throughout Glengarry during his nearly fifty years' residence in the county. He had been a teacher in several school sections of Kenyon and Lochiel over a period of 31 years and was particularly well known and admired in Glen Robertson, where he last taught. On his appointment as Registrar of Deeds, November 1st, 1934, he came to Alexandria, where he took a prominent part in the affairs of this community. He had been active in the Board of Trade, a trustee on the High School Board and secretary of the Alexandria Cheese Board. Mr. O'Connor was secretary of several cheese factories and also found time to act as an insurance agent.

A generous supporter of all types of athletics, he was a charter member of the Glengarry Gardens Company. He was a member of Glengarry Council, Knights of Columbus, and active in the affairs of Sacred Heart parish. A wide interest in reading made Mr. O'Connor an interesting conversationalist and his always affable manner won him many friends who will mourn his passing.

The late Stephen O'Connor was born at Kars in North Gower Township, a son of the late Mathieu O'Connor and his wife, Mary Doyle. He attended primary school at Osgoode, Ont., and completed his secondary education at Kemptville before taking up the teaching profession in Glengarry. His marriage to the former Salome Quenneville of Lochiel Township took place in St. Finnan's Cathedral, January 18th, 1909.

She survives together with five sons and eight daughters: Wilfrid of Eastview; Andrew of Ottawa; Leopold, who but recently arrived home from service in Korea; Stephen, Jr., and Joseph of Alexandria; Joyce, Mrs. Ovilla Dugas of Apple Hill; Florence, Mrs. Clarence Borris of Alexandria; Mary Rose, Mrs. Peter Backs of Toronto; Pearl, Mrs. Arthur Lalonde of Montreal; Marguerite, Mrs. Alexander Robb of Osgoode; Charmaine, Mrs. Nick Mullikow of London, Ont.; Theresa, Mrs. N. J. Scott of Ranfurly, New Zealand, and Miss Simonne O'Connor of Ottawa.

Thirty-four grandchildren also survive, as do five brothers and one sister: Emmett, Matt, Dan and Ambrose O'Connor of Ottawa; John O'Connor of Watertown, N.Y., and Mrs. Minnie Delaney of Ottawa.

A very large number of relatives and friends called at the home to pay a last tribute of respect and there was an impressive attendance at the funeral, held Monday morning at 9 o'clock, to Sacred Heart Church. Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. E. Secours, P.P., chanted the Solemn Mass of Requiem, assisted by Rev. Chas. F. Gauthier, P.P., Lochiel, as deacon, and Rev. Francis Lefebvre, P.P., Lancaster, as sub-deacon.

The body was placed in the vault, St. Finnan's cemetery, to await burial in the Spring.

Members of Glengarry Council, K. of C., formed an honor guard and the honorary pallbearers were W. J. Major, M.P.; Osie Villeneuve, M.P.P.; Major Angus A. McDonald, J. A. Laurin and J. D. McDonnell.

The active bearers were: Albert Dancuse, Apple Hill; Arthur Lefebvre, Glen Robertson; Herve Meilleur, G. G. Aubry, Leo Des-Grosseillers and Rolland Cholette. (Continued on Page 4)

into the Branch. A committee report showed that membership in the Branch had jumped from 24 to 135 in the past year.

Fred Deer, president, was in the chair, and Mr. Deer was re-elected to head the Branch in 1952. In his opening address, Mr. Deer reviewed many of the accomplishments of the past twelve months and reminded members that much activity lies ahead, primarily the erection of a Memorial Hall, or at least a home for the veterans of the county. The special committee is to be called together soon and it is proposed to call a mass meeting of county veterans at which Dominion, Provincial, District and Zone officers would be present. Films on the occupation of Germany would be shown at this meeting.

The president reported that Poppy Day and Remembrance Day had been the best ever; that a Vimy Smoker, a Picnic and a Christmas Tree party had been inaugurated as annual events. In addition the Ladies' Auxiliary had been chartered and its membership had jumped from 29 to 60. Much service work had also been done to assist veterans and their families.

A delightful feature of the meeting was the presentation of a Legion blazer to the president on behalf of the members. In making the presentation, Dr. Bernard Villeneuve voiced their appreciation of his excellent leadership and the many services he had rendered the Branch.

Major Angus A. McDonald took the chair for the election of officers, who will be installed at the February meeting by the Zone Commander. They are:

President — Fred Deer.
1st Vice-President — Dave Lalonde.
2nd Vice-President — Dr. Bernard Villeneuve.

Secretary — Douie Thauvette.

Treasurer — Harold Nyman.

Executive — Sam G. Gardiner, Maxville; Sam Brunet, Major Angus McDonald, Alexandria; Charles Dear, Glen Robertson, and John A. Fraser, Glen Sandfield.

Auditors — John Malkin and Real Huot.

Sam Gardiner is to be Chairman of the Maxville section of the Branch, with Bennie Villeneuve, secretary.

Donald A. Macdonald and Eugene Macdonald were made honorary members of the Branch, in recognition of services rendered.

Dr. Barton Retires From Federal Dept.

OTTAWA, Jan. 5.—One of Canada's best known agricultural experts, both at home and abroad, retired Friday.

He is Dr. G. S. H. Barton, 68-year-old special assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, one of the fathers of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization and Canadian delegate to F.A.O.

While he will be retired so far as the Federal Department of Agriculture is concerned, Dr. Barton will continue his association with F.A.O., which he helped to found at Quebec in 1945, in an advisory capacity.

Friday, several hundred departmental officers and friends met in the agriculture department's big board room to honor Dr. Barton. He received a wrist watch, a combination radio and phonograph and a French-Canadian waist sash for use in curling, his favorite sport.

A native of Vankleek Hill, Dr. Barton received his agricultural education at Ontario Agricultural College, and from 1911 to 1932 was a member of the staff of Macdonald Agricultural College at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., serving the last seven years as dean. He joined the federal department in 1932.

AT 90, NO PROOF OF AGE SHOULD BE NEEDED

The files of the weekly paper serve a useful purpose in addition to their value from the standpoint of local history. Year in and year out the publisher answers requests for many types of information as to date and place of birth, marriage or death; queries as to family connections and happenings of long ago. The files are always open to those studying some particular facet of local history.

Last week we filled a request, though, that should never have had to be made. A subscriber was seeking a copy of a back issue which reported the 90th birthday of a relative, now surely entitled to the new pension. It was to be used in an effort to convince the powers that be at Ottawa that that person was over the 70-year age limit.

During debate on the new pension plan, last fall, the Government argued that it was to be pensions for all at 70 without a means test in order to save on costs of investigation and administration. Surely then the application of a person 90 years old should be acceptable with, say, the affidavit of some responsible person. Government red tape seems to be saving Ottawa the costs of investigation but passing them on to the pension applicants.

EDUCATE HIM HERE OR PAY ELSEWHERE

It has long been known by those interested in education that departmental policy gives the high school student the right to choose a course of study not available in his own high school district. He or she can attend any secondary school where the course is open and the local Board of Trustees is liable for that student's cost of education.

