Eugene Campeau, 41, Father of Six, Was Travelling To Riviere Beaudette For Lumber When Struck On Highway 2

Eugene Campeau, 41, of North Lancaster, was fatally injured Monday afternoon when the farm tractor he was driving along Highway No. 2 was demolished in collision with a Kingsway Transport.

Mr. Campeau died on his way to hospital from multiple internal injuries. He was the father of six sons.

The accident occurred a half-mile east of the Bainsville sideroad some three miles west of the Ontario-Quebec border.

The transport driver, James Gilroy, 40, of Scarboro, is reported to have told police he was attempting to pass the Maxville Village tractor, which was pulling a wagon, when the collision occurred. Both transport and tractor were carried some 300 feet from the point of impact, Inspector J. W. Reavley, Cornwall, and the tractor and wagon were and Acting Reeve J. N. Fitzgerald, reduced to junk. Some time ago, Mr. Lapierre bought the two young deer in Quebec and had them trucked to his home. As they were being unloaded, one of the animals was accidentally stepped on and its right hind leg was broken. Mr. Lapierre called in Dr. H. K. Are We Lacking In Christian Charity?

in this age of the auto, but the tragic passing of one of Glengarry's leading citizens, Reeve William A. MacEwen of Maxville, had an impact that was felt in a special way by all of us.

On January 21st, Mr. MacEwen left home on one of his usual business trips to various points in the county, was seen by several friends and business associates until he dropped completely out of sight in Cornwall late that afternoon. There followed eight weeks of uncertainty as to his fate, of police investigation, of organized searching of woodlots and sideroads, of widespread publicity, some of it not too objective; weeks when rumor ran rampant and there were almost as many suggestions as to what happened that night of January 21st as there were people to mouth them. Everyone had a theory, and some of those ideas were uncharitable, to say the least.

In retrospect, after last week's finding of Mr. MacEwen's body in Cornwall canal and the police reconstruction of a tragic accident, one sees this raft of rumor and idle conjecture as an added burden the family had to bear through those long weeks of dread uncertainty. And this very human penchant all of us seem to possess for making mountains out of molehills, for adding our own color to every story, should in this iustance at least leave us more than a little ashamed of some of the theories we were in the telling.

We share with Maxville folk the loss of a citizen who had played so large a part in their municipal life over the past decade. With the family, bereft in so shockingly tragic a manner, we have deep sympathy. When a fatality so apparently senseless as this strikes one we know, we are led to wonder if there is a purpose beyond our comprehension.

Just possibly in this case it could serve to remiud us how lacking in Christian charity we may have been. In those weeks of waiting one heard fantastic answers to the riddle of the missing reeve; many, convinced he had been murdered, had theories on who had carried out the crime. There were those who saw him sunning himself in the South when in reality his lifeless body lay trapped beneath the ice of Cornwall

If so terrible a tragedy should again strike so close, surely we will be more hesitant to theorize uncharitably. should be a lesson to all of us who thrive on rumor, without thought as to the harm our idle gossip may inflict.

If Reeve MacEwen's death awakens in us a keener awareness of the need for Christian charity in all our contacts, then this tragedy will not have been, as it seems, a complete waste of a life that was in many ways dedicated to serving his fellow men.

Crippled Children Need Your Help

In the mails last week-end you probably received a packet of Easter Seals from the Lions Club of Alexandria. You are asked to use them on your correspondence and send in your contribution to aid in the work with crippled children.

Last year the local Lions spent almost $500 of such contributions on services to the physically handicapped children of Glengarry. Those dollars purchased a wheelchair, leg and spinal braces, special boots; they helped transport crippled children to hospital and financed holidays at the summer camp for handicapped children. An equal sum was forwarded to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children to further the work on a provincial scale.

If you were watching the Perry Como show on television two weeks ago, mere words are unnecessary to point up how worthwhile is this work with crippled children. You saw the spotlight swing to a smiling, fresh-faced young boy as he hobbled across the stage on crutches, his feet encased in leg braces. You cheered silently with him as he put aside the crutches and took a few tentative steps along the way to a richer, unhandicapped life.

If you were watching that Timmy go through those few difficult paces, you probably felt you would like to help him and his fellows along the way to a normal childhood. That opportunity is yours through Easter Seals. Give generously.

