

FEAR FOUL PLAY AS MAXVILLE'S REEVE IS MISSING

W. A. MacEwen Last Heard Of In Cornwall Monday Afternoon

Police Pressing Search for Missing Man And His Car — Possibility Of Amnesia Raised By Doctor

W. A. MacEwen, widely-known Maxville businessman and reeve of the village, has not been heard from since Monday afternoon, and police are pressing a search for him and the 1954 Buick Roadmaster he was driving.

He may be suffering from amnesia, Dr. John F. Mutch of Maxville, has suggested. Mr. MacEwen is 63 and his age and physical condition suggest this possibility. But police are not ruling out the possibility of foul play, and the search is being carried out over a wide area. The description of Mr. MacEwen and his car is being broadcast by radio and television stations in the area.

The missing man is reported to have been carrying an exceptionally large amount of money on his person that day. He had been making collections for Maxville Feed & Seed Co., now operated by his elder son, Bill MacEwen.

Mrs. MacEwen reported to police that he left home about 10 a.m. Monday, on a round of business calls which was to take him to Alexandria, Dalhousie, Lancaster and Cornwall. He was last seen at 5.30 that evening by L. Cameron Kennedy, counties' clerk-treasurer, when he left the counties' buildings. He is thought to have intended making a business call in East Cornwall before starting home to Maxville.

The description issued by police follows:

Age, 63; height, five feet eight inches; weight, 190 pounds; hair, black, greying on the sides; complexion, medium.

He was dressed in a dark bluish-grey overcoat with a grey fedora. He drove a 1954 gun-grey Buick Roadmaster coupe with red wheels, licence plate number 41-501 Ontario 56.

Council Names Same Committees

Town Council set up its committees for 1957 at the inaugural meeting held recently, and the same councillors having been elected last December, the make-up of the committees remained unchanged.

They follow, with the first-named councillor as chairman:

Roads and walks—Adelard Menard, Magnus Lemay, J. G. Proulx. Fire—Lemay, Proulx, Lloyd McHugh.

Welfare—Sebastien Laporte, R. E. R. Macdonald, Menard.

Planning, development and industry—McHugh, Lemay, Macdonald.

Finance—Reeve George Lefebvre, McHugh, Laporte.

Appointed to the Park and Recreation committee were Messrs. McHugh and Menard, and the Reeve and Mr. McHugh were named to the Planning Board.

Mayor George Simon is a member, ex officio, of all committees, including the recreation committee.

New Chairman Of Public Utilities

Rolland Brisson was voted in as chairman of the Alexandria Public Utilities Commission at the inaugural meeting recently. He succeeds Mayor George Simon, who held the post for four years, from 1953 to 1956.

Members of the electric department committee are Mayor Simon and J. A. Sabourin, and of the water department committee, Jean Trotter and Martin Clement.

Routine Check At Border Nabs Men

Two men, stopped for a routine highway check on No. 2 Highway near Lancaster Tuesday morning, pleaded guilty before Magistrate P. C. Bergeron yesterday, at Cornwall, to charges of breaking and entering and carrying an offensive weapon.

The duo, John Bianco, 31, Toronto, and Raymond Lauzon, 24, of 219 Guy street, Cornwall, were remanded for sentence one week after being charged with breaking into Latour's Service Station on Second street west.

The two men took some 15 tires from the gas station and attempted to remove a safe, said to contain a considerable amount of money. In trying to push the safe through a door near the wash rack in the station, both men cut their hands, according to testimony of Det.-Sgt. Frederick Seaver of the city police.

They were stopped on their way to Quebec province by Cst. L. C. Kell of the OPP Lancaster detachment, who was making a routine highway check.

As he was making the check-up, the constable noticed the new tires in the rear of the car and also at almost the same instant heard his own car radio broadcasting the alert for the two men.

He then arrested the duo on the spot. Bianco pleaded guilty to the additional charge of carrying a .32 calibre Colt revolver, as well as breaking and entering and theft.

Missing Reeve Here Monday

Reeve W. A. MacEwen, of Maxville, missing since Monday, was a Newscaller that morning.

Mr. MacEwen usually dropped into the office for a chat when in town, and he spent a pleasant few minutes talking over the recent session of counties' council. As usual, too, he was seeking information as to the residence of a person whom we believed would be found in the Glen Robertson area. He was planning to drive to the Glen when he left the office.

His many friends are hoping to hear good news of him.

No Injuries In 3 Minor Mishaps

Damage was fairly heavy, but there were no injuries in three separate traffic accidents in the area last week.

In a three-car pile-up five miles east of Cornwall on the morning of January 15, a car driven by Fernand Ladouceur of RR 1, Williamstown, came over the crest of a hill and struck a car driven by Cecil Swenson, which was pushing a car driven by Daniel McCourt. The latter two men are of RR 1, Cornwall. Ladouceur's car sustained the most damage, about $300 worth.

On January 17, cars driven by Frank Cable and John Galaneau, both of South Lancaster, collided at the intersection of Highway street and the Military Road, with about $200 damage to Galaneau's car, and $150 loss to the other.

January 19 a car driven by John Roy skidded on the slippery surface of the road in North Lancaster into the back of a car driven by Emmanuel Larocque. Damage was not extensive to either vehicle.

The memory of Robert Burns, born 198 years ago this Friday, January 25, will be renewed at a Burns' Night Concert and Dance, to be sponsored in Alexander Hall tomorrow night by St. Finnan's parish, Alexandria.

There will be a programme of violin music by several local bowmen, dancing by the MacCulloch and the MacInnes Schools of Dancing, and songs by popular local and outside entertainers.

A dance will follow until 1 a.m.

Brother Of Glen Robertson Man One Of Two Asphyxiated At St. Clet

Alderic Cuierrier of Glen Robertson, lost his brother under tragic circumstances last Thursday afternoon, when the latter was asphyxiated in the furnace room of the convent school at St. Clet, Que.

The victim was Euclid Cuierrier, 67, who was janitor of the school. Also fatally gassed was a friend of Mr. Cuierrier, Eugene Dupras, who had gone to the school with him while he stoked the coal furnace.

The two men entered the school after four o'clock, and were discovered about an hour later by one of the Sisters, who could hear noises from the furnace and went to investigate. She found the two men dead.

An inquest was held Friday, and death was ruled accidental. It was not determined exactly what caused the gas to escape.

Mr. Cuierrier is survived by his wife, the former Antoinette Brunet of Montreal, and one daughter, Margaret, Mrs. Evahe Chagnon of Montreal. He leaves two brothers, Alderic, of Glen Robertson, and

Suffered Scalp Cut In Tractor Mishap

Wyman McMillan, 27, of Lochiel, received a severe scalp wound Monday when the hood of the tractor he was driving flew open and struck him on the head.

The young man was taken to Dr. D. J. Dolan in Alexandria, who took five sutures in the laceration, which was quite deep. McMillan was standing up as he drove, and attempting to head off a stray cow, when the tractor struck a snow-covered culvert and threw him head-first onto the sprung hood.

Mrs. I. McDonald Widely Mourned

Many Glengarry relatives and friends mourn the passing of Mrs. Innis McDonald, at her home in Greenfield. Mrs. McDonald died Monday morning following a lengthy illness. She was aged 66.

Born at Glen Roy, the daughter (Isabel) of the late Dan Allan McDonald and his wife, Isobel McDonald, she graduated from Alexandria High School before completing the Normal School course at Cornwall.

She taught school at Green Valley and Loch Garry prior to her marriage in 1915 to Innis McDonald of Greenfield.

Since that time she had been a resident of the Greenfield area, and latterly of the village, widely known for her charming hospitality, her natural friendliness and the many other fine qualities which endeared her to family, neighbors and friends. She was always active in the affairs of St. Catherine of Sienna parish.

Mrs. McDonald leaves to mourn her passing, her husband, six sons and four daughters, all of whom were home for the funeral. They are: Alexander, of London, Ont.; Donald G., of Hamilton; Stuart, Malartic, Que.; Archie, of Chesterville; Randal Gordon, of Montreal, and Corbet, Toronto; Mrs. R. A. B. Ellis (Flo-Ann), of St. Hubert, Que.; Mrs. Henry Cookson (Carmel), of St. Catharines; Isobel and Hilda, of Montreal.

