

Munroe's Mills' Child, 4, Dies When Stepped On By Cow

Chest injuries suffered when she was stepped on by a cow, proved fatal for a 4½-year-old Munroe's Mills' child late Friday afternoon. Lois McDonnell, one of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan B. McDonnell, died en route to hospital in Cornwall little more than an hour following the tragic mishap.

Lois had gone with an older sister to get the cows in the absence of her father and older brothers. According to a reconstruction of the accident two of the cows were fighting and little Lois was attempting to separate them with a stick when she was knocked down and one of the cows stepped on her chest.

The child did not appear seriously injured when she reached the house but her mother called Dr. Geo. V. McDonald of Apple Hill. After examining her he ordered immediate removal to hospital. She died en route, shortly before 7 p.m.

Her mother is the former Mary L. MacDonald of Glen Nevis. Surviving in addition to the parents are three brothers and four sisters: Bernard, Allan, Ralph, Maureen, Norma, Sharon and Patsy.

The Mass of the Angels was sung in St. Anthony's Church, Apple Hill, Monday morning, by the pastor, Rev. John R. Donihue. Interment was in the parish cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Stuart McDonald, Michael McPherson, Warren McIntosh, Allan Kennedy, Garry McDermaid and Eddie Boisvenue.

Among relatives and friends attending from a distance were: Mrs. Rory MacDonald, Mrs. Raymond MacDonald, Miss Gladys McDonnell, Toronto; Miss Ellen McDonnell of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Vince Cameron, Miss Mary McDonnell of Ottawa.

Council Gives First Reading To Gas Bill

A by-law granting the application of Consumers' Gas Co., Toronto, for a 20-year franchise to service the town with natural gas was given first and second readings at a brief meeting of Town Council Tuesday night. The by-law must be approved by the Fuel Board at Toronto before it can be given third reading and passed.

Council held up first readings of the by-law in July and after studying the possibilities has decided in favor of the Consumers Gas Co.

That company's representative has suggested Alexandria will be serviced within a year of passage of the by-law.

Straight As The Crow Flies

Alex McKinnon of Glen Nevis, homed in one day last week, practically as straight as the crow flies, all the way from Knob Lake, up in the Quebec wilderness. Alex was to head back to his job yesterday and he hoped to pick up another whirlybird ride.

Memorial Hospital At Cornwall Being Renovated

Work of complete alteration and fire-proofing of Macdonell Memorial Hospital, the former Hotel Dieu at Cornwall, under the general contractor, Angus L. Macdonald Construction Limited of Cornwall, progresses satisfactorily. It was started in August.

As 1957 marks the 60th anniversary of the opening of the first active treatment hospital by the Religious Hospitaliers of St. Joseph in Cornwall, it is hoped that at least part of the building, now used as a hospital for the chronically ill, will be ready for patient occupancy by Christmas, 1957.

The Macdonell Memorial Hospital is for all types of patients for whom the average hospital stay is too short and whose hospitalization may even be extended into years, and where they will receive specially adapted care that will give them the maximum possibility of a cure or at least alleviation of their condition.

As many persons now living lives of invalidism may be restored at least to partial health, to promote the rehabilitation of the patient, if possible, so that he may carry on with reasonable ease and success, special facilities for physical, recreational and occupational therapy are being provided in a new department in the central wing.

Many alterations are included in the plans as a new kitchen, central dish-washing, cafeteria, as well as central tray service; a complete sound system capable of transmitting voice and music from microphones at two locations on ground floor and chapel. All rooms will be redecorated in cheerful colors. A new electrical passenger elevator will be installed in the central wing.

When completed, the new renovated hospital will provide accommodation for 120 patients and will alleviate the presently over-crowded active treatment hospitals.

Side Window At Stedman's Filled In

The big show windows and door on the Catherine street side of Stedman's store were torn out yesterday and the 32-foot wide hole boarded up preparatory to laying brick veneer to match the rest of the building.

This is the first step in a store-wide renovation which will introduce self-service into the store before the Christmas rush.

A 4-foot hole will be left for receiving freight and inside a freight chute will be installed leading to the basement. The new wall inside will be finished to match the decor of the store.