Tough On The Small Towns service on the Smiths Falls division, which affects several Glengarry stations including Dalhousie, Green Valley and Apple Hill. The morning and evening locals will be discontinued as of April 28th, we under-

We can sympathize with such towns as Winchester and Chesterville whose weekly newspapers see in this curtailment of service a blow to their prospects of acquiring new industry just at a time when Eastern Ontario is showing signs of living up to its promise of becoming the golden triangle through industrialization. Without daily local train service, we can see where there will arise problems in delivery of express and mail to those centres. Undoubtedly our own distribution of papers to Dalhousie, North Lancaster, Green Valley, Apple Hill and points West will be affected.

Such curtailments of railway service are becoming common right across the country. Beset by the auto age and the competition of the trucking industry, the railways are having to cut those lines that are not paying their way. But their leaving too often creates a void other modes of transportation cannot fill at a profit. These towns and villages had their being because the railway came through. Now the emphasis is on road transport, too competitive possibly because the roadbed is being supplied out of public funds, and so the railroads are finding it unprofitable to provide local service.

What is the answer? Increase the taxes on truckers on a payload basis, as some suggest, and you will fellow or the small town.

The CPR is planning to cut its local train still find the railroads running many local schedules at a loss. Industry and commerce are being centred more and more in a few big cities despite the threat of oblivion posed by the hydrogen bomb. The towns and villages and countryside in between loom less and less important. Rapid transit between the cities gets first priority and in this the railways are having to compete with aircraft that are powered to get there first.

Canada's railroads have a special problem in trimming costs because of the fact one of the two major lines is government owned. Organized labor has a firm seat in that saddle and so any cutting of costs can hardly be in the field of wages. Modernization of equipment is also being curtailed by the voice of Labor.

And so the small centres along the line must take it, even to the point of no return.

This is an age of bigness. Government looms ever larger, big business still has its booming voice even though organized Labor is now so vocal that it sometimes can outyell industry. One must be organized to be

And so the individual small town and village is up against it, just as the small businessman, the farmer, the individual finds conditions so stacked against him that he must amalgamate, or organize, or fall behind.

The Editor:

In the issue of your paper of January 31st, 1957, you have an article taken from the Great Falls, Montana, "Leader", making en-quiries about Justice John D. Mac-Donald and his relatives in Glengarry. Justice John D. was born near Green Valley, a son of Donald McDonald, "Rory Down", and his mother was a sister of Dougald MacLaughlin, Glen Nevis.

Donald, "Rory Down", had a brother and two sisters on the homestead at Green Vailey, Sandy, Annie, Maggie, and a brother and sister at Glen Norman, Duncan and Mrs. Billie MacMillan. Mrs. Mac-Millan has a son, Donaid, still living at Gien Norman — and some grandchildren, "Dewars", near North Lancaster.

Duncan's daughter, "Jessie", Mrs. W. MacDonald, who was well known in Giengarry as Jessie D., now lives in Edmonton, surrounded by a family of nine children and 31 grandchildren. J. W. MacDonald was Willie "Allan Angus" of North Lancaster. Mrs. J. W. MacDonald would be a first cousin of the Montana judge, and he visited with her in Edmonton in 1954, came by plane when he was 91.

The judge would be a cousin of Mrs. Neii A. McDonald, "Neil Angus Neil", Dalhousie. Mrs. Neii A. Mac-Donald, if living, now resides in Ottawa, and she was a daughter of the late Dougaid McLaughlin. Justice J. D. MacDonald was brought up in Ausable, Michigan.

I am indebted to my cousin, Mrs. J. W. MacDonald of Edmonton, whom my wife and I visited with last summer, for most of this information, and hope I have it reasonably correct, for it may come under the penetrating eye of Monsignor the Rev. Ewen J. Macdonald or J. Dougald Macdonald.

Democracy Only Works If We Do

Last year Father Louis O'Neil of Laval University caused a furore participating in publication of an article called "Public Immorality in the Province of Quebec." He touched somewhat more gently on the same subject in a recent conference of the Canadian Institute of Public

He admitted that in French Canada, as in other North American countries democracy is not an accomplished reality, but a tendency rather than an achievement. That is probably as true in any other Canadian province as in Quebec. He also said the English-speaking Canadians tend to think that using the word "democracy" makes democracy a fact while French-speaking Canadians have no strong faith in democracy.