Four brothers and three sisters also survive: John Archie McDonald, Niagara Falls, Ont.; William, Malartic, Que.; John, of Timor, Alta.; Donald A., of Yellowknife, N.W.T.; Mrs. J. A. Cameron (Annie), of Glen Roy; Mrs. Charles McCleary (Marie), and Miss Mae McDonald, of London, Ont. There are ten grandchildren.

There was a very large attendance of relatives and friends at the funeral, held Wednesday morning to St. Catherine's Church at Greenfield. The Solemn Mass of Requiem was sung by Rev. Archie McDonald, C.S.S.R., of Toronto, a brother-in-law. He was assisted by Rev. C. F. Gauthier, deacon, and Rev. Donald B. McDougall, sub-deacon. Present in the Sanctuary were: Rt. Rev. Msgr. Borden's To Build Freedom Fighter's Wife Happy In Her New Surroundings

The Borden Company Limited will rebuild at Maxville, where its milk receiving plant was destroyed early last Thursday morning, but on a much smaller scale.

Carl Murray, manager of the plant, which was a collecting depot for 59 milk producers in the area, said that the new building will be erected on the site of the old one, probably next summer. In the meantime, none of the company's four employees in Maxville will be let off.

The new structure will be of cement blocks. The portion of the old building used to store ice was not essential, he said, and will not be replaced. A large part of the 6,000 or so blocks of ice which had just been stored in the plant, still remain inside the toppled walls of the building. A rough lumber structure will be built around the ice, and it will be covered with sawdust or some insulating material.

A small office is to be erected temporarily and farmers will load their milk directly onto refrigerated cars at the Maxville CNR station for shipment to Montreal.

Fire was discovered about 1.30 a.m. last Thursday, and already had a good start when Maxville's volunteer fire brigade arrived on the scene. Loss was estimated at $75,000. At one time, the milk was pasteurized before being shipped, and the loss included several pieces of equipment.

Accident Verdict In Boy's Death

Death was found to be accidental and a coroner's jury attached no blame to anyone as the result of an accident last October 14, in which 10-year-old John Sturkenboom of St. Raphaels, lost his life. The child was crushed beneath the wheel of a tractor on which he had hitched a ride to school.

Dr. M. Markson was the presiding coroner at the inquest, held in the courtroom here Thursday evening. Crown Attorney R. P. Milligan, Q.C., of Cornwall, questioned the witnesses and it was brought out in evidence that the owner of the tractor, Elzeur Andre of St. Raphaels, had been charged with allowing a child under 16 to operate a tractor on the highway. He pleaded guilty and paid a nominal fine. His son, George, 15, had been driving the tractor when the accident occurred.

J. G. Blinn was foreman of the jury, and other members were Steve O'Connor, Jr., Les Fraser, Alexandria; Larry McDonald and Charles Fitzhugh of Lancaster.

Winners At Cards

Mrs. Eugenie Hamelin and Mrs. Hermine Periard took first and second prize, respectively, in "500" at the card party sponsored Monday evening in the Sacred Heart Presbytery hall by the FFCF.

Mrs. Eva Gareau and Mrs. George Tallefer placed first and second at euchre, and the door prize went to Mrs. Hamelin.

Six-Year-Old Boy Struck And Killed After Alighting From School Taxi

No decision on an inquest has been given as yet by Crown Attorney R. P. Milligan, Q.C., of Cornwall, following the accidental death of six-year-old Alphonse Adrien Poirier, Jr., when he dashed from behind a school taxi into the path of another vehicle.

The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Poirier, whose farm is located on Highway 43, about a half-mile west of the Maxville sideroad, and the accident occurred late Thursday afternoon, January 17, as the child alighted at his gate.

With his sisters, Reina, 11, and Anna, eight, he was returning from nearby Dominionville school in a taxi being operated by George Greer of Maxville as a school bus. It was not carrying a "school bus" sign.

Mr. Greer stopped on the north side of the road, and the children got out. As the taxi pulled away, the boy started to cross the road to his home, and was struck by an oncoming car driven by Raymond Beaudry, 42, of St. Isidore.

Mrs. Nick Fritz Describes Harrowing Experiences In Flight From Hungary — Husband Has Job In Montreal

"It's like going from hell into heaven", Jacques Fritz translated the swift reply of lovely, young Mrs. Nick Fritz, when she was asked how she felt about escaping from her Hungarian homeland to Canada.

With her infant son, Walter, Mrs. Fritz is staying with her father-in-law and his wife in Alexandria, while her husband works as a toolmaker for the Imperial Tobacco Company in Montreal. They arrived here after a harrowing trip from Budapest to the Austrian border, which took them something like a month, travelling by night, seeking shelter in farm homes by day, and wading hip-deep through icy channels which had been dug by the Russians to discourage the exodus from Hungary.

What A Difference A Day Makes

One thing you can say about the Canadian winter, it's got range. Like that 86 degrees that marked the extremes of the weather in Alexandria this week and last week. Tuesday, January 15, the mercury nose-dived to 37 degrees below zero, and just one week later it lazed up around the 49 degree mark, as a two-day January thaw unfroze the country.

The warm winds came Sunday night and by Tuesday morning most of the ground was bare under a steady down-pour of rain. There were some wonderful potential skating rinks in every hollow and creek around the country. But our "Spring" was short-lived; a blizzard came out of the north-east on Wednesday to remind that Winter had not lost its grip.

Tenders Sought For Hamilton's Island

About 60 summer cottagers on Hamilton Island in the St. Lawrence River, at Summerstown, are going to have a change of management.

The Indian Affairs Branch of the Citizenship and Immigration Department which administers the island as part of the St. Regis Indian Reserve has invited tenders to lease the partly-developed summer resort property.

The island is connected to the mainland by a bridge and consists of 181 acres, of which 36 acres are subdivided and leased as cottage sites. The seven-mile long island is administered by the superintendent of the St. Regis Indian Reserve and any revenues produced over expenses are tabbed for use of the Indians. No Indians live on the island.

The cottages are all of a good type, but the department feels that the island could be further developed without spoiling its select atmosphere.

The successful tenderer, whether the cottagers' association or a private individual, will be offered a 25-year lease at not less than $4,500 a year, entitling him to the rentals from the lots now under lease, and to develop the island for cottage or summer resort.

Magistrate Bergeron To Address P.T.A.

"Why Children Become Delinquent" will be the subject of an address to be delivered at next Wednesday's meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Alexandria School. Magistrate Percy Bergeron of Cornwall, who is also Juvenile Court Judge, will be the speaker, and all who are interested are invited to attend.

The meeting will open at 8.30 in Alexander Hall.

Zone Rally To Be Held In March

Zone G4 of the Canadian Legion will hold its semi-annual rally in Cornwall this March, and the programme was discussed at a zone executive meeting at the local Legion clubrooms Monday night. Acting Zone Commander Matthew Holden of Cornwall, presided.

There was representation from Cornwall, Alexandria, Lancaster, Finch and Hawkesbury branches. At the rally, the election of officers will be held and there will be tournaments in cribbage, darts and euchre for the zone trophies. The cribbage trophy is now held by Alexandria.

EDITORIALS

IT'S OUR OPINION

We Don't Want To Be Bothered

Town and township councils and other elective bodies have been getting down to work in these first weeks of January. It is a time for expressing our thanks to those who have carried the load in the year just past; for the residents of Lochiel, for example, to be saying thanks to J. W. MacLeod, who bows out after many years of service as head of the township council.

And it is a time, too, to remind those who are assuming office of the responsibility they bear for the well-being of their fellow citizens in the various municipalities.

It is a sad fact, but a fact nonetheless, that too few of us pay any attention whatsoever as to where and how our tax monies are being spent. The art of making ends meet in each of our individual lives has become so complex, it seems, that we have little or no time to put to worrying about the efficiency, or lack of it, with which our public funds are being spent. We are so involved in finding sufficient dollars to meet our taxes, we cannot take time even to wonder whether those hard-earned tax dollars are buying their money's worth in municipal services.