This provision has not affected the Area High School Board to too great an extent, yet, though there is a considerable outlay for Area pupils attending Cornwall schools. But this cost of outside education almost inevitably will grow and may become a major item in district secondary education costs as the result of a recent court judgment in the first case of its kind ever taken to an Ontario court. Judge H. E. Fuller confirmed the right of a high school student to choose a course of study not available in his own high school district and attend any secondary school where the course is open. It means that if a student from any section of Glengarry wishes to attend any school where a course, unavailable in our high schools, is being taught, he may do so and the Area Board will have to pay his tuition.

A large addition is now planned for the new St. Lawrence High School in Cornwall; a $700,000 school is going up at Hawkesbury; a larger school is planned for Vankleek Hill and there is the possibility of progress on the Stormont Area school at Newington.

If Glengarry continues to dally, we may find that we are paying as much or more in a few years for tuition of our pupils at outside schools as we would have been assessed for modern institutions of our own.

Why don't we smarten up?

LIFE IS BLEAK WITHOUT HAPPINESS

Many persons are finding it difficult to be really happy today, notwithstanding the streamlined aspects of modern life, and the numerous devices intended to minister to the creature comforts of this age. Amusements and recreation are available in an almost bewildering variety, yet boredom creeps in and something is wanting — a respite from the complexities and tension which press heavily on one.

Happiness is the precious ingredient of life which still appears to elude those who crave for it most. They can make material gains, win distinction in varied fields, have nice homes and drive new models. But even these tokens of a well-ordered career can prove to be shadows and the mere trappings of existence when the heart seeks its own solace or hope falters. Happiness, the substance, may escape them.

Without happiness life becomes bleak, the salt loses its savor and what might otherwise be appetizing, turns to a husk. Happiness is not to be gauged by what a person has in tangible assets, his social rank or his prestige. It is a product of the spirit, and thus an indwelling quality of mind and heart. The person who has found this boon, and been able to hold it fast, owns something beyond price.

Often it is come upon while doing for others and in forgetting about self. At any rate, it is sometimes observed that the happiest folk one meets in the daily round appear to be those who are the least concerned about themselves and who frequently, too, have a meagre store of this world's goods.

Happiness does not rest upon material things. It springs from our inmost selves, and is a human resource which we draw upon freely if only we shall raise our sights, keep wholesome our outlook on life and condition our relationship with others accordingly. Therein, say the philosophers, lies the secret of living and the good life, sagely comments The Orangeville Banner.

EISENHOWER FOR PRESIDENT

Our "cousins" to the South won't be the only ones taking comfort from the fact that General Eisenhower has indicated his willingness to be drafted for the presidency. The United States cannot give the type of leadership needed by the free nations of the world when the nation itself is without a leader who can earn the respect of those nations.

General Eisenhower has shown a happy facility for winning the friendship and co-operation of other governments in the North Atlantic Alliance and he should possess the firm hand needed to restore the U.S. presidency to the place of respect it should hold for the American people.

Too bad we haven't a vote!

C.W.N.A.—What It Stands For

By RON TUCKWELL in The Canadian Weekly Editor

Until a few years ago the reading public seeing the initials "CWNA" in press or periodical did not know whether they represented a fraternity, society, some new government department, or another brand of breakfast food. Today, these initials are as familiar as are "IOE", "WCTU", "YMCA" or even "CCF". In Canada, from coast to coast, the public knows the CWNA stands for "Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association".

Which is a tribute to achievement. Through grim war years, difficult years of reconstruction, and recent years of preparedness against possible further aggression, government heads, business leaders, and public in general recognize that CWNA has been rendering notable service to Canada.

The public knows, now, that "CWNA" stands for "Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association" — the largest press association in the world. It occurs to me that the public would like to know just what the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association stands for.

Aims and Objects

Its aims and objects are both idealistic and practical. Idealistic in that it seeks to elevate the standard of newspaper writing and publishing among its 538 member papers in villages, towns and cities of every province in Canada; practical, in that it seeks to foster the business interests of all its members; idealistic and practical, both, in that it promotes a wider and friendlier intercourse between its members — thus enlarging awareness of what neighbor communities and provinces are thinking and doing, and creating a more sympathetic and healthy concern in the interests of Canada as a whole.

In times like these, when many of our boasted "freedoms" are menaced, from within as well as from without our borders, CWNA, through its leaders (who come up through the ranks of weekly publishers in all provinces) urges its editor-members to read widely, think deeply, and write clearly, in order that they may give leadership and guide public opinion in the communities their newspapers serve; they are urged to combat all tendencies toward dictatorship whenever found in governing bodies on any level — municipal, provincial, or federal; as outposts guarding the freedom of fellow-Canadians, they are charged to be constantly on the alert, like front-line soldiers maintaining faithful vigilance.

Tall Order To Fill

A tall order for your weekly newspaper to fill? Indeed it is! But ask yourself, in all fairness, what other agency is making a more capable and valiant effort to fill such an order?

Every Canadian should know by this time that eternal vigilance is the price of freedom. Unfortunately, many other matters press in upon us all in the daily struggle for livelihood; there are chores and things to be done — duck-shooting time is here — hockey and curling seasons just around the corner — this, that and the other thing demands attention; and many of us become a trifle lax at times in keeping sights trained on threatening forces, which, however real, do seem somewhat intangible.

The weekly newspaper editor who constantly reminds readers of the need for alertness is rendering an invaluable service.

Editorial Opinion

CWNA, although well aware of what strength there should be in the united voice of its entire membership from coast to coast, never seeks to sway editorial opinion of individual member papers.

In the words of the national president, A. W. Hanks, it urges only that a newspaper "accept the responsibilities as well as enjoy the privileges of Freedom of Expression; the individual newspaper's editorial voice is unfettered — as unlimited as the personal courage of its editor or publisher — to hold aloft those principles of the Rights and Privileges and Responsibilities of ALL the people."

"All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me."—Satan.

It was the short-sighted, self-centred policies of governments that led the world into the great depression.

At that time distress among the people was so wide-spread and the need for relief so great, that only central governments with the credit of whole nations at their disposal could cope with it.

This gave governments the opportunity to pose as public benefactors, making gifts to the people; and it became the fashion for political candidates to bid for votes by promising more generous gifts than their opponents.

In one country that prides itself on being a model of self-government, a few astute politicians conceived the idea of putting all the blame for the depression on big business and the free enterprise system; and of painting the government as the only all-wise and benevolent instrument that could remove all abuses, cure all economic ills and restore prosperity to the nation.

It would do this by a more equitable distribution of the nation's wealth.

Being in power at the time, these gentlemen were able to use all the machinery of government to put their story across; and it was accepted by the people with considerable acclaim.

Their success tempted the same type of politicians in other countries to adopt similar tactics, and political parties began to appeal for support by pledging themselves to various schemes for redistributing the nation's wealth.

That was the beginning of the welfare state. At first it promised only to take care of the needy—the forgotten man. But as its political possibilities revealed themselves the idea grew and flourished, covering more and more people with promises of more and greater benefits until today almost the only question the voter is asked to decide at election time is which party will give him the most out of the public treasury or out of other people's pockets.