It is true that English-speaking Canadians have absorbed from their neighbors in the United States some belief in the mystical properties of democracy, although we never trusted it as implicitly as they have in some If we think for a moment we know that democracy is not a fooiproof method of running the affairs of a nation. It affords an opportunity and a challenge, but if citizens are too lazy, or too corrupt it breaks down. Historically democracies have made mistakes — even fatal ones — as have all other types of government.

Democracy is just as fallible as men themselves. But aristocrats and bureaucrats and dictators are fallible too, though they seidom admit it. Democracy gives opportunities for correcting mistakes and for drawing a wider pool of ability than any other system of government. But it only works if its citizens do. If they don't bother to take any interest in public affairs democracy will not only fail. It will disappear.

IT'S SPRING!

The calendar informs us Spring is here. We had the vernal equinox, whatever that is, last week.

But there are other, more convincing reasons why we are certain winter has had it. That strong smiling sun and a long succession of bright, warm days have seen almost every vestige of ice and snow disappear; we shed our heavy winter coat and our rubbers last week (what a relief!). These are calculated to put Spring into any man's step.

We have other guages, too, that prociaim the arrival of Spring. Did you notice our classified ad columns last issue? Practically a solid page of classifieds, yet. That means things are opening up after the deep freeze that wasn't so deep after all, was it?

And Sunday morning we had our first fine taste of the new crop of maple syrup when Gerard Massie called around with a can of the sweet stuff. And that same day we had the most convincing evidence yet that winter is but a memory. The siren called out the brigade to its first grass fire of the

HE'S SMART

Anybody in reach of the television screen now knows the name of Charies Van Doren, and just as many of us are convinced he's some smart cookie. Watching him week after week answer difficult questions on almost every subject imaginable, we figured the fellow was not only well read, well educated, but that he had a special type of mind, the photographic kind that absorbs everything in sight and retains it as on a sensitized plate for further use.

Van Doren won a respectable $143,000 on that TV quiz show before he was dethroned. But most of that mazuma he'll never see. The Income Tax boys in Washington will claim all but about $35,000 of his winnings.

And here's where we point out why we think he's smart. Charlie's still unattached, and he has a whole nine months of 1957 in which he could save for himself some $20,000 of that money the Internal Revenue guys are grabbing. All he has to do is get married this year and his new status will provide him with a sizeable refund on that Income

Most guys might jump at such an offer. But not Charlie, according to press reports. He's looked over his happily married friends and has decided to be content with $35,000.

Before you go to a drive-in movie, be sure the mosquitoes have seen the picture.

HE'S SMART, TOO

Thank goodness our boys aren't yet too interested in the news. They haven't vet reached the stage where newscasts are part of their radio fare or the newspapers feature anything but funnies.

It's a good thing they missed it; or we might have been four times more harried than was friend George Cadogan, editor of The Durham Chronicie. George is registering a mild protest against the manner in which the recent budget speech of Hon. Walter Harris was announced over the airwaves.

As he tells it, on the morning after the budget presentation his son Michael tuned in on the 8 a.m. newscast-

"Then he came into the kitchen where we were having breakfast and announced, 'Well, Daddy, I have news for you; you're going to increase my allowance from 35c to $2.00 a week!' When we asked what this was all about he explained: 'The Government says the allowances for all children 10 to 12 years old will be increased to $8 a month'!"

We ask you, can anyone make allowances for a kid that has that much on the ball? We wonder, because our boys are quick on the

He took the title of Lord MacDonell and Aros. Subsequent to this, many of the Glengarry members of the clan (including the Chief of Glengarry) have spelled their name MacDonell. As the name Macdonald is spelled in Gaelic MacDhonuill, it is a matter which can be balanced on a knife edge as to whether Macdonald or MacDonell more correctly represents the Gaelic spelling MacDhonuill. We, the undersigned, Angus Rodbald C. Dhonuill na'n Eilean, of Sleat Knight Baronet, desire to certify and make known by these present letters to the whole kin and name of Clan Donald, and to all others whom it may concern, that after 1660, Angus Macdonald (Sic) of full consideration of the matters Glengarry, was given an Irish peer-laftermentioned, and of the whole writs, evidents, and other testimony now available, we have come to the conclusions following, videlicaet: FIRST

That following upon the forfeiture and death of John Lord of the Isles and Earl of Ross, and the death without issue in 1545 of his grandson, Donald Dubh, the various branches of Clan Donald, of which the Lord of the Isles was supreme and undisputed Chief, separated from and became independent of one and other. SECOND

That although claims to the supreme Chiefship of the whole Clan Donald have been maintained by our predecessors, and are still maintained by ourselves, there is no evidence that the whole Clan has ever admitted or decided in favor of any of the said claims.