If our government then is to remain 'of the people, for the people, by the people', as this form of democracy has been defined, the onus falls heavily on those who have been elected to office. There is little or no check on their administration from the people, and we are almost utterly dependent on their honesty, judgment and knowledge if we are to be well governed.

That is not as it should be. But it is. And until that happy day when we are all earning a soft living on the 30-hour week, and have more than 100 other hours each week to devote to public matters and sleeping and such; until that Nirvana, we must call on our elected and appointed public officials to do their very best by us.

Give us all the good things in life, of course. But make every dollar count. Keep the tax rate to a minimum.

We, the people, don't want to be bothered. Especially don't we want to feel bothered when it comes to paying our taxes.

Canada Should Welcome Many More

Alexandria received its first family of Hungarian refugees last week, and we are but expressing the good wishes of all our citizens when we welcome Mr. and Mrs. Nick Fritz and their small son. They have an advantage over many of their fellow refugees in that they have found a haven with relatives, his father, in fact. That should do away with some of the sense of isolation and ease their assimilation into our ways and customs.

We can hope they will find Canada and Alexandria to their liking and that the trials through which they have been since the October uprising in Budapest will soon fade from memory to be replaced by satisfaction in their new citizenship.

Their coming brings realization of the fact that our country is being enriched by this migration of Hungarians from a homeland that can no longer be considered homelike because of Communist domination. Among the influx are doctors, lawyers, artisans, farmers, people from every strata of society in a country that once was known for its culture and its talented citizenry. Their assimilation into the Canadian scene can prove of inestimable benefit to our country.

The root of Canada's worst economic headache, today, lies in the fact that our domestic market is limited in an era when the export of our primary products is curtailed by tariff walls and currency restrictions. Canadian agriculture will not thrive until we are in a position to consume the greater part of our production right here at home.

And the answer, as we see it, is immigration on a vastly larger scale than Ottawa has appeared to favor in recent years. We have room for millions more and it is to be hoped this opening of the door to Hungarian refugees will act as a breaching of the dike, that they will prove but the first wave of a steady current of new Canadians. In England, we read, they are queuing up at our immigration offices by the thousands. Let all come who will, bringing their aspirations and their talents to add to our own.

We who are native to this bountiful land should make these people welcome, do everything in our power to help make them feel at home. The language barrier is a real thing, but even that wall can be breached. A smile will go a long way, even when the tongue is tied, to reassure them that they are among friends.

They need that reassurance.

Collectors Collected The Wrong Things

There ain't no justice, one of our fellow weekly editors opines. It's not fair, he claims, that we fellows who make our living in the printing trade should get it in the neck each time we make a mistake, while in some other instances an error can increase the value of the article.

He's thinking of postage stamps, of course. He tells of a postal clerk in England who came across a sheet of 240 penny stamps that were not perforated. Smart girl that she was, she bought the entire sheet and sold it to another person for 40 pounds. He got his profit in selling to a dealer in postage stamps, and in turn this guy made a real killing. He cut them up into pairs and sold them at 100 pounds the pair.

We never could quite understand what gives with stamp collectors, that makes them pay through the nose for a stamp simply because a mistake was made in its printing. And we can see our fellow editor's point. He's probably turned out milk tickets or some such item and had them thrown back in his face because the boy in the back office made a mess of the perforating.

Why, he's probably mourning, should he have to replace his shoddy output to keep a customer happy when the same kind of a mistake in printing postage stamps will increase their value many fold?

We realize, of course, that it is the collectors' craze and the competition in stamp collecting that makes such a thing possible. But we can hardly be blamed for wishing some of these stamp fanatics would turn their interests to collecting newspapers — and more particularly this newspaper.

Two weeks ago, Shepherd Bros. will tell you, we had a honey of a mistake in our paper. We have darn near 75 of that issue left, and we'd be only too happy to part with them if enough collectors were willing to cough up even 50 pounds, or 50 bucks, just to get these collectors' items.

The line forms at the left. But we're pretty sure we're the ones that are going to get left with them.

As our fellow editor opines, "It isn't fair".

Be On Your Guard For Fire

Last week was one we would hesitate to see duplicated by the weatherman. Not in our lifetime do we recall so sustained a cold wave. Never have we seen the mercury dip to such a degree, and stay so low for so long a time.

That was winter weather we will not soon forget. There is the threat that we may feel it again, but surely not to the same degree. Mid-January is past, the days grow longer, and even though we miss out on the customary January thaw we can glance at the calendar and be optimistic in the conviction that the back of winter has been broken. From now on we should coast into Spring. The outlook is sunnier, even though we are realistic enough to know that many days of discomfort still lie ahead.

But while Spring reigns eternal in the human breast, it might be wise for each one of us to bring our thinking down to more mundane matters such as the condition of our heating systems. Many weeks of winter weather still lie ahead and already our furnaces, our piping, our chimneys, have been called on for service far beyond the ordinary call of duty.

We in Glengarry have come through this deep freeze most fortunately, we would say. The dailies have described countless instances of loss of life and heavy damage to property as the record low temperatures took their toll of faulty wiring and heating systems. Glengarry has had its fires, too, but on the whole we can consider ourselves fortunate that they were confined to two winterized cabins along the waterfront and a business building at Maxville.

Let's try to restrict the loss to that.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

We Phroze One

The Editor,
Glengarry News,
Alexandria.

Dear Sir:

"Laugh and the world laughs with you,
Weep and you weep alone,
This sad old world must borrow its mirth,
But alone we must drink of life's gall."

I regret my incompetency to complete this classic. There is no D.Lit. after my name, due to my being a devotee of Euphrosyne, so often enshrined on such gloze altars as "THE RAMBLING EDITOR".

It is pleasing to note that you have opened a Bureau of Information. Henceforth we can ascertain if the streets of Alexandria assume a Sabbath dignity at any other time than during Siberian gales.

But I am musing. Would these sashays (and I enjoy a Do-Si-Do) know Euphrosyne through the medium of Bacchus? Then why should IL Penserosa most loudly wall, "Show me the way to go home"?

Do you realize, Mr. Editor, that, and,

Sincerely,
U. PHROZE INAREEDUR.

Along The Pipeline

Our Hungarian Policy

(From The Financial Post)

The Canadian reception of the first 8,000 Hungarian refugees has, on the whole, gone smoothly and well.

If you can manage to forget the scores of thousands of equally worthy Hungarians who are still stranded in Austrian camps with less hope than ever of getting to Canada, then you can wholeheartedly rejoice with those who got here.

But it is deplorable that the Canadian government should now have clamped down an arbitrary limit on the numbers of people it will bring. It is tragic from a humanitarian point of view that such excellent human material should be left to deteriorate in Austrian camps.

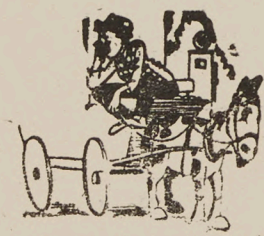

It is disastrously short-sighted from a political point of view that Europe should be given such an unattractive picture of North America wallowing in a prosperity which it shares so grudgingly.

And it is absurdly foolish for Canada, whose development is being limited by shortage of population, to be so niggardly about admitting the very people it needs.

If the 15,000 quota for admissions up to the end of February is intended merely to avoid aggravating seasonal unemployment, then the answer is easy. It is this: abandon the notion that we must not keep any of the Hungarians in hostels for more than a few days, and make proper arrangements to use the winter months constructively teaching them English and getting them used to Canadian ways.

If, on the other hand, the government's artificial limit is inspired by fear of "flooding" Canada with too many Central Europeans, then it is unreasonable and unrealistic. We shall have no trouble at all in getting far more immigrants in 1957 from the United Kingdom than we will get from Hungary. And only blind prejudice can imagine that a few score thousand Hungarians are going to make any significant impact on the racial balance of a country of more than 16 million.

The government should immediately double or treble the number of Hungarians it will bring here in the next few months.

WITH OUR RAMBLING REPORTER

By ED.

That certain air of expectancy was not confined to the small principality of Monaco. It's a girl!

CASH OR CREDIT

Further curbs on credit are being thought up by Ottawa to hold the inflationary spiral. And at the same time the Minister of Finance announces federal spending this year will be well over five billion dollars, the highest ever.