Here are some of the things being promised the electors by the proponents of the welfare state: Larger family allowances, larger old-age pensions, and at an earlier age, free medical, dental and hospital care, full employment, more generous unemployment insurance, job security, the five-day week, union security, holidays with pay, retiring allowances, closed shop, check-off, guaranteed farm prices, monopoly marketing of farm products under control of the producers, cheap food for the consumers subsidized by the government, control of prices in the consumers' interests, low-cost housing at public expense.

In addition to all this we are promised lower taxation.

It will be noted that the larger benefits in this list are not for the most needy, but for the strongest pressure groups — organized labor and organized farmers. The forgotten man is still largely forgotten.

These are the things the welfare state offers us. What does it ask in return?

It asks one thing and one thing only — obedience, implicit obedience, acknowledging the state's authority and submitting to its will.

Is that too big a price to pay for all these promised benefits?

Think it over. What does it involve?

For the farmer it involves operating his farm as the government or some appointed board directs, increasing or reducing his acreage as he is told, growing the crops he is told to grow, selling them as, when and where he is told to sell them and at prices those in authority decide to accept on his behalf.

Failure to do as he is directed in any of these matters would make him a law-breaker and subject to whatever penalties the law provides.

For the wage-earner it means that he must join the union the government names as his bargaining agent, and be subject to the rules and the wishes of that union, which will have power to throw him out of its ranks and out of his job at the whim of the union boss. It means that his right to work at his trade will depend on the good will of the union officials and that there will be no appeal from their decisions.

For the consuming public it means that the supply of food, clothing, fuel and all other necessities will no longer be regulated by the needs of the people, but by the uninformed guesses of some clerk or board that can't possibly be in a position to estimate the quantities or the varieties required.

To the employer it means that he will have to find the money to pay for all the wage increases, shorter hours and other benefits that politicians promise to the workers, but he will have no authority to hire the men he wants or to fire those he finds unsatisfactory.

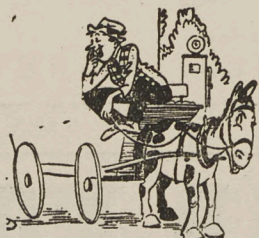

To all those who save their money and put it into savings banks, government bonds, life insurance policies, annuities or who hide it where they think it will be safe, it means continued inflation, which has already reduced the value of their savings by half.

Make no mistake about it, these welfare programs, so lightly offered by aspiring politicians, can't be carried out without further inflating the currency. They all involve putting more money into the hands of the people without any corresponding increase in the quantity of goods on which it can be spent.

That is inflation — the thing that saps the value of the people's savings while leaving the empty symbols of wealth in their hands.

The welfare state undertook to provide the people of Britain with shorter hours, higher wages, social security, and all the other benefits

MISTAKES

Everyone makes mistakes, but few people like to admit their errors. If a bank teller makes a mistake and dishes out a nickel too much change, or is a nickel over in his cash, he can't just say "to heck with it", toss in a nickel or pocket the extra nickel. He has to burn the midnight oil until he finds the error. We heard of an instance where a bank was out $99 and the staff was in a great dither to find out who had made the error. After a great deal of checking it was discovered that a little fly had dropped a period between the one and two ciphers in a $100 deposit, changing it to $1.00. Which reminds us of a little ditty:

Dogs delight to bark and bite,
And little birds to sing.
But all the little fly can do
Is . . . (speckle) . . . everything.

If a dentist makes a mistake and pulls the wrong tooth, he examines it closely, tells the patient it was in bad condition, roots decaying and abscesses forming. Then he examines the tooth which should have been pulled, tells his victim he had better have it pulled or it is going to give him a lot of trouble, and out comes the bad tooth. The dentist gets paid for his error.

If a doctor or druggist makes a mistake, the undertaker covers up for him.

If the poor printer makes a mistake, it is too bad. It is there in black and white for everyone to see, and it seems everyone who finds a typographical error in a newspaper takes a fenshish delight in calling up the editor or dropping in to tell him of it, as if he didn't already know all about it.

An old Glengarry Scot, who likes a drop of Scotch, bought a bottle of Black and White during the holidays and sat down in the evening to enjoy a few nips. He sipped away and towards midnight went to pour out a nightcap, but found the bottle was empty. "Well," he said, looking at the bottle, "you're dead and I'm still living!"

ALWAYS KICKING

People are always kicking about something, but the big kick in winter seems to be about the snow plow filling in driveways just after they have been all nicely shovelled out. If the snow plow didn't come along their street, there would be a bigger kick. They kick about high taxes, but snow plowing must be paid for, and if it were not done there would be kicking about having to wade through deep snow. People are hard to satisfy, but that is all to the good. If they were satisfied too easily, progress would come to a standstill, so the kicker is a blessing in disguise.

How wonderful is that woman who continues to be a husband's sweetheart all her life—her own husband's.

ARMISTICE TALKS

A lot of words have been spilled, a lot of time has been wasted and a lot of soldiers have been disappointed at these armistice talks in Korea. It seems the only way to stop the war is to meet aggression with aggression, or, in the words of Charlie McCarthy, "mow 'em down". No doubt, old Joe Stalin is sitting back directing traffic and laughing up his sleeve as his Commies carry on a delayed action war, keeping the U.N. in a turmoil. Perhaps the idea is to drag the thing along until the U.N. gives up in disgust, packs up and goes home.

UPS AND DOWNS

That old standby, golden corn syrup, which used to be so thick and heavy and delicious on pancakes, has had its ups and downs. It has gone up in price and down in quality. The old saying, "as slow as molasses in January", doesn't hold good any more. It is so thin today we believe you could set it out in zero weather and it would still pour like water. But with the high cost of materials and labor, we are probably getting our money's worth. The dollar today is worth 50 cents, so if the syrup is only half as thick as it used to be, we are breaking even.

a state can promise its people; but it did not induce them to work harder producing more of the things they wanted.

It thought to provide those things by despoiling the rich and taxing away the reserves and the profits of industry, which should have gone to extending industrial plants and modernizing equipment. But it only succeeded in driving the country to the verge of bankruptcy.

The same thing could happen here.

January Meeting Of Afternoon Auxiliary

The January meeting of the Afternoon Auxiliary of the W.M.S. of Maxville United Church was held January 3rd at the Manse. Mrs.

Hamilton opened the meeting with a short period of intercession, the theme being "Jesus Only". She closed with a prayer for the New Year. After the reading of the minutes, twelve visits were reported for last month.

A most interesting letter from Mrs. Ralph Collins of the Angola Mission in Africa, was read by Mrs. L. McKillican. This letter gave us a glimpse of the work of Rev. Ralph and Mrs. Collins, in Africa.

Several reports of last year's work were given. Mrs. McKay gave the secretary's report on the minutes of last year and the attendance. Mrs. A. W. McEwen reported for the reading course.

Mrs. Lambton reported the sending of a large bale and a layette. A number of cards were sent at Christmas time to shut-in members. Mrs. W. M. McLean reported having had something read on Christian Stewardship at every meeting, as did Mrs. Alguire for Christian Citizenship.

The treasurer reported the allocation met and generously exceeded. Mrs. Cumming reported 41 copies of the Upper Room were used.