Jos. Filion, Green Valley, has the contract.

Provincial Constable Alton Millar of Lancaster, investigated the incident.

Hitting The Headlines

That gang around McDonald's Barber Shop is at it again; and this time they're really hitting the headlines.

One of the boys is down in New York to take in the World Series and he seems to have kept himself busy while the Yanks and the Braves were playing their games in Milwaukee.

Gerald McDonald's mail on Tuesday included what was ostensibly the front page of one of the New York papers. The banner lines across the top flared in big black type:

"BRAVES WILL SCALP YANKS" — SAYS CLARENCE OSTROM

And that same mail brought another banner line in Gabe Aubry's mail:

MCDONALD COMING TO NEW YORK — CALL GIRLS RESTING UP

Thank goodness that wasn't spelled Macdonald!

Rash Of Minor Accidents Checked

A rash of minor accidents kept members of the OPP in this area on the move over last weekend. Few injuries were involved and these were not of a serious nature.

A car being driven by Lloyd McDonald of Hull, Que., struck a heifer on the Johnston sideroad north of Williamstown, Friday night. The animal, owned by Leopold Febvre, was so badly injured it had to be shot. Damage of $250 was suffered by the car.

Early Saturday morning a car driven by Jerry Picard, Huntingdon, Que., left Highway 2 east of Lancaster, and rolled over in the ditch. Scalp and facial abrasions were suffered by Picard, who was released from Hotel Dieu that evening. The car was damaged to the extent of $250.

At Bougie's corner on the King's Road, east of Martintown, early Saturday evening, a car and two-ton truck collided on a slight curve. The car being driven by Lorenzo Menard, Green Valley, suffered damage estimated at $300, while the eastbound truck with Maxime Lalonde at the wheel, was only slightly damaged. There were no injuries.

Early Monday morning in a rear end collision on No. 2 east of Bainsville sideroad, John Warden of Williamstown, suffered facial cuts and a bruised nose. He was a passenger in a '52 Dodge driven by John Clark of Williamstown. Rodger Varin of Cornwall was owner of the 1957 Pontiac also involved in the collision. Both cars were extensively damaged.

Provincial Constable Millar who investigated these accidents, reports there were several other calls on the services of the OPP for very minor crack-ups.

Over 300 Students Absent As Flu Bug Takes Hold

MOH Issues Special Report On Asian Flu

Dr. R. S. Peat, medical officer of health for the United Counties, in a special report on flu, warned today that children should not return to school until a day or two after complete recovery from the dreaded virus.

They should stay out of sports for a few days, or a week after going back to school. The danger, he said, in a flu epidemic is in the relapse, or complications such as pneumonia which may set in.

The statement, in its entirety, is published below. It contains further advice and refers particularly to cases involving children.

Schools are not closed as a public health measure during an epidemic such as this. Children who are ill or running a temperature should be at home in bed. Those who are not ill are under better control with schools open. Teachers will be handicapped but they have carried out by combining classes or making adjustments as may be indicated.

Advice of MOH

(1) It is wise to avoid fatigue and exposure, do not get chilled or wet, and get regular rest and sleep.

(2) On the first signs of illness stop work, go to bed and stay there for at least a day after the temperature is normal.

(3) Doctors cannot see all cases. If people who have 'flu without complications or other minor complaints can avoid calling their doctor it will help the doctors greatly in giving medical attention to those who really need it. Doctors should be spared for cases who are seriously ill. The doctor should be notified if the symptoms become very severe, such as a bad chest pain, a very sore throat, severe headache, earache, rapid or difficult breathing, if the temperature remains over 101 for three days or more. There is no cause for alarm. If the patient stays in bed, gets lots of fluids, keeps warm, there could be few complications. Mild headache tablets may be taken to make the patient feel more comfortable.

(4) After the acute illness one should avoid strenuous exercise since weakness may be prolonged. Children should not return to school until a day or two after complete recovery to avoid relapses and complications. They should stay out of sports for a few days or a week after going back to school.

The danger in a 'flu epidemic is in the relapse or complications, such as pneumonia, ear infections, etc.