Those billions won't cheapen the dollar, of course. The Great White Father spends so wisely.

There's untold wealth in a lot of income tax returns.

CANDLE POWER

"If each one of us would but light a candle, how much brighter a world this would be." That is the thought left with us after watching the Christopher program on TV Sunday. And what a beautiful thought it is.

Take it literally and one can picture millions of glowing candles giving their warming influence to a world that is immersed in a cold war; those many pinpricks of light adding their illumination to that of the stars to push back the curtain of darkness which enshrouds each one of us to some degree, keeping us isolated from full fellowship with others.

And the figurative interpretation! What a wonderful world this would be if every one of us was living the lessons of christianity. If we were more inclined to do unto others as we would have others do unto us, if we were less grasping, more charitable, less bound up in our own petty problems, more concerned with the trials that might be besetting our neighbors.

If each one of us thought more often of lightening the load of others, of brightening the lives of our fellowmen, there would be no thought of practising blackouts, no need for Iron Curtains that add to the darkness and isolation of man from man.

The money you may have saved for a rainy day, buys a much smaller umbrella today.

16 GOALS

A new Maurice is in the making. Perhaps we shouldn't mention it lest the NHL scouts come flocking to sign him on the dotted line. But 16 goals in one hockey game are just too many to hide under anybody's bushel basket.

The new Maurice s'en va. We never heard of anybody scoring 16 goals in one game before.

We rambled down to the Gardens, Friday night, before supper, just possibly because two of our boys were involved in a hectic pee-wee minor hockey league game. But even before we reached the portals (the game was then well underway) we got the message, "Maurice is running wild".

"Skating" would have been a better word.

We knew they were talking about 12-year-old Maurice Seguin, of course. We'd heard of Maurice's prowess with the puck many times before, from the boys. And when we watched him do a solo from his own end zone, whizzing right through the whole pack to bear down on the luckless custodian of the enemy nets, we could picture him as another Bellevue a few years hence, forcing another Sawchuk to give up on goaltending in disgust.

We have a few reservations, of course, Maurice. The big league may not be interested in your puck-chasing capabilities unless in the intervening years you grow in stature, too. No smoking, mind you; maybe the occasional Pepsi, but get a lot of sleep, eat the right food to build your muscles and leave the women strictly alone learning their knitting. Move up casually into midget and thence into junior ranks, but don't sign your name onto anything until you've seen us. We're appointing yourself your manager just in case that 10 per cent rake-off might amount to something.

And for the rest of the kids who were trying hard, but couldn't quite cope with the new version of Maurice Richard, we have a word of advice. Learn to skate like young Seguin can skate. His blades are a pair of wings.

Put two of these formative years into learning less about hockey and more about skating and you'll see a lot more of the puck in later years.

Rainbows Continue Winning Ways With Wins Over Maxville, Dalhousie

Lancaster Rainbows strengthened their hold on first place in the Border loop last week with victories over Maxville and Dalhousie.

One point was the margin of victory in Jubilee Rink, Thursday night, as the Collette brothers snagged all three markers for the visiting Rainbows to win 3-2. Maxville goals were by Kippen and Michaud. In Glengarry Gardens, Sunday afternoon, a big four-goal spurge in the final stanza gave Rainbows a 6-3 victory over Dalhousie.

Menard got the only goal of the first frame to put Dalhousie in front. Thirty seconds after Bill Larocque had tied it up midway through the second, Bourgon netted one to regain the lead for the Quebec boys. Carl Collette got that back at the 17-minute mark.

It was all tied up again at 3-3 in the third after Norm Collette and Trotter had counted singles for each squad, but the Collette boys were too hot to handcuff. In a three-minute stretch, Carl added two more and Norm one to wrap up the game for the Rainbows.

These two teams tangle again tonight (Thursday) at the Gardens and Vankleek Hill plays at Maxville, Friday night. In a return game Saturday, Maxville goes to

Are You Interested In Roller Skating?

Glengarry Gardens officials are considering the introduction of the sport of roller skating in the in-between season after the ice goes out. They would like to have an idea how many sets of roller skates are owned in town and district and how many would be interested in taking up the sport.

Those interested are asked to inform the box-office.

Vankleek Hill. The Hill boys meet Lancaster here next Thursday after Maxville has come to play Dalhousie here on Tuesday.

The teams:

LANCASTER — Goal, C. Larocque; defense, E. Poster, L. Peore; forwards, W. Larocque, C. Collette, G. McArthur; alternates, R. Picard, R. Leduc, J. Leduc, L. Bedard, J. Coleman, R. McDonell, N. Collette, A. Samson.

MAXVILLE — Goal, F. B. Ville-neuve; defense, L. Michaud, R. Quesnel; forwards, R. McDonald, B. Tait, B. McCuaig; alternates, Rozon, G. Michaud, W. Kippen, J. Derocher, M. Michaud, B. Ville-neuve, R. Michaud, W. Clavette.

DALHOUSIE — Goal, J. Laferriere; defense, M. Cusick, M. Vaillancourt; forwards, G. Bourgon, R. Carrier, J. P. Menard, J. Ranger; alternates, G. Trotter, M. Miron, M. Theoret.

Ste Anne's Team Here Sunday

The week-end hockey fare at the Gardens is confined to a Sunday game, when Ste Anne's returns to meet the Comets again. The same two teams tangled Saturday night and again it was a case of the lighter junior team holding the opposition down in the early stages but having to give way in the final stanza.

Hafee got the first goal of the game for Alexandria, with Lalonde tying it up before the first bell. (Martel made it 2-1 for the home team early in the second, but that was the extent of the local scoring threat. Gauthier got two and Ranger one, to put the visitors ahead 4-2 at the second rest. Singles by Legault, Morin and Lalonde in the third made the Ste Anne's margin of victory that much higher.

Loks Win 7-5 Over St. Bernardin

If St. Bernardin, Vankleek Hill and Glen Robertson don't do something fast, it looks as if the Loks will soon lock up the Glengarry Junior League hockey championship and throw away the key. The young Lochiel - Alexandria aggregation Tuesday night outscored St. Bernardin 7 to 5 in a game played at Glengarry Gardens, with Kent McSweyn getting three of those goals to put him way ahead in the point-getting race.

We've lost count of how many games the Loks have toted up under "wins", but it's been so long since they suffered a defeat their unofficial record - keeper, Miss Georgette Trotter, forgets what a zero looks like.

In Tuesday's game, Rene Trotter added two goals to Kent's three, and Harold Robinson and Bruce Kennedy notched singles. Goal-tender Ronnie McGillivray let in five by St. Bernardin, off the sticks of Gaetan Levac, Jean Paul Charlebois, Alfred Soulligne, Real Deschamps and Marcel Brabant.

Refereeing was by Ralph McSweyn with Gaston Levac as linesman.

Leading the Loks' scorers in goals is McSweyn with 19, Harold Robinson with 11, Keith McDonald with 10, Rene Trotter with nine, and Hugh McCormick and Henry Dumouchel tied with four each.

Native Of Glengarry Dies In Detroit

At Providence Hospital, Detroit, Mich., on January 15, 1957, the death occurred suddenly of Mrs. Donald C. Walker of 4328 Grand Avenue, Detroit.

The deceased, the former Jessie McDonald, was born on June 26, 1882, on Lot 16 - 9th Concession, Charlottenburgh, daughter of the late Angus A. McDonald and his wife, Mary (Agent) McDonell.

The late Mrs. Walker had been a great sufferer for a number of years, but this affliction she endured patiently, always manifesting resignation to the will of Divine Providence.

Her husband predeceased her three years ago, and she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John Near (Mary), and Mrs. Ted Taylor (Helen), and seven grandchildren, of Detroit. She also leaves three sisters, Mrs. M. P. Casey, Montreal; Miss Kay and Miss Ella McDonald, Winnipeg.

The funeral was held at 9 a.m. on Friday, from Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Home, to St. Scholastica Church. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Mrs. I. McDonald...