Mrs. R. McKay and Mrs. A. Rowe had charge of the worship service, under the theme, "Our Fellow Canadians" — the French Protestants. Mrs. McKay told of the rise of Protestantism in Quebec. Miss Mina McMillan told of the work of the Point Aux Trembles School. Mrs. A. W. McEwen spoke of the Lachine Home. Mrs. W. M. McLean, Mrs. Rowe and Mrs. Lambton led in prayer.

The singing of a hymn and the Mizpah benediction, closed the meeting.

Herbert Muir Was Newspaperman

Herbert Muir, former well-known newspaperman, died at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Cornwall, early Saturday morning, he having been a patient there since May last. He became ill while in Saint John, N.B., two years ago and went to the home of a brother, Leonard Muir, at Le-mieux, Ont., where he made his home until entering hospital. He had been in failing health since that time.

Born in Riceville, Ont., 75 years ago last July 29th, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Muir. He remained there until he was 25 years of age and since then had followed newspaper work in New York, South America, Boston and Saint John, N.B., being in the latter city for 12 years before becoming ill.

He was predeceased by his wife and leaves a married daughter in Detroit, Mich.

He also leaves three brothers and four sisters — Leonard Muir, Le-mieux, Ont.; Alfred Muir, Toronto; W. J. Muir, Riceville; Mrs. Alex. Connell, Ottawa; Mrs. Luella Donald.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Chas. McGregor. Mrs. McGregor's brother died recently in Cornwall.

The friends of Mrs. Robert Elliott are pleased to learn that she is home from the Cornwall General Hospital, where she spent the past month.

Mrs. Barton, Seaforth, is spending some time at the home of her son, Mr. Kenneth Barton and Mrs. Barton.

Mrs. Jas. McIntosh had as guests during the holidays, Mrs. Pat Purcell and brother, Angus D. MacDonald of Kingston; Angus J. MacDonald, Niagara Falls; Robert MacDonald of Barrie; Miss Teresa MacDonald, Miss Ursula MacDonald and Mr. Jas. Hutchison of Montreal, and Miss Kay McDonald of Brantford.

The Ladder To Success

Circulation managers of newspapers say it is getting harder and harder to find carrier boys and keep them on the job.

This is a most disturbing bit of news — says that bright little publication, "The Printed Word". What will the banks and the big corporations do for presidents and board chairmen in the year 2000 if the crop of newspaper carrier boys withers away now? Where will the country turn for elder statesmen? How can there be big shots if they cannot refer to the time when they ran a paper route?

The answer could be that if young people and older people in Canada refuse to do the common tasks on their climb to greater things, there won't be so many greater things, for them or the country.

Strengthened Hill Team Takes 11-4 Win In Sunday Gardens' Fixture

Making their first appearance in their new uniforms, Sunday, our Gems failed to sparkle, dropping an 11-4 decision to a Vankleek Hill team that has been much strengthened by new blood from Hawkesbury. It may have been an off day for the Alexandrians, but they seemed definitely outclassed by the Hill hockeyists, who showed some classy combination work and dominated play throughout.

Some 300 fans were in attendance and they saw some good hockey as well as the more spotty variety.

Vankleek Hill took a 4-1 lead in the opening frame; made it 11-2 in a runaway second period and was outscored 2-1 by a still fighting home team in the curtain quarter.

A. Drouin was the high scoring Hill man, though nine of the visitors shared scoring honors. Warren had two, singles going to Boucher, Parisien, Doyle, Conway, Davis, Golding and Hall. Laurent Poirier got two of the Gems' goals, Periard and Bob Marcoux counting the others.

To start the third period, Courville replaced Bonavita in the Alexandria goal and he turned in a creditable performance. Playing-coach Rene Gauthier and centre Laurent Poirier were most effective for the Gems.

The teams:
VANKLEEK HILL — Boyer, J. C. Drouin, Prevost, Doyle, Warren, Bowman, Hall, Timbers, Golding, Parisien, A. Drouin, Boucher, Conway and Davis.

ALEXANDRIA — Bonavita (Courville), Gagnier, B. Poirier, L. Poirier, Periard, Lauzon, Lecompte, G. Marcoux, R. Marcoux, R. Poirier, J. Malkin, Dolan and Gauthier.

On tonnage Canada leads the world in nickel production, is second in aluminum and third in zinc.

TWO ON WEEK-END

Maxville makes its first appearance here on Saturday night, when they stack up against our Gems for the first time. On Sunday, Gems will be visiting Lancaster Rainbows at the Gardens.

SHORTS ON SPORTS

Officials of Alexandria Gems aren't exactly at the tear spilling stage yet, but they are somewhat glum as they size up their prospects in COVHL play. It's not the three losses they have so far absorbed that gets them down, but the loss of players when no replacement material is available to make up the losses or fill obvious weak spots in the present line-up.

There isn't too much hockey talent in a 12-mile radius of Alexandria and we hear players who might conceivably help are tied up in the Border League, which is said to have a ruling which prevents them from playing in the COVHL.

Sunday's game against the Vankleek Hill squad may have been what has been termed an "off-day" for the Gems, but they seemed to be completely outclassed in everything but skating ability. Their kid line wasn't trying too hard; the goal tending was woefully weak and the whole attack was badly disorganized. The Hill men might well be called the Vankleek Hill Hawks for only two of the line-up were from Vankleek Hill, the others calling Hawkesbury home. And these Hawkesbury boys are old in experience with enough speed and scoring ability to make a better team than the Gems jump. It will be interesting to witness a meeting of the Hawks and the league-leading Lancaster Rainbows for from here it looks like the end of the trail will see these two squads fighting it out.

But then we haven't seen the Maxville squad in action yet, and they must be a pretty fair outfit. It took an overtime period at the Hill, last Saturday night, before the Hawks could skate off with a 7-6 victory. That measures up the Millionaires as a real contender and we'll know more about them after seeing them in action at the Gardens, Saturday night.

Finch hasn't impressed yet, but they may improve. What then can be done to make our own Gems a contender?

Playing-coach Rene Gauthier has many problems. No competent goal tender is in sight; only three possible defencemen are available and the forward lines were none too strong before the departure of ace centreman Laurent Poirier this week to take a four-week P.U.C. course at Toronto. The Queen City had already absorbed another starter, Bud McDonald. But worse still, five more of the Gems are unavailable for practices since taking jobs outside town. They make it a point to be here for scheduled games but can't possibly arrange to be here for practices.

That knocks the props from a suggestion that the fans get together and bring in a topnotch coach to develop our younger players. A coach would be of little use when practices are impossible.

It's a real problem and there is no solution in sight. We hear there is some extensive scouting going on for talent in the district but that may be impossible to find. Perhaps the Border League may be induced to ease up their regulations to permit some player material being borrowed or perhaps COVHL authorities can be induced to allow some strengthening from beyond the 12-mile limit. But that wouldn't be anything of a permanent solution to the problem.

Meanwhile Mr. district fan can do his bit to keep homebrew hockey alive in Alexandria by coming out in greater numbers to see the games. He or she may not see a winning home team, every time, but there is a clean, exciting and fast brand of hockey on display that is worthy of better support.