That owing to the change of circumstances and the dispersion throughout the world of so many of the kin of Clan Donald, it is now impossible for the Clan to give any decision on the matter. FOURTH

That as the result of these conflicting claims to the supreme Chiefship there have been in the past great jealousy and dissention among the different branches of the Clan, and in particular among our houses of Clan Ranald, Glengarry, and Sleat, whereby great injury and prejudice have been suffered by our whole race and kin. Police Suggest Emergency Kits For All Motorists

Ontario Provincial Police would like to see a First Aid kit, a fire extinguisher and a flashlight standard equipment in all motor vehicles The suggestion comes from Attorney-General Dana Porter, no less as part of the Traffic Safety Programme now being conducted throughout Ontario.

The First Aid kit would enable accident victims to receive immediate assistance, he suggests: an extinguisher would enable the motorist to squelch a fire that might result from a collision, or to put out any residential fires that he might spot as he drives along, and a flashlight would be very useful in the event that his engine stalls, not only to warn oncoming traffic, but to signal for assistance.

While this equipment would not be made compulsory, the directive states, it wouldn't hurt to call it to the attention of motorists as a useful aid to safety.

Top Pupils Of Inspectorate Meet In Annual Concours de Français

urban schools of Mr. Deschamps' district are scheduled to compete in written and oral examinations.

The purpose of the Concours is to preserve the purity of the French language in modern-day schools. and the idea of a competition bringing together pupils from all over a certain area was brought into being 20 years ago.

To make the contest fair for pupils from the one- and two-room schools, they are judged in a separate division, while urban school pupils compete among themselves. However, the trophies and prizes awarded are equally attractive in both classes, and in addition, each pupil taking the exams receives a souvenir of his or her participation in the Concours.

Exams will be given on Saturday at Our Lady of Perpetual Help School, with arrangements being made by the Unite Pedagogique, of which M. Ernest Baribeau is president. And on Sunday, announcement of the winners will be made and trophies presented at a public

PTA Officers Aid Mrs. H. MacMillan and Nell F. MacCrimmon. Floral tributes were Died In Cornwall

Glen Walter Parish
The death occurred on Thursday,
March 14th, at Cornwall, of Mrs.
Hugh MacMillan, following an illness of several months.

Mrs. MacMillan was the former Christie Sarah MacSweyn, daughter of the late John MacSweyn and his wife, Isabell MacLeod. She was born at Lot 11, 9th Concession of Kenyon, Fisk's Corners, January 9th, 1873. She received her early education in the local school, and later spent some time in Baston, Mass.

On March 16th, 1909, she married Hugh MacMillan of McCormick's Post Office, and for most of their married life they resided on their farm at McCormick. Later upon retiring, they moved to Vankleek Hill. where Mr. MacMillan predeceased her in April, 1947. Relatives and friends will long remember her for her many acts of kindness and warm-hearted hospitality.

The funeral service, conducted by the Rev. John Hurst, was held Saturday, March 16th, from McRae's funeral home to Kirk Hill United Church, where she had long been a devoted member.

Pall-bearers were six nephews: J. J. MacMillan, Clarence MacMillan, Donald D. MacSweyn, Donald H. MacIntosh, Alexander MacLeod

Floral tributes were received from: Mr. and Mrs. D. Alex Mac-Millan and Miss Jane MacMillan, The death occurred on Thursday, Duncan D. MacSweyn family, D. W. MacLeod family, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Campbell and boys; Penelope, Neil and Margaret MacCrimmon and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. MacLeod.

EMBERSHIP in the United Nations is open to all peaceloving states which accept the obligations contained in the U.N. Charter and are able and willing to carry out these obligations. Since the establishment of the Organization, in 1945, its membership has increased from 50 to 80 states, thus getting nearer to the Charter's goal of universality. New members are admitted by a twothirds vote of the General Assembly, upon recommendation of the Security Council.