(Continued from Page 1) family, were Rev. Mother St. Wenceslas, Mother Provincial of the Holy Cross Order, and Rev. Sr. St. Angus, a niece, of Ottawa. Several members of Holy Cross from Alexandria were also in attendance. Others from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McDonald, Malartic, Que.; Miss Anna C. McDonald, New York City; Squadron-Leader R. A. B. Ellis, St. Hubert, Que.; Henry Cookson, St. Catharines; Mrs. Archie McDonald, of Chesterville; Mrs. Donald G. MacDonald, Hamilton; Evans Cameron, Crrysler; Donald McDonald, Cornwall.

Ottawa — Miss Violet McIntosh, Miss Jennie McDonald, Miss Irene McKinnon, Miss Margaret C. McDonald.

Montreal — Robert Haines, Rene Cardinal, Cpl. and Mrs. J. Theriault, Clarence McDonald, Miss Loretta McDonald.

The wealth of floral tributes, Mass cards and messages of condolence evidenced the widespread regret and sympathy occasioned in Mrs. McDonald's passing.

"Jock MacLeod offered to buy me a drink", sighed the guide, "and I didn't hear him."

WHAT A LEG!

Auxiliary Deputy Sheriff Jack Sheahan of Tucson, Ariz., stepped from his car on an errand. A German Shepherd dog dashed out of a house and sank his teeth into Sheahan's left leg.

The deputy reported that the dog then "just stood back and looked at me with the most amazed expression on his face."

Sheahan added: "It was the first time in my life I was ever thankful for having a wooden leg."

Would it be right to call a quiz contestant a "guess star?"

Have you heard about the three deaf fellows who were ridin' the train to London?

"What station is this?" asked the first.

"Wembley", said the guard.

"Heavens", said the second feller, "I thought it was Thursday."

"So am I", said the third. "Let's all have a drink!"

The veteran husband of 10 years was at the office of the marriage counsellor.

"When I was first married", said the unhappy spouse, "I was very happy. I'd come home late at night. My little dog would race around barking, and my wife would bring me my slippers. Now when I come home, my dog brings me my slippers, and my wife barks at me."

"I don't know what you're complaining about", said the marriage counsellor, "You're still getting the same service."

"I'm beginning to think my husband is getting tired of me."

"How so?"

"Well, he never buys me any candy or flowers. He never takes me out any place. And he hasn't been home for seven weeks."

The minister was about to christen the baby and asked the proud parents for his name.

The beaming mother took a deep breath and said, "Randolph Morgan Montgomery Alfred Van Christopher McGood."

Turning to his assistant, the minister whispered, "More water, please."

Nothing is what more people do than anything.

A Texan passed away, and upon arriving at the gates of his eternal home, remarked "Gee, I never thought Heaven would be so much like Texas."

"Son", said the man at the gate sadly, "this ain't Heaven."

"Have you been boycotting the department stores in town this month?" an unfeeling husband asked his wife. "I read in the financial section that their business is off three percent."

A famous after - dinner speaker was invited to preside over a convention banquet of psychiatrists. "I suppose", he conjectured, "they expect me to lie down and say a few words."

A couple of avid TV fans began to grumble at the old, old movies that kept making the channel rounds. "I saw one last night so old", said the first, "that Abraham Lincoln played himself in it."

"That was a comparatively new one", scoffed the other. "We caught one last week that was really a museum piece: Abraham Lincoln played Raymond Massey!"

Taxes are staggering — but they rarely take a drop.

In Florence, an American publisher told a companion, "I saw the damndest thing from the train window this morning just outside Rome: a lot of actors from 'War and Peace' playing baseball."

"That's not unusual", countered the other. "With so many Americans here now, you're likely to see a ball game in progress most any place in Italy."

"Not like this one", insisted the publisher, "Napoleon was playing third base."

Footballers Renew Rivalry On Ice

The old rivalry between McCrimmon and Lochiel footballers flared up anew Tuesday night, and lacking a playing field and the right kind of weather, the erstwhile booters took to the ice at Glengarry Gardens.

For a good hour, they slapped the old soccer ball around, this time using brooms instead of heads and toes, and it ended in a 2-2 draw. Goaling for McCrimmon were Donald McDonald, followed by Ron McGillivray, and for Lochiel, Gordon McMillan. Harold Robinson got both McCrimmon's goals, while brothers Edwin and Hubert Hay scored for Lochiel.

Young Canada Hockey Week To Be Observed

Dr. D. M. Gamble, Maxville, district convenor for minor league hockey, has called a meeting at the Hub tonight to discuss plans for a local observance of Young Canada Hockey Week, February 4 to 11.

The Alexandria and District Minor Association is planning a night in Glengarry Gardens, when it is hoped to have all teams in the association participate. Dr. Gamble also hopes to arrange a night of play between minor hockeyists from all district centres and that is the primary purpose of tonight's meeting.

Purpose of Young Canada Hockey Week is to focus public attention on the physical, character-building, and other benefits of hockey for our youth, and to still further encourage the promotion of minor hockey in every community in Canada where the game can be played.

Badminton Club In Cornwall Feb. 1st

A return match with St. Paul's United Church Badminton Club is on the books for the Glengarryians Badminton Club. The Cornwall club has made a date to meet the local players on February 1 in Cornwall.

The Glengarryians will have little trouble rustling up players for the event; the club has a good membership this year, many of them newcomers to the game. The membership should get a boost from the new half-fees now in effect. Couples are being asked for $3.50 for the last half of the season, single members $2.50.

District Man Is Canada's Cheesemaking Champ

Harold Montgomery of Monckland, was Canada's best cheesemaker during 1956. W. E. Brennan, district dairy produce grader for the Canadian Department of Agriculture, made the announcement at the 90th convention of the Dairy-men's Association of Western Ontario, held recently at Hamilton.

Mr. Montgomery captured the championship and reserve championship, followed by T. S. Aieken, of Belton, and M. Fehner of Thamesford. In the butter classification, Silverwoods Dairy at Caledonia, scored the highest aggregate. Mr. Montgomery, cheesemaker at Farmer's Joy factory at Gravel Hill, owned by William and Howard Buell, has become famous in his field during the past several years. He has won the Hansen and Bledisloe trophies at London, England, in the Empire Cheese Show for two years, and is considered to have a good chance of winning again and obtaining permanent possession next year.

In addition he has won a substantial number of awards at cheese shows and the many agricultural fairs across the province. H. H. Leslie of Seaforth, was elected president of the Western Ontario association. He succeeded Robert Marshall of Listowel.

March Of Dimes Drive In February

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion here will be out in force next month to solicit your dollars for the Canadian March of Dimes. The funds are used to fight polio, and to help its victims, and the appeal is made just once yearly.

The ladies plan a house-to-house canvass, which will include the business places, and they hope residents will be generous with their dimes. In the United States, the fund's organizers have adopted a "Measure Your Child in Dimes" approach, in which a piece of sticky tape, with a dime for every inch of the children's height, is used as a measuring stick for your donation.

The canvassers here found out last year that some residents thought that only a dime was required of them, and they would like to correct this impression. Last year there was a good response from Alexandrians; the Auxiliary hopes to better their total for 1957.

Glengarry-Prescott M.P. Spoke Jan. 14 In Throne-Speech Debate

Mr. Speaker, allow me at this moment to congratulate the Minister of National Health and Welfare on his extremely interesting description of his good-will mission around the world.

When the members of this house assembled on January 8 in the Senate chamber to hear the message from His Excellency, the representative of the Queen, I am sure we all had the feeling that the present session would be of the greatest importance. I for one have been much more impressed with this idea after hearing the speech from the throne, which reflects the powerful impetus our country is experiencing under the enlightened guidance of the present government. May Providence continue to inspire those who share in the heavy task of governing the country, and shower countless gifts upon our population.

Even if this does not mean that all is for the best in the best of worlds we may, however, consider ourselves a most privileged nation, which is now well on the way to becoming one of the most essential wheels in the gearbox of world affairs. Both on the international and the national levels Canada has shown in recent events its capacity to stand at the outposts of foreign affairs for the preservation of peace and the advancement of the human race. Only a few weeks ago our government, through our most able and distinguished Secretary of State for External Affairs (Mr. Pearson) and other members of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations, was the keystone in solving many of the Middle Eastern problems including the Suez canal crisis.