The six-team Border League is well underway in the area to the south and east of Alexandria and fans who have seen some of the open-air games say it's plenty fast and at times not a little rough, with keen rivalry lending a spice to the play. League officials might let us in on reports of the games—we'll be glad to carry them.

Solitary trees are struck by lightning more often than trees in a group.

GOOD GROOMING

Six Teams In Action In Border League

A six-team Border League, made up of teams from Green Valley, Glen Roy, North Lancaster, Glen Robertson, Dalhousie Station and St. Justine, is now well advanced in loop play, we learn. Still unbeaten, Dalhousie is on top of the ladder with St. Justine a close second. The more densely bunched Glengarry teams possibly haven't as big a territory to draw players from. Glen Roy is in third place followed by Glen Robertson. Green Valley and North Lancaster have each won one.

Games are played Tuesday and Friday nights and on Sunday afternoon or evening.

Dalhousie almost lost its unbeaten status on Friday night, at home, when Green Valley held them to a 3-3 tie with only minutes to go. A Green Valley penalty at that point allowed the Dalhousie team to score twice. Glen Roy won a 2-0 victory at North Lancaster that same night.

At Dalhousie, on Sunday, the home team won again taking a 7-3 decision over North Lancaster.

Good attendances at the games are reported.

Rainbows Take 8-3 Win Over Finch

Lancaster fans were again in the majority, at Glengarry Gardens, Saturday night, when the Rainbows captured their fourth win of the young season. This time Finch was the victim of an 8-3 game.

The Rainbows took a 4-2 lead into the second period, added another in that frame and finished with three more in the curtain quarter, while Shaver was adding one to the Finch total. Some 250 fans witnessed a fast, clean brand of hockey, with Finch showing signs of steady improvement and the Lancaster lads again proving fine opportunists around the enemy goal mouth.

Rainbows did a nice job of spreading the scoring honors, seven men getting credit for counters. Reasbeck had two and singles were counted by Norm Collette, Ravary, Bill Larocque, Wightman, Picard and Dave Larocque. For Finch it was Don Smith, Buz. Barkley and H. Shaver, one each.

Young Chuck Larocque spelled John McLaren in the Lancaster nets and was credited with some fine saves.

The teams:
FINCH — Thompson, R. Smith, Elliott, Shaver, Oudekirk, Ernie Lajoie, Don Smith, B. Barkley, L. Hunt, Galbraith, Boal, Barclay and Eric Lajoie.

LANCASTER — "Chuck" Larocque, S. Collette, Bonneville, Reasbeck, Bill Larocque, Dave Larocque, N. Collette, Wightman, McDonald, Picard, Ravary, Carey and Armand.

Minor Leaguers Bid Adieu To Mr. Hubbell

The members of the Pee-Wee, Bantam and Midget hockey clubs, with their friends, met at the home of Mrs. Dora Campbell to do honor to Mr. C. R. Hubbell, who resigned his position as teacher on the Maxville High School staff to take up duties elsewhere.

To show their deep appreciation to Mr. Hubbell for his kindness and help to them the boys presented him with a leather week-end travelling bag and a well-filled purse. Master Charlie Munro made the presentation, and expressed to Mr. Hubbell the feelings of all the boys in saying how sorry they were to see him leave them, but they would never forget his kindness and interest which he always showed them.

Mr. Hubbell thanked the boys in his usual kindly manner, and said he would always think kindly of them, and wished them the very best of luck.

The remainder of the evening was spent in singing and just having a real good time, like good sports which Mr. Hubbell had taught them to be when playing the game.

Three Rinks Lose Close Ones In Jubilee

Three Alexandria Curling Club rinks entered Royal Victoria Jubilee play at Cornwall this week and all were eliminated by close scores. It was the first play of the season for local curlers who expect to have their own ice sheets in action tonight.

On Tuesday night Leo Lajoie skipped his Green Valley foursome to an 11-11 tie with George Julien's Cornwall rink, only to lose out in an exciting extra end. On another sheet Ubaldo Rouleau's factory town-ers won a closely-fought 10-7 decision over Eugene Macdonald's Alexandria rink.

Again on Wednesday night it was a close decision as Fred Graham dropped a 9-8 game to A. Dalgleish of Cornwall. Mr. Graham, a recent arrival from Orillia, was playing his first game with the Irons, Western Ontario being rock country.

The Alexandria rinks were: Wilfrid Secours, Jos. Fillion, Wilfrid Menard, Leo Lajoie, skip.

W. J. Periard, Adrien Charlebois, Wilfred McLeister, Eugene Macdonald, skip.

G. G. Aubry, Elie Chenier, Harold Stimson, Fred Graham, skip.

Red Cross...

received food and clothes packed by the Red Cross.

The British Red Cross had a sum of money given them to take women whose men had been prisoners of war, to Switzerland to meet the men. Mrs. Fraser was appointed assistant escort. The train was met at Berne, and several Canadians, when they learned that she was of the Canadian Red Cross, asked Mrs. Fraser to write their families. She also had food and comforts sent to the men and had the happy experience of attending the weddings of two re-united couples. And as no woman but a mother can fully understand the grief at the loss of a son, Mrs. Fraser was qualified to bring comfort to many sorrowing mothers, for she was one of those who had suffered that loss.

In 1919, the Red Cross in London was closed and all personnel except a skeleton staff returned to Canada. A large hostel was then opened to accommodate those Canadian pilgrims who wished to visit the graves of their loved ones in France and Belgium. Mrs. Fraser was in charge of the hostel which was opened because other accommodation was impossible to obtain. Three thousand people, through the work of the organization, were given the solace which at the time could only come from seeing the place where the loved one lay. The location of a grave was learned from the Graves Commission, and the Canadian pilgrims, with visas for France and Belgium secured by Mrs. Fraser, were sent on their way. They were met upon landing in France by representatives of St. Barnabas Hospital, which was supported by the Red Cross. Then returning, relieved, comforted and even at times joyful, these people who had made their pilgrimage, were met again on their return to England.

Three years later, when accommodation was greater, the hostel was closed and offices were given the Red Cross in the Bank of Montreal, Waterloo Place, London. Here the same information and assistance were supplied, and many questions arose and were dealt with by Mrs. Fraser, who by that time was the only representative of the Canadian Red Cross in England.

Later, Mrs. Fraser was privileged to attend the unveiling of the St. Julian Memorial to Canadian soldiers in Belgium, where she had the honor of being presented to Marshal Foch. In 1925 it was also her privilege to visit the War Cemeteries in France and Belgium with officials of the War Graves Commission.

While living in England, Mrs. Fraser had the unique experience of serving on a jury for three weeks, at the Old Bailey.

Then, after those years of devoted service to others, her wide experience and travel, Mrs. David Fraser returned to her native county and village on the shore of the St. Lawrence.

Hello There!

Did you ever drop in and spend a quiet evening with an old friend? Sort of let your hair down and talk about things that were important to you? Well, I had that type of evening the other night. Joe and I sat around and discussed things that were closest to our hearts — family, ambitions, friends and, finally, home.

"You know," he said, "I love my home. My kids were brought up here and all their friends live handy to them. And of course the wife and I like our neighbours too and see a lot of them."