18 New Records Set At Area High School Field Day Last Friday

Eighteen new records were set at the annual field day of Alexandria-Glengarry Area High School last Friday. But though competition was keen officials point out that some of these records were set in new events that were being introduced — such as the discus throw.

The event was a success from a competitive angle. Although almost one-third of the enrollment was absent through illness, approximately 50 percent of the entire student body took part. The weather was on the cool side but not too unsatisfactory.

The new track was still unfinished and ironically enough it was completed on Saturday, just one day too late to give runners the advantage of a finished surface.

Francis MacDougall was high point winner in the senior boys' events and Grace Urquhart lead the senior girls. Honors in intermediate classes went to John Tkaczko and Dorothy Dawes. In the junior division, Donald Alex. MacLean and Mary McDonald won most points. Grade 11A toted up the highest number of points per class. New records were set in the junior girls' classes by Mary McDonald, in 50 yards and 100 yards dashes, and by Ethel Lafferty in softball throw. Rhonda Shepherd set one in softball throw among intermediate girls. In the senior division, Mary McGillis set a new record in the 220 yards dash, and Lillian MacKinnon in softball throw.

Among junior boys, Garth Macdonald set a new mark in the high jump; Donald Alex. MacLean in the broad jump; Gordon Fraser in pole vaulting; Rene Laflamme had two, in the discus throw and the shot putt.

In intermediate boys competition, Donald MacKay set a new mark in the 220; Denis Borris, in the half-mile run; John Tkaczko scored two, in hop, step and jump and the discus. There were three new records among senior boys. Francis MacDougall set one in the 220; Robert Rickerd in the shot putt, and Ron MacGillivray in the discus. The complete results appear in another column.

At the High School, where some 120 were missing roll call last Friday, the picture was a bit brighter. Yesterday, 96 were still absent with two teachers, one of them Principal J. T. Smith.

EDITORIALS

IT'S OUR OPINION

The Queen Is Warmly Welcome

Her Majesty the Queen will be touching down on Canadian soil this weekend and we warmly welcome her. We in Glengarry will see her on television, those of us who do not travel the short distance to Ottawa to get a person-to-person view of Elizabeth and her Prince Consort. But whether we are on the scene, or seeing Their Highnesses on the parlor screen, there will be a special thrill in realizing our Queen is with us.

There has been recent criticism in the British press of the personnel of the Queen's Court, principally aimed at her advisers. But her personality came in for censure, too. Some of this criticism may have been well-founded. The day is long gone when a King or a Queen could do no wrong. The crown rests on a human head. And all humans are prone to err.

But it is this very humanity of our Queen that will probably strike the deepest note of appreciative welcome among her Canadian subjects. They see a young mother leaving her home and children at the call of duty, flying the Atlantic to pay state visits to Canada and the U.S., playing her part in cementing the ties between three of the powers of the Western world.

The Crown does play an important part in the cause of unity, and Queen Elizabeth has proved herself unselfish in time and travel in fulfilling her role. Her presence at Ottawa to open a Parliament which might make history may serve to widen the mental horizons of Parliamentarians many feel are too conscious of mere party.

This holiday weekend will instill a real holiday mood in all of us because of the presence in Ottawa of Her Majesty and Prince Phillip. The magic eye of television will bring her into almost all of our homes. And while we are witnessing the panoply of parades and protocol we will be summing up all our good wishes in those few words:

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

No Confiscation In This Case

Reporting a case in Magistrate's court last week, in which a driver had been convicted of driving while his license was under suspension, we inferred that the car had been confiscated in addition to the imposition of a $200 fine. We have since learned that "impounded" would have been a more correct word. The car will be held by the Crown during the three-months term of the driving suspension and will then be returned to the owner on payment of storage charges.

Confiscation of the car did seem a rather severe penalty and probably its impounding will be less onerous for a driver whose past record has shown him irresponsible at the wheel.

Our knowledge of the law is rather vague, but it seems to us there is provision for confiscating a car simply because Quebec liquor or American cigarettes in quantity are being carried into Ontario in it. Perhaps this penalty is used only infrequently, but if it is in the statutes then confiscation for driving while under suspension would not appear out of line. One who drives under such circumstances is deliberately putting himself in contempt of court and we have seen severe jail sentences meted out to people "in contempt", even when they might not have been aware they were treading on thin ice.