Moreover, a point has been reached now where no major decision on western policies can be taken without Canada being consulted. Our influence in international affairs is constantly growing, both because of the policy of our government on external affairs and the sound and comprehensive interpretation of our national problems. The well-established policies of the government on international affairs are agreed upon and supported by all including, I am sure, hon. members of the opposition. I shall, then, refrain from taking any more of the time of the house on this matter. I would feel guilty, however, if I did not mention our hope to see our country continue to be the guiding light and an effective worker in the task of healing many of the sore spots still threatening world peace.

May I at this point also congratulate the government for the efficiency and spontaneity with which they offered help to the Hungarian people who were forced by the communist persecutors to flee from their homeland. These martyrs to the cause of human freedom are most welcome to Canada because our nation wants to be in the forefront of those nations giving aid to these people who did not hesitate to sacrifice everything for the right to live as free citizens. They will be a great asset to our country in the future. Evidently new blood is needed to maintain the steady progress Canada has experienced during the last few years. With the enlightening advice contained in some of the conclusions drawn by the royal commission on economic prospects, there is no doubt but that the government will be in a position to use this increased manpower to the best economic advantage for the good of the country. It has shown already that it can give a stable and vigorous economy.

Incidentally, may I say that so stable and vigorous is the Canadian economy at present that it has hardly been disturbed by the recent railway strike, for the settlement of which the Prime Minister and other members of the cabinet deserve to be highly commended. Some disturbances have occurred, as was to be expected, but they were of minor importance compared to what would have happened in a country with a staggering economy. However, that industrial dispute was a very serious one and had many ill effects on many sectors of the country. I noticed, for instance, that many remote areas were suddenly cut away from the economic life of the country, and this affected the daily life of the people as well as their daily productivity, small though it may have been. I see in this fact additional proof of the need for the decentralization of our manufacturing industries, both primary and secondary.

In the speech from the throne the government has indicated its intention to recommend the establishment of a committee to consider what should be done to make better use of the land for agriculture, and thus to contribute more effectively to the improvement of agricultural production and the incomes of those engaged in it.

En appuyant l'Adresse en réponse au discours du trône, mon honorable ami le député de Gloucester (M. Robichaud) a exprimé tout le bien que la classe agricole et le pays en général pouvaient attendre de cette mesure qu'il dit être pleine de promesse pour l'avenir. Je suis entièrement de son avis et j'en profite pour le féliciter de l'excellent exposé qu'il a fait à la Chambre en appuyant l'Adresse en réponse au discours du trône.

By the same token may I also extend my hearty congratulations to the hon. member for Edmonton-Strathcona (Mr. Hanna) on the very keen and interesting views he put forward in proposing the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

The principles underlying the setting up of the proposed committee to study the means of making better use of land for agriculture are of the same vintage as those calling for a similar measure to study the possibilities of drawing a master plan to decentralize industry in this country. It will be recalled that last year during the budget debate I made such a suggestion. Those who have had the opportunity of perusing the preliminary report of the royal commission on economic prospects, tabled in this house last week, must realize that many findings of the commission call for such decentralization and for the better use of areas outside large centres which are suitable for manufacturing industry. One could be convinced that such a move would benefit agriculture as well as the manufacturing industry.

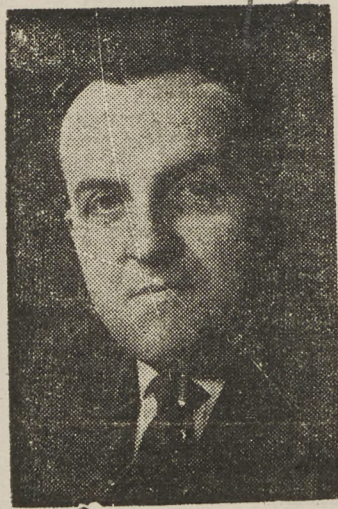

For instance, paragraph 17, chapter 2, of the Gordon preliminary report states that Canada is becoming an increasingly urban country and that this trend will continue. It is predicted that over the period running from 1951 to 1980 the proportion of the population living in metropolitan and urban areas of more than 100,000 people may represent from 36 to 56 per cent of the entire Canadian population. Is this expectation to become a reality, or should not something be done to alleviate the trend? Everyone knows that overpopulated metropolitan and urban areas are among the worst enemies of a sound and growing economy. I demonstrated that point last year, and I shall not take the time of this house to repeat what I said then. I will point out again, however, that in my own constituency of Glengarry-Prescott there are scores of communities suitable for industrial purposes, either for the establishment of new industries or the re-establishment of previously existing industries. The same situation, I am sure prevails in dozens of other constituencies.

In Glengarry - Prescott we have all the facilities. I know that other areas cannot secure manufacturing industries because of lack of hydro-electric power. With the advent of dieselization and the coming use of atomic energy for industrial purposes I do not think this will constitute a problem any longer. In any case this is one of the points into which the committee or royal commission I suggested last year would have to investigate. Had such a body been formed last year, it could have laid down the main foundation of its work after the publication of the report of the Gordon commission. Now that the preliminary report is out, I think it is more than ever the time for the government to give all its attention to such a measure if we are to draw up a policy capable of influencing the economic life of Canada in the course of the next 25 years.

To further help the economy of the manufacturing industries; to ease the housing situation in the big cities; to provide for better and more logical distribution of industrial products, decentralization would give more impetus to the agricultural areas benefiting from it. The increase of population it would bring in those semi-urban regions normally would increase the local consumption of agricultural products grown nearby, thereby reducing the cost of transportation and consequently lowering the cost of living.

Another effect of decentralization would be to get more agricultural manpower on the farm. The Gordon preliminary report also points out that in agriculture output is expected to decline in round figures from 13 per cent to 8 per cent of the total output. Here again I think efforts should be made to alleviate such a trend. In my humble opinion the boosting of regional economy and the keeping of agricultural manpower on the farms would be two very important steps in the right direction.

Since the preliminary report of the royal commission on economic prospects has been tabled, economics have been paramount in most parliamentary and political circles. It is surely a subject of prime importance, and I think in a democratic and peace-loving country like ours a sound economy is possible only if all classes of society are assured of a decent living and of freedom from want. That is why the government initiated a program of social security some years ago.

Some of my colleagues who have preceded me in this debate have voiced their views on the subject. I would like very briefly to emphasize the importance it has for the people of Canada. When speaking of social security one thinks almost immediately of old age pensions. The number of people for whom this measure brings the difference between a very frugal living and dire poverty is unbelievable, and statistics do not always reflect that. What these old people receive now under the Old Age Pensions Act, however, is merely sufficient to subsist on. When it was increased to $40 a month the old age pension came as a benediction from heaven for those who had nothing to live on, and even then it could not buy for them all they needed; but nowadays it is felt that this amount is utterly insufficient.

We all know that the cost of living has skyrocketed during the past few years. It has also skyrocketed for old people, especially for those who have no other source of income but this pension. That is why I would suggest the increase be possibly $25 a month, bringing the pension to $65 a month for all old age pensioners, with a means test for those who are between 65 and 70 years of age. Also, if we are to help the Canadian people to keep pace with the constantly rising cost of living, I feel that family allowances should be increased accordingly, let us say to possibly $5 to $7 on the basic allowance, with an equivalent increase for other classes.

In that regard I am also very sorry to deplore the fact that it has been impossible up to now to implement the health insurance plan that the Canadian government proposed last year. It is to be hoped that some of the provinces will not continue to minimize the importance of such a scheme of social security to our country.

In the speech from the throne the government has shown once again its appreciation of the interrelation between the various activities which are to make Canada a great country in the future. It is very gratifying indeed to know that hon. members will be asked to approve the establishment of the Canada Council for Arts, humanities and social sciences. Although those three fields are not directly connected with the administration of the country, they must be considered as the inspiration of the leaders and as vital factors in the superiority of a nation.

This new council will be called upon to grant many scholarships and bursaries, especially to young Canadians. I would like, then, to suggest that it could be attached, for administrative purposes, to a new department of youth which I have advocated many times in this house. Under the same new youth department could come the administration of the increased annual grants to universities, to be distributed by the national conference of Canadian universities, for the purpose of helping our institutions of higher learning to prepare the future leaders of our country.