I told him I thought that was very natural and asked him what he'd done to safeguard his home in case anything happened to him.

He looked sort of surprised and replied that she would be entitled to a small pension, to say nothing of two or three insurance policies. I tried to explain to him what a haphazard way this was of leaving things. A lengthy illness, succession duties and the many expenses that crop up at such a sad time all cut deeply into ready cash. If the estate weren't carefully earmarked and the family's income planned for, the widow's standard of living might take a nosedive. What a shame if she had to sell her house and move away, away from her children's friends and her old neighbours and the home that held so many loving memories of her husband.

"But I can't afford much more insurance," Joe protested in horror. "My expenses are terrific already."

I explained that quite possibly he needed very little more insurance. More likely it was planning and earmarking certain amounts for certain necessities so that those he loved would face a minimum of panic and hardship. No doubt about it — a little thoughtful attention now with possibly a slight extension of insurance coverage would pay great dividends for his wife and kids, or for himself if he lived to enjoy those wonderful years of retirement.

I'd sure like to advise you on estate planning and show you what my great company, the Sun Life of Canada, has to offer. Just call or phone:

DALKEITH

Several cases of measles are prevalent in this locality at present. Mrs. Jas. Orton returned to her home at Summerstown, on Monday, after spending the holiday season with Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McDougall and family.

Mr. Norman B. McRae of Vankleek Hill, was visiting relatives here on Monday.

We are sorry to state that Mr. Neil S. McLeod continues poorly. He is now confined to bed.

Miss Jeannine Perrier of Montreal, spent a few days at her home here this week; also the Misses Evelyn and Dorothy McLeod spent the week-end at their parental home.

GLEN ROBERTSON

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McDonald motored to Montreal with their son, John, to attend the Christening of their grandson and nephew, Paul Gordon McDonald Elliott. Paul Gordon is the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Elliott, and a grand-nephew of Rev. A. L. McDonald, P.P., Williamstown, who performed the Christening ceremony.

Mr. Allan McDonnell renewed acquaintances here while spending a few days with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McGillis. On Monday he departed for Alberta, having been transferred there from the Maritimes.

We regret that Mr. Horace (Pat) Robertson is not well these days, and certainly wish him a speedy return of his health.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Morrison have with them for a few days, their daughter, Betty, and her husband, Mr. Gordon Patterson of Ottawa.

Some skiing is being done at the "pit" near the Glen and Mr. Gaston Lortie believes, at times, that a skitow would be a fine thing.

Mr. Alex. (Cedar) Robertson returned to the Glen, after spending a few days in Montreal.

It was noted in this column last January that Paul Lacombe, Jr., purchased a quantity of chicks and he was compared with the early bird who catches the worm. The present scarcity of worms has caused him to dispose of all his birds this week.

Mr. Alan Macdonell of Gander, Nfld., spent the week-end with his sister, Mrs. R. S. McGillis, and Mr. McGillis. He left on Monday by plane for Calgary, Alta., where he will be engaged for several months on a large construction project.

Mr. Hugh L. McCulloch, who has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. H. Patenaude and Mr. Patenaude for the past two weeks, has returned to New Haven, Conn., to resume his studies at Yale University Medical School.

Mr. Leonard McGillis of Montreal, spent the week-end with his brother, Mr. R. S. McGillis, and Mrs. McGillis.

Mr. Henry Patenaude spent the New Year holidays visiting relatives in Montreal.

GLEN NORMAN

Mr. Alfred Dorval of Montreal, was a recent guest of his mother, Mrs. Alex. McKinnon, and Mr. McKinnon.

While visiting with relatives here and at Green Valley, Mr. Ian G. McDonald of Montreal, spent New Year's Day at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. A. Sayant.

Miss Jessie McDonald, Montreal, was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. McDonald, for the New Year's holiday.

Mr. Basil McDonald of Britannia Bay, Ont., spent New Year's Day and Wednesday with his grandmother, Mrs. A. Sayant, and other members of the family. He was accompanied back to Britannia Bay by Master Garry Sayant, who had spent the festive season here.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McKinnon had with them for New Year's, their daughters, the Misses Elizabeth and Penny McKinnon, Miss Ruth Batty and Mr. Ben Batty, all of Montreal.

Mr. Lloyd McDonald of Brockville, visited during the past week with Mrs. A. Sayant and family.

Miss Y. Methot, teacher, was at her parental home in Vankleek Hill, for the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

En route to Summerside, P.E.I., after enjoying the Christmas holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. McDonald in Brockville, Miss Anne McDonald spent Wednesday of last week at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. A. Sayant. She also visited with relatives in Dalhousie Station and Montreal, prior to her return on Sunday last to P.E.I.

LOCHIEL

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. William Vander Byle, on the birth of a baby daughter.

The Rev. Cleary Villeneuve sang the High Mass at St. Alexander's on Sunday, following which he was presented with a purse and an address by the parishioners.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Francis McCormick (formerly of Lochiel), on the death of their son, Hubert.

Mr. Ralph MacMillan returned to Guelph, after spending his holidays with his parents here.

Mr. Dan MacKinnon is now undergoing treatment in Ottawa. We wish him a speedy recovery.

The Farm Forum meeting was held at the home of Gerald MacGillis, on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken MacQueen of Ottawa, and Mr. Ewen MacPhee of Montreal, spent the New Year week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. MacPhee.

Master Duncan MacMillan is recovering nicely from an operation for appendicitis. Little Helen MacMillan is also in Cornwall hospital. We wish the two youngsters a speedy recovery. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hay, on the birth of a daughter.

Recent guests of Mrs. A. Square were her daughter, Miss Ethel Square, Toronto; her son, Harold Square, Ogdensburg, N.Y., and grandson and his bride, Sgt. Lyall Square and Mrs. Square, Fort Deaver, Mass.

An entertainment for the pupils of the Sunday School of St. Andrew's Church was held during the holidays in St. Andrew's hall. Films of Christmas stories were shown with Mr. Berle Rozon at the projector. Rev. G. W. Irvine was chairman. After the films, gifts were distributed to pupils and teachers, as well as oranges and sacks of candy.

Mrs. A. Cattanaach entertained the members of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's United Church, on Thursday afternoon. The theme was "The Adventure of Responsibility", and the president, Mrs. MacRae, opened the meeting with the call to worship. With Mrs. MacGregor at the piano, a hymn was sung. Mrs. Irvine paid tribute to the memory of three members of the society who had passed away recently, Mrs. Thomas McDonnell, who for some years had been a vice-president of the society; Mrs. Bomhower, who was a life member, and Mrs. James Black, who was also a life-member. After Mrs. Irvine led in prayer, another hymn was sung, and the Scripture lesson, John 14, was read by Mrs. MacGregor. A prayer, repeated in unison, followed. Mrs. Irvine then reviewed the first four chapters of the Study Book, "From Lakes to Northern Lights", and gave a synopsis of the fifth chapter. The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer gave her report, by which the allocation had been met, with considerable surplus. The Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison, closed the meeting. Refreshments were served by the hostess, and a social time spent.

When Canadians die with their boots on today, the boots are usually on the accelerator.