We have long been of the opinion that the traffic toll will not be reduced until the irresponsible driver has been ruled from the road. In this day of the cheap dollar, fines seem to serve little purpose in curbing those who drive dangerously. The fine is paid and the irresponsible man behind the wheel goes his merry way until fate decrees it is his turn to die, or kill others.

Something more drastic in the way of a penalty is needed. Where jail sentences are meted out, or driving permits are suspended, it has been found that the highway traffic picture is improved. Suspending permits would mean little or nothing if the suspension was not made to stick.

If the threat of confiscation lead car owners to a more responsible driving attitude, then it might be serving a very constructive purpose.

Government And Give-Aways

The Board of Governors of the CBC has decided to do something about these radio "giveaway" programs, we read. And isn't such action long overdue?

The Canadian Broadcasting Commission will have justified its existence, at least a little bit in our opinion, if it at long last cracks down on this practise of mailing in boxtops in the vain hope that one can get rich quickly. If we must have government supervision of all broadcasting and television, surely we can expect that certain standards will be set. And these should be a bit more cultural than this type of commercial gimmick that has the housewife feverishly tracking down clues and sending in boxtops in the mere hope that her letter will be selected by chance from the other thousands sent in.

If that isn't a gamble, two ways, then why should not the man of the house be legally permitted to buy a ticket on the Irish sweepstakes, or, better still, on a national draw of our own in which the purchaser might be better protected from paying out for a phony piece of paper?

The radio give-away and the illegal sweepstake are worked almost exactly the same way. In one, a boxtop is pulled from a drum, and countless thousands of Canadian housewives are glued to their radios each day, forced to hear about the magic merits of margarine while being milked out of more mailing money and the purchase price of the product, too. The milk industry suffers, the family budget is all askew, and milady's nerves are kept constantly on edge as she dreams of the day Dame Fortune will come to call.

How much less nerve-wracking is the sweepstake ticket. A guy buys the thing, even though he realizes it may never reach Ireland in time for the draw. Then he forgets about it, while in his subconscious is the vague hope that a cable will come.

Mature man has long ago learned there are no give-aways in real life.

Woman, it seems, has not yet learned that lesson. Her approach is more personal and she cannot see any other woman beating her out, even in a thousands-to-one draw that has all the odds against her. She keeps mailing in the boxtops and the post office deficit is thereby reduced, even while she is being reduced each day to a nervous wreck.

There should be a law against it. Actually there is a law against it, we suspect, but the CBC has been slow to govern in this instance.

And while we are on the subject of giveaways, we ask why some other departments of government are not moving against the packaged give-aways in foods and the trading stamps?

The manufacturers of cereals are no longer selling their products. They are being bought primarily to sate the children's appetites for cowboys, Indians, football players and what have you. Dare to take your kids shopping with you and you are almost certain to find you have been talked into taking cornflakes and such, simply for the cheap little gimmick that is locked in the bottom of the box.

The purchaser is paying extra for that trinket, he is well aware. The storekeeper knows it too, and so does the cereal maker who may be forced into inserting this come-on simply because his competitors are doing the same.

And so it goes with trading stamps. The merchant would gladly get rid of them if his opposition would do likewise. Those bits of paper are adding to his overhead; he knows he and his customer would both be better off if they were outlawed. But he has to contribute to the wealth of the stamp supplier as long as other stores are using them.

It is time government moved in on all these forms of give-away. And the logical place to start is with radio, since that media is operating strictly under government regulation via the CBC.

Civil Defence Is A Joke

General Worthington has resigned from his post as director of civil defence and we sense in his parting words more than a little frustration with the government at Ottawa. It is not interested in pushing a comprehensive civil defence program, the General infers.

Neither, it seems to us, is anyone else, except possibly those who are being paid out of civil defence funds. The provincial governments have done little but give it lip service; none of our cities have comprehensive plans for meeting an emergency.