On that measure, which has been so widely approved throughout Canada, I will mention my belief that the national conference of Canadian universities, having undertaken to act as a distributing agent for those grants, should immediately start an inquiry to determine the various needs of each university, aside from construction projects. As it is now, the plan calls for the distribution of the grants on a per capita basis of the student population. These per capita grants undoubtedly will constitute a great factor in the development of our universities, but it is also evident that some universities are not in quite the same position as others, either because of local conditions or because of their growing influence, which calls for a more extensive and faster development.

I am not suggesting that grants should be given on a discriminatory basis, but simply that a study should be made with a view to extending on a rational basis, some additional help to institutions that are capable of absolutely proving their need of money for new equipment or additional personnel, for instance.

The speech from the throne also mentioned that a measure will be placed before the house for the purpose of renewing, on a revised and increased basis, the federal program of amounts to provincial governments in aid of technical and vocational training. This is another item which could be administered by a new youth department. Everybody knows how useful technical and vocational training has been in Canada since the inception of the Roger plan. Incidentally, is it not a little strange that the skill of certain provincial governments is not so tender when it comes time to accepting federal grants in this particular field of education? Is it that they consider technical and vocation training so much less important than university training, or is it an effort to continue an established tradition, hoping that people of particular provinces will not notice the inconsistency of their attitude? Whatever the reason is, this plan is accepted even by the most discriminatory province and I heartily support it, because it is aimed at bettering the conditions of life of the working classes who are the active nucleus of our free enterprise system.

Arthur Geneau Dies At 58

A life-long resident of the Glen Robertson area, Arthur Geneau, died at his home in the Glen on Thursday, January 17, at the age of 58. Mr. Geneau had not been in good health for some months as the result of a heart condition.

Born in the Glen, on September 2, 1898, he was the son of the late Leon Geneau and his wife, Azilda Lavigne. On September 26, 1926, he married Miss Yvonne Brunet of Glen Robertson, who survives him, along with one son, Robert, with the CNR in Montreal. He also leaves three brothers, Wilfrid and Philorom Geneau, Glen Robertson, and Albert Geneau, Glen Sandfield.

Until 1949, Mr. Geneau farmed in the Second of Lochiel. That year he moved to the village, and for five years was employed as sexton at St. Martin of Tours Church. For the past few years, he has been working on the extra gang of the CNR there.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon to the parish church, and the Libera was chanted. The body was placed in the vault to await burial in the Spring. Pall-bearers were his three brothers, and Messrs. Duncan Titley, Raymond Menard and Joseph Farand.

Monday morning, the Solemn Mass of Requiem was offered by Rev. J. D. R. Rouleau, assisted by Rev. Emilien Houde and Rev. Genald Foirier, the latter of Cornwall.

A. C. Cooper tells of revolution brought by frozen foods

"Frozen foods are revolutionizing daily living," says A. C. Cooper, Manager of the Frozen Foods Warehouse of Dominion Stores Limited. "They not only save the housewife's time and cut down waste in preparing meals; they also make available all year many tempting fruits and choice meats — and a far wider variety of vegetables and seafood."

As a family man, Mr. Cooper has also benefited by the progress made in another field . . . life insurance.

Today, providing continuing income for your family is only one of the functions of life insurance. The increased flexibility of life insurance plans enables you to provide funds for emergencies, your children's education, safeguarding your home, protecting your business . . . and a retirement income for yourself.

Your life underwriter is better trained than ever to help you shape these flexible insurance plans to meet your family's needs.

In these and other ways, the life insurance companies keep in the vanguard of progress.

See Three-Mill Boost In Counties' Rates Over Last Year's Levy

The tentative budget of the United Counties calls for an increase of three mills in the annual tax levy. The report of the finance committee, headed by Allan C. Vallance, stressed that this budget was tentative and will not be finally established until early summer.

This new levy reflects the loss of about $20 millions in assessment due to annexation of urban Cornwall township by the City of Cornwall.

Council's finance committee report was tabled and approved at the January session, which ended early Saturday evening.

Among appointments to a large number of committees of council were these involving members from Glengarry:

On the Board of Management of Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge—Bryce MacNaughton.

Board of Governors, Cornwall General Hospital—D. A. Gray.

St. Lawrence Sanatorium board of trustees—George Lefebvre, W. A. MacEwen.

Board of Health — Gerald Sangster.

Children's Aid Society — Allan C. Vallance.

Forestry Committee — Gerald Sangster, Eugene Ranger.

St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project committee — Joseph Fillion, Bryce MacNaughton.

Checking Committee—Hugh McDonald, Allan C. Vallance.

Annexation Committee — W. A. MacEwen, Allan C. Vallance.

Assessment Committee — W. A. MacEwen.

Civil Defence committee — A. C. Vallance, vice-chairman; John McLennan, L. C. Kennedy.

The committee heard several requests for grants and recommended the following: To the Salvation Army, $550; to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, $1,700; St. John Ambulance, $100; Ottawa Valley Seed Growers' Association, $75.

The committee recommended support of a Peterborough County Council request that the entire administration of criminal justice expense be assumed by the provincial government.

The committee on Public Welfare, Orval Seeley, chairman, heard a report on the work of Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge board of management by chairman Bryce MacNaughton. Admission is granted to prospective residents on the basis of need, the report said. A visit of council to the Lodge during 1957 was suggested.

$530,000 on Roads

The United Counties will spend more than $500,000 on roads in 1957, according to a report submitted by the roads and bridges committee to counties council, Saturday.

Of this, $37,000 will be spent on county roads, a decrease of $110,000 from 1956, and $160,000 on suburban roads, an increase of almost the same amount over the previous year's figure of $50,000.

The roads and bridges committee report, presented by W. S. Fraser, reeve of Roxborough township, was one of several reports adopted by council.

The change in the distribution of the money comes about from the expansion of the city due to annexation and other factors. The $370,000 will be made up of $175,000 levied on the three counties and the remainder in the form of provincial grants from Queen's Park.

In the suburban road picture $40,000 will come from the counties, $40,000 from the city, and the remaining $80,000 from the province.

Want 401 Extended

The committee also recommended that the Counties petition the minister of highways to have Highway 401 completed from the Quebec border west as far as Aultsville. A small section of this road in the Aultsville area has recently been completed as part of the new highway to Hydro's new towns one and two.

They also asked the council to petition the minister with a view to making Highway No. 2 a limited access route from the Grenville-Leeds border to Brookdale Avenue in the city.

The committee also asked the council to petition the minister to have five portions of county roads designated "development roads". The designation generally brings in more provincial subsidy on work done on the roads.

The committee then appointed

TOURING VANKLEEK HILL

Written for The Glengarry News by T. J. HUGHES

Just a few doors from the Vankleek Hill arena on Mill street, there lives a man whom most every old-timer in Glengarry has known at one time or another. The man in question is Alex Clark, and he is now 85 years old. Alex lives alone and has more friends than you would think who like to hear stories of past years in this area. Up until this year he attended every hockey game at the arena, but now follows his hockey by way of radio. At one time Alex was very well known in Alexandria, and I am sure many old friends will be glad to know that he is well and happy.

The man asked the bus driver, "Does this bus stop at the Ritz?" "No my good man, we just keep it in the garage with the other buses."

I wish to thank Mrs. T. F. Fahey of Syracuse, New York, for her letter and her quips. I am also very glad to know that she enjoys The Glengarry News.

This year the Hill Curling Club boasts a very large membership in both the ladies' and men's clubs. Membership is far above average and with the cold weather keeping the ice in good shape everyone is getting a good chance to curl.

When asked what reading matter she would like to take with her to a desert isle, the girl replied, "A tattooed sailor".

This past week was a dandy for the garage attendants and the oil dealers. Oil and batteries were sold en masse as the mercury dipped down between 30 and 40 degrees below zero. Retail merchants announce no sales of bathing suits or mosquito oil.

Hockey in this area, as well as others, has taken a turn for the worse. Crowds have been terrible here this winter. I still say that publicity in all areas, by all teams, is needed in the worst way if we are to salvage our sport in these areas. Each team should appoint a publicity man and do it fast.