Hello, Homemakers! It's the day after the day before—and we continue to pick bones, nibble cheese crumbs and dry rolls. When we add a touch of glamor to the left-over chicken it will do the honors for a company meal. Gives you something to crow about, too, when it's Baker Chicken. The topping made with eggs and cheese is "top". Either chicken or turkey meat will do—and such dishes are easy to prepare.

BAKED CHICKEN CASSEROLE

1 can condensed mushroom soup
½ cup milk
1 cup cubed cooked chicken
2 cups cooked green beans
4 eggs, separated
½ cup grated old cheese.

Combine soup and milk in 1½ quart casserole; add chicken and beans. Bake in electric oven of 375 degrees for 10 minutes. Meanwhile, beat egg yolks, add cheese. Fold in beaten egg whites and pile this mixture on the chicken. Continue baking for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

SCALLOPED HAM AND POTATOES

8 sweet potatoes (sliced thin)
1½ tps. salt
2½ cups scalded milk
2 tbsps. flour
1 small onion
3 tbsps. bacon fat
1 slice ham, 1 inch thick.

Arrange layer of potatoes in bottom of 12 by 8 inch casserole; sprinkle with salt, pepper, flour and onion. Add remaining potatoes, dripping and scalded milk. Top with ham. Bake in electric oven of 350 degrees for 1½ hours. Serves 6.

JIFFY CASSEROLE

½ cup raw rice
1½ cups tomatoes
1 tin cubed meat
2 tbsps. chopped onion
2 tbsps. pimento
½ cup grated old cheese
½ cup bread crumbs

Seasonings.
Cook rice until tender in a quart of boiling salted water to which a tablespoon of vinegar has been added. Rinse in cold water. Mix all ingredients except cheese and crumbs in a casserole and season with cayenne, salt and celery salt. Top with cheese and crumbs. Bake in electric oven of 350 degrees for ½ hour. Serves 6.

TAKE A TIP

1. Juices left over from canned fruit make delicious sherbet toppings for desserts, and they are easy to prepare. Freeze them to a "mush" in the ice cube tray of the electric refrigerator, then remove and whip with electric mixer — re-
2. Try powdered sugar instead of flour when rolling out cookie dough. The powdered sugar will not form a white film on the dough. Sprinkle the cookie cutter too and prevent sticking.
3. Prepare sandwiches of meat, cheese, peanut butter or cooked fowl and wrap in aluminum foil, then place in freezing unit of the electric refrigerator. These will freshen in about ½ hour or can be toasted when frozen on the electric broiling pan. A wonderful idea for company.

4. Cranberries can be mixed into freeze and keep at "normal" setting until serving time. muffins, used with apple quarters for an upside down cake or mixed with chopped blanched almonds for a spread between split tea biscuits.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. H. C. asks: Do you re-freeze an uncooked frozen chicken if it has thawed?

Answer: Never refreeze raw meat. Once poultry or meat is defrosted, it should be cooked exactly like fresh meat. When cooked it may be stored in the electric refrigerator either covered or wrapped in foil.

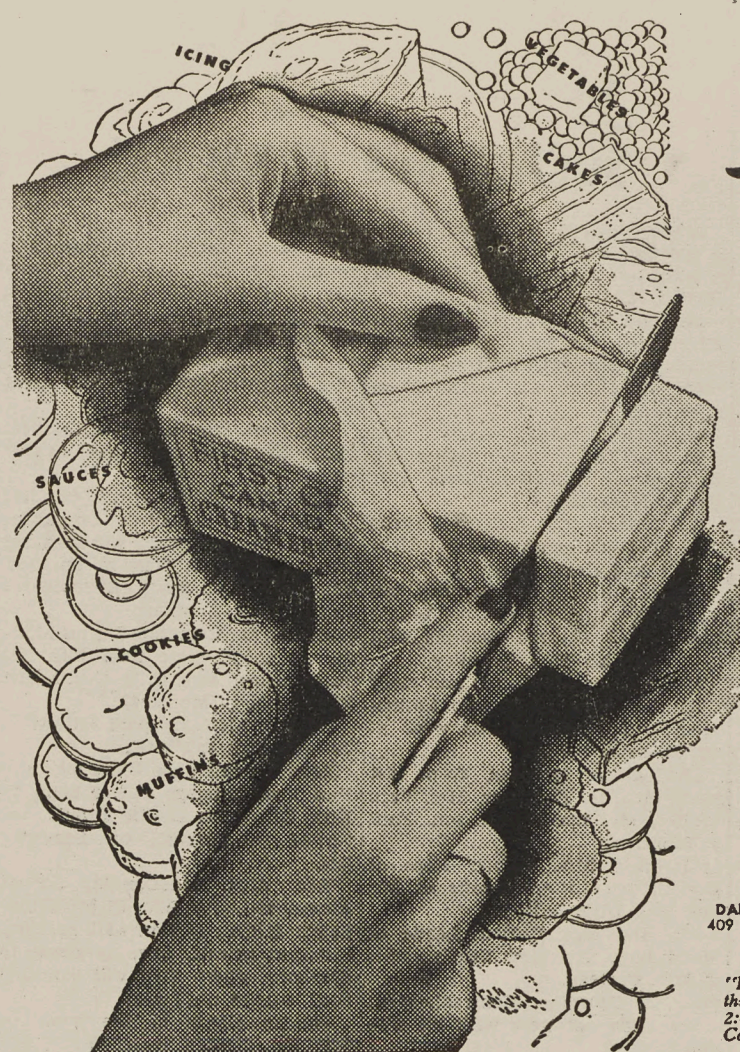

Miss J. T. asks: How can we prevent bacon from shrinking so much?

Answer: Keep heat low at all times when pan frying bacon.

Mrs. M. J. asks: Do you roast or braise a short-rib roast?

Answer: It is advisable to oven-braise a short-rib roast, that is, add water to a half inch depth in the pan, cover and roast at 350 degrees allowing 40 minutes per lb.

Your Ag-Rep Reports

A weekly report on the Farm Front, prepared for The Glengarry News by James Y. Humphries, Agricultural Representative in Glengarry.

INFECTIOUS RHINITIS IN SWINE

Outbreaks of Infectious Rhinitis in swine herds in Glengarry are on the increase. This disease was more or less unheard of in the county until its introduction with breeding stock a few years ago and since that time has continued to spread largely on account of the fact that purchasers of young pigs failed to recognize the symptoms of the disease until after they had taken the stock home. Serious losses in both breeding stock and income have resulted in many herds. The following information has been released for publication by Mr. E. I. McLoughery, associate director of Extension for the province:

Dr. T. Lloyd Jones, of the Ontario Veterinary College, and Professor R. G. Knox of the Ontario Agricultural College, agree as to the seriousness of the problem. The disease is apparently widespread, because agricultural representatives in all parts of Ontario are being asked for information about it and for recommendations as to its control.

The most serious effect of rhinitis is that it slows up growth. This occurs because of a distortion of the face, which makes it difficult for a pig to eat.

One of the first indications that the disease has invaded the herd is when the herdsman notices that nursing pigs show a tendency to frequently sneeze in quick succession. Sometimes the affected pigs will have a period of violent sneezing because of the fact that their nostrils have become clogged with some form of discharge. The irritation causes some pigs to rub their noses into the ground or against some solid object.