Following a long deadlock on the question of admission, within a year 20 nations have joined the Organization—sixteen in December, 1955, during the 10th session of the General Assembly, and four last November and December, at the beginning of the current

"Want some help with your homework, Dad?"

It's a good thing young Ted is only joking. His dad is studying the needs of families like yours for financial protection. If he took Ted up on his offer, the boy would be overwhelmed by problems about managing family incomes, succession duties, protecting a business against losses caused by the death of the owner, and other matters.

Ted's father is a modern life underwriter. Today, life insurance representatives not only study better ways to provide life insurance protection - they seek a real understanding of people's needs, and shape plans to meet these needs, which differ with every family.

You'll find today's life insurance man a good man to know. His progress reflects the many ways in which the life insurance business has developed with the times to meet your changing needs!

Will YOU have an independent income?

Now is the time to arrange through a CANADIAN GOVERN-MENT ANNUITY for the little it will take to brighten the days when you must stop working. You can purchase an Annuity NOW to come due at age 50, 55, 60 or 65, or other ages.

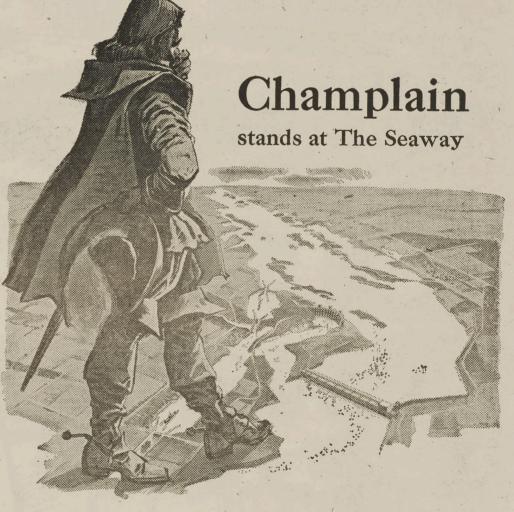

HERE IS AN EXAMPLE — Suppose you are a man of 28 and want an Annuity of $100 a month, beginning at 65. Your monthly premium would be $16.44.

AT AGE 65 the Government will begin paying you $100 a month as long as you live! If you die within 10 years after age 65, the monthly payments will continue to your heirs for the balance of that 10 years. Thus, you will have paid $7,299.36 for a minimum return of $12,000.00 - which will be even greater if you live past 75!

IF YOU DIE BEFORE 65 the Government will pay your heirs the total sum paid up to the date of your death plus 4% compound interest.

There are several plans to choose from. For detailed information, consult your DISTRICT ANNUITIES REPRESENTATIVE, or mail the coupon below, postage free.

Economics Department, Macdonald College

The latest Census shows 11,719 in 1951. By now the decline must exceed 12,000 farms.

The number of farms in Quebec is now about 122,000, which is about 9% fewer than in 1951. This speed of decline in the number of farms was only exceeded in the Atlantic provinces. The decline in Quebec took place in all but three counties.

By PROFESSOR W. E. HAVILAND, Accompanying the decline in number of Quebec farms was a 5% reduction in total farmland (from fewer farms in Quebec in 1956 than million acres in 1956).—The net result of the two changes was an increase in the average size of farms from 125 to 130 acres.

These changes bring Quebec's agricultural development into line with that of Canada as a whole. For decades in Canada, the number of He also conducted a judging and farms has been declining and the average size of farms has been increasing. Prior to 1951, however, Quebec did not share in these general trends. This was because (1) the province subsidized the "colonizing" of small farms in frontier Division of the Kemptville Agriculareas, (2) Quebec farms had not vet felt the full force of mechanization, Electrical Installations" and "Some (3) the impact of industrialization of the Hazards involved in faulty had not yet been sufficiently strong and pervasive.

In the last few years, however, Quebec agriculture has turned the corner. The exodus from farming has been rapid since 1951 due to a slump in agriculture while the rest of the economy was booming. Quebec is becoming an industrial province. From now on we can expect still fewer and bigger farms, more mechanization, and higher farm in-

The economic changes highlighted there are also far-reaching social and political effects. The closelyknit rural communities are being thinned out and opened up to all horizons of the farm family are being rapidly extended by influences such as TV.