Mrs. Neil Fraser, who recently caught her hand in the washing machine wringer, and is improving nicely, asked the doctor if she would be able to play the piano after her hand heals. The doctor said, "You sure will". Mrs. Fraser can hardly wait for her hand to heal, as she couldn't play the piano before her accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Levac left for Florida a week ago Saturday. They sure knew when to leave. Henri operates a furniture store in Vankleek Hill, and is a member of the Town Council.

A number of Vankleek Hill curlers are curling in Utica, New York. John Fraser, Arthur Wilson, Crawford Wood and Alex Siversky are upholding the standards of the Vankleek Hill Curling Club.

The Advisory Roads Committee to investigate the possibilities of making the soon-to-be-abandoned New York Central Railway right-of-way into a highway between Cornwall and Ottawa.

The provincial roads department has already brushed off this suggestion. But it has cropped up from time to time in the form of investigations by various societies and social groups.

WILLIAMSTOWN

The relatives and friends of the late Mrs. Andrew Major have the sincere sympathy of the community. Mrs. Major passed away at the Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, on January 14. The funeral was held from her late home to St. Mary's Church and cemetery, on January 17th.

The annual meeting of St. Andrew's United Church congregation will be held on Wednesday evening, January 23, in St. Andrew's hall.

Redemptorists Held Conference Here

Thirty-one Redemptorist Fathers, most of whom had been recently recalled from foreign missions to take posts in Canada, gathered at the Fatima Retreat House here recently for a six-day retreat. The retreat was preached by a Redemptorist from England, and was followed by a series of conferences which lasted until Thursday night, and attended by 25 more Redemptorists.

At the conclusion of the conferences, the Fathers left for parishes and monasteries as far away as Vancouver.

ANNUAL REPORT OF HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

The year 1956 has passed and we are reminded that our many successes have been the reward of the work of our president, officers, directors and members.

We had 60 members, one more than in 1955. During the year, five meetings were held. In May, a home cooking sale, plants and seeds was held in the Community Hall.

The flower show, held August 14, exemplified the keen interest of the members. There were 223 entries of flowers, 14 of vegetables, 36 juvenile, for a total of 323 entries. The juvenile class, which was quite interesting, an essay contest was written by 18 school children.

The judging was done by Miss Hamblin of Avonmore. Winners were Verna Russell, Winston Scott, Doris Fusee and Donald McKay. Winners in the contest on poster advertising for membership for our society were Noella Papineau, Patsy Montcalm, Winston Scott. These three posters were sent to Russell to the district meeting to be judged for provincial competition at Toronto. Winston Scott received 1st and Patsy Montcalm 2nd prize in the district.

Mrs. Dan Campbell, Avonmore, won the T. Eaton trophy in the flower section; Mrs. Wilfrid Montcalm, Moose Creek, the Simpson trophy in vegetable section. Public school S.S. 12, Moose Creek, won the highest points.

LOCHIEL

Farm Forum met on Monday evening, January 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacPhee, to continue discussion on the series on "Parity Prices". Citizens of Lochiel are enjoying the respite from sub-zero weather and blocked driveways.

Wyman MacMillan received injuries to his head on Monday night, while operating the tractor. Just one more of those freak accidents that are so often recorded in the occupation of farming. The wound required several stitches.

Dianne MacMillan is back to studies at AHS, after being absent several weeks due to an appendectomy. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ouknet, in the loss of their infant baby girl.

A joyful sound to several Lochiel housewives was the gurgle of rain from eave-pipes into cisterns. Operation "snow-melt" will come to a temporary halt.

A modern David in the form of a Hydro crew used modern methods to fell a mighty "Goliath" when, last week, a giant elm, an old landmark, came crashing to the ground. The tree was on the property of Hugh P. MacMillan.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Quesnell and family visited friends in Montreal on Sunday.

GLEN NORMAN

We extend sympathy to the family of the late Mrs. Severe Decoste, who passed to her eternal reward during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rod P. MacDonald and their son, Peter MacDonald and children, Alexandria, spent Sunday afternoon in Cornwall, where they visited with Mrs. Peter MacDonald, in Hotel Dieu there, and with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. McDonald and children.

Messrs. Bruno and Maurice Lauzon of Montreal, week-ended here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lauzon.

Mr. and Mrs. Alcide Roussin and Mrs. Sol Decoste visited on Tuesday of this week with Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Decoste in Dalhousie Station.

Leaves Large Family Connection

The death of Alexander Lefebvre, a Green Valley farmer for some 55 years, occurred at Hotel Dieu Cornwall, on Tuesday, January 22, following a brief illness. Mr. Lefebvre fractured three ribs in a fall ten days before, when he was attending the wake of a brother-in-law, the late Emerie Poirier. He was taken to hospital, where he developed pneumonia, and passed away fortified by the last rites of the Catholic Church.

Born at St. Eugene 87 years ago, on March 25, 1870, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Xavier Lefebvre. He started farming at the Valley as a youth, retiring only 15 years ago. The farm is now being worked by his son, Lionel. On June 2, 1902, he married the former Anna Poirier, of Alexandria, who survives him. The couple celebrated their golden jubilee five years ago. A few years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Lefebvre came to live with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lefebvre, at Green Valley.

There are eight sons and four daughters surviving, besides his widow: Victor, Lucien, Eddie, Lionel and Lawrence Lefebvre, all of Green Valley; Oscar Lefebvre, of Standish, Mich.; Wilfrid Lefebvre, Alexandria; Donat Lefebvre, North Lancaster, and Mrs. Isaac Lajoie (Alexandrine), Green Valley; Mrs. Joe Liboiron (Alphonsine), Lancaster; Mrs. Noel Proulx (Theresa), St. Eugene; Mrs. George Gaudreau (Aline), Detroit, Mich.

He also leaves two brothers, Alphonse and David Lefebvre, and one sister, Mrs. Damase Ranger (Alvina), all of St. Eugene.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning, leaving Marcoux and Morris Funeral Home for St. Mary's Church, Green Valley, where the Requiem Mass will be offered at nine o'clock.

Dies In West Has Relatives Here

Mr. and Mrs. B. Lavigne, of St. Bernardin, have been informed of the sudden death of the latter's cousin, Mrs. Lawrence Bimner, of Regina, Sask., which occurred in hospital following a heart attack.

The former Margaret Daly, Mrs. Bimner at one time taught in several schools in Glengarry, afterwards joining her brother and two sisters in the West.

She and her husband were last here in 1954, when they made a pilgrimage to Ste Anne de Beupre, Que., and then visited with the Lavigne family, as well as her cousins, Archie B. McDonald and Mrs. McDonald, Greenfield, and Mrs. Sam Carscadden and Mr. Carscadden, Apple Hill.

Mrs. Bimner leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, her two sisters, Mrs. Frank Oliver and Mrs. Catherine Grant, both of Regina.

Student Fatally Injured In Crash

Roland Gelineau, 21, of Hawkesbury, a fourth-year Arts student at University of Ottawa, was fatally injured Monday morning of last week when the car in which he was a passenger met in head-on collision with another vehicle near Alfred, Ont.

The young man was the son of Ernest Gelineau, a first cousin of D. J. Gelineau of Alexandria. He was also a nephew of Mrs. Beatrice Diotte of Alexandria, of Right Rev. Napoleon Gelineau, vicar-general of Ottawa, and Henri Gelineau, of Hawkesbury.

Driver of the car was Eusebe Daigneault, of L'Original, who was driving his son, Francois, back to university, and was giving a ride to young Gelineau and Rodrigue Landriault, of L'Original. Occupants of the other car were Mr. and Mrs. Georges Boule, of Hull. All were severely injured with the exception of Landriault.

The accident occurred one mile east of Alfred on the Trans-Canada Highway as the two cars met on the slippery road. The collision threw both vehicles into the ditch, and the driver of the Daigneault car had to be removed with the aid of a blow torch.

The injured were taken to Notre Dame Hospital, Hawkesbury, and from there young Gelineau was taken to Ottawa General Hospital, where he underwent surgery in a vain attempt to save his life.

Surviving besides his parents (his mother is the former Elenora Drury of Hawkesbury) are two sisters, Mrs. Lucien Charlebois (Simone), and Therese, both of Hawkesbury.

Reunion Island in the Indian Ocean has been a French possession since 1634.