As the disease develops the nose often becomes crooked or pushed up, causing difficulty in eating. The result is lack of thrift and poor gains. Rhinitis seldom causes a pig to die but may weaken it to such an extent that another disease may develop and death will result.

At present there is no positive method of treatment developed against this disease. If the disease is not present on a farm, every effort should be made to guard against its introduction. It is well to remember the following facts:

All pigs showing signs of rhinitis are liable to transmit the disease to nursing pigs.

Pigs from litters where rhinitis is present, in spite of a healthy appearance, may give the disease to healthy litters.

Pigs from infected premises often carry the infection when taken to clean premises.

When an outbreak of rhinitis takes place in a herd, brood sows that were mature before the outbreak will not carry infection. All mature breeding sows and their litters should therefore be isolated at time of farrowing and likewise newly weaned pigs should be protected against infection.

There also seems to be some merit in raising pigs under natural conditions. Swine that have an opportunity to get exercise in the sunshine and open air and to root around in pastures seem to have less trouble than those confined to close quarters.

CULLING HENS

Culling a laying flock should be a continuous process from the time that pullets are housed in the laying pen until the flock is disposed of at the end of the laying season. At no time can one afford to purchase expensive laying mash and concentrates for non-producers and culling is especially important now with decreasing egg prices and increasing feed costs.

The experienced poultryman or poultry specialist, of which we have an increasing number in the county, has in most cases trained himself to differentiate between the good and the poor producer. This is not always the case with the owner of the small farm flock and sometimes he allows himself to be victimized by

*Blocked Farmer's Road, Railway To Pay

MONTREAL, Dec. 26.—Mrs. Olette Gaillard of Valleyfield will get $111 because a New York Central freight train blocked her road to market and she was too late with a truck load of tomatoes for the canner.

In Quebec Court of Appeals, Monday, Mr. Justice Bernard Bissonette upheld a Superior Court judgment for the amount.

His Lordship said the farm road was blocked 4½ hours and that the trainmen refused to break the train or move it.

His Lordship said the railway's right to use the right of way across the farm was subject to the farm owner's right to use the crossing for normal purposes.

Angus MacDonell Dies At Hamilton

(Contributed)

We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Arch. J. MacDonell and family of Dalkeith in the sudden and unexpected death of travelling buyers who offer to cull flocks and who find it an advantage to take only the heavier, well fleshed birds.

A circular has been prepared and is available at the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture on culling hens. This circular is well illustrated and makes an excellent guide for those wishing to cull and increase the efficiency of their flock. For those persons writing for a copy ask for "Extension Circular 78 — Guide to Culling Hens."

Plans are being made to hold a couple of poultry culling demonstrations in the county; watch for announcement and dates in this paper.

NIGHT CLASSES

Night Classes, which are this year being conducted in both Alexandria and Maxville High Schools, will resume on Friday evening, January 11th, at 8:00 p.m.

These classes, sponsored jointly by the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Ontario Department of Education, have been very well attended.

their beloved son and brother, Angus, who died of a heart attack in the hospital at Hamilton, on Monday, December 3rd, 1951.

Angus had been in poor health and went to Hamilton to undergo an operation two years ago. Since then he had improved in health, so much so, that he was expected to return to his home very soon. He was outside working around for some time and his sister, Mrs. Harris and her two sons, Lionel and Calvin, spent Saturday afternoon before his death, with him. To all appearances, he was as usual and talked considerably about his return home shortly, to which he was looking forward with great eagerness. Monday at ten o'clock, while receiving a pneumo treatment, he took a heart attack and passed away.

This was a heavy blow to his aged mother, with whom he lived, who was counting the days until his return, to keep her company in her home, during her declining years. This is the third son that Mrs. MacDonell has lost in the past few years.

Angus was very popular with all who knew him, especially with children who dearly loved him. To his little nieces and nephews, we extend sympathy, as they longed for his return home, and his sudden death was a great shock to them.

Anyone who visited him in the hospital in Hamilton, could see that he was a great favorite with the doctors, nurses and patients alike and their reports confirmed this. He was very honorable and upright in his dealings with everyone, and tried to bear his long illness patiently and cheerfully.

Those left to mourn his loss are his dear mother, his sisters, Reverend Sister M. Leo, principal, Sacred Heart School, Batawa, Ont.; Mrs. Marjorie Harris of Montreal; Mrs. Catherine Pinto of New York City; Mrs. C. Vassar, and Mrs. Charles Lee of New York; his two brothers, Hugh MacDonell of Dalkeith, and Alex. of New York City. He also leaves fourteen nieces and nephews and five grand nieces and nephews.

The pallbearers were Chas. Lee, Lionel Harris, John Pare, Archie MacDonell, Neil MacLeod and Fred Berry.

The funeral Mass, which was a Solemn High Mass, with Reverend Father Ouimet, pastor, as celebrant, Rev. C. F. Gauthier, deacon, and the pastor from Ste. Anne de Prescott as sub-deacon, took place in his parish church at Dalkeith. The burial was made in the family plot in St. Alexander's cemetery, Lochiel.

Reverend Father Gaborik, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Batawa, said the prayers on entrance into the church and the final prayers at the grave.

May he rest in peace.

Dalkeith Area Resident Mourned

The sudden death of Mary Christina MacLennan, wife of John MacIntyre, occurred at Dalkeith on Friday, December 14th. She was born on Lot 27 in the Seventh Concession of Kenyon, on March 21st, 1894, a daughter of the late Angus MacLennan and Anna Bella Campbell. She was married in 1915 to John MacIntyre of St. Elmo, who survives her.

The funeral was held from MacRae's Funeral Home, Vankleek Hill, to Kenyon Presbyterian Church, Dunvegan. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. D. N. MacMillan. Burial was in Dunvegan cemetery.

She leaves to mourn her passing, besides her husband, one daughter, Agnes, Mrs. D. D. MacKinnon, and six grandchildren; also two brothers, Dan MacLennan of L'Orignal, and Hugh J. MacLennan of Maxville.

Palbearers were Neil A. MacLeod, John A. MacLennan, Donald R. Campbell, Dan M. Stewart, Angus MacLennan and John Archie MacLennan.

DUNVEGAN

The dance held in the Orange Hall on New Year's Eve, sponsored by the F.B.C., was well attended.

Mr. Ossie Dalgleish and Miss Bessie Peachie, Cornwall, visited the latter's mother, Mrs. Peachie, and Mr. D. A. Gray, on Sunday.

Misses Muriel and Isabel Stewart, Ottawa, spent a few hours here on Saturday. Their mother, Mrs. J. A. Stewart, accompanied them back to the city and will spend several months with her sister, Mrs. Carson. Miss Catherine MacRae, A.T.C.M., St. Elmo, called on Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Austin on Monday.

The W.M.S. held their first meeting of the year at the Manse on Tuesday, with a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clark and little sons visited with Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Campbell, on Sunday evening.

Mrs. W. K. MacLeod spent the week-end with Mrs. Clifford Austin in Alexandria.

Mrs. M. Clark, Stewart's Glen, visited Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Austin on Tuesday.