We have no civil defence set-up and yet millions of dollars are being spent each year to operate a civil defence college, to pay coordinators who have nothing to co-ordinate, to operate filter centres for an air-observer corps now obsolete with the coming of the intercontinental ballistics missile.

Someone in authority at Ottawa should decide to scrap the whole civil defence set-up.

HOPEFUL VIEW

Whatever our politics, none of us is likely to look with a jaundiced eye on the prospect of a fall budget bringing with it tax cuts, nor can the public... be expected to wear crepe at the passing of tight money. — Campbellton, N.B., Tribune.

"Ah, What Do We Have Here?"

Going Easy On The Dough (The Printed Word)

Most people could save more money than they do. It is not so very difficult to draw up a budget; sticking to it is another thing. The easiest of all ways to save money is to show somebody else how to do it. Turning, then, towards Ottawa and the Diefenbaker Government, one place where there is substantial elbow room for savings, as shown in the estimates, is in departmental publishing. Reports, pamphlets, bulletins and miscellaneous publications of one kind and another tot up to a tidy bill at the Queen's Printer of some $7,500,000 a year. And, despite franking privileges, official Ottawa's annual postage bill is running around $5,700,000.

Travel is another item of government expense that looms large in the minds of taxpayers. The junketing around of members of the armed forces and their families, and of departmental officials, comes to the astonishing figure of $65,400,000 in the estimates for the fiscal year 1957-58.

Look at one more heading, "Special Services". Here is a really costly gravy boat, with contemplated outlays for lawyers, architects, engineers, analysts (presumably economic rather than psychoanalytic), accountants, translators, writers and others employed on a part-time or temporary basis, running to $82,000,000.

These are the figures as they stand now in the estimates. Anyone who has ever said to himself, "I gotta go easy on the dough" could surely find a few dollars to lop off those sums.

Ontario's Wealth

(Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

It seems that Premier Frost does not recognize that much of the taxable wealth of Ontario, of which he wants a greater proportion from Ottawa, is derived from business done by Ontario-based companies in other provinces. The Canadian Bank of Commerce, headquartered at Toronto, is an example. It paid Ottawa $7,232,266 in income taxes last year but 443 of its 774 branches are outside Ontario. Mr. Frost feels he is entitled to 15 percent of such a levy instead of the 9 percent now allowed by Ottawa. There are the other banks, the chain merchandising firms, the automobile manufacturing concerns, the oil companies and a long string of additional corporations doing business from Ontario on a national basis and paying sums running into hundreds of millions into the national treasury.

An accomplished piper, violinist and singer, Angus G. Macdonell of Alexandria, was fatally injured in a fall at Mattawa, Tuesday. — The Edgar cheese factory near Bainsville and two nearby houses were destroyed by fire Monday with a loss of $23,000. — Duncan J. Macdonell, a native of Green Valley, has been named acting chief of the Ottawa Police Department. — Ralph Watt of Lancaster, showed the top Ayshire calf and was named champion showman at the Championship Show at Ottawa, Friday. — Francis Allinotte moved this week to the Lorne Filion farm at Glen Roy, which he has purchased. — In Sacred Heart Church, September 29th, Jeannette Sabourin became the bride of Wilton Cardinal. In that church, October 6th, Cecile Danis was married to Jean Paul Lalonde. — In Saskatoon, Sask., on October 4th, Sarah Madge Layland, until recently a member of the News' staff, married Wilfred J. Evans of that city.

The long expected Proclamation calling out 100,000 men for service has been issued under The Military Service Act passed at the last session of Parliament. — W. Bishop, C.E., and members of his staff, who for the past two weeks or so have been engaged in surveying the military road between Lancaster and McCrimmon, with a view to inaugurating the Good Roads System in Glengarry, completed their work Monday and will make their report to Counties' Council. — Dr. J. C. Gormley is having an addition put to the west end of his residence on Elgin street, the J. T. Schell house. It will be used as a consulting room.

Reports from different sections of the county give us to understand that Glengarry has not escaped the bush fires of last week and that much valuable timber has been destroyed. Shortly after 6 o'clock on Monday evening the bush situated on the north side of the track and immediately east of the station, owned by Mrs. Bayliss, was discovered to be on fire. The brigade was rushed to the station to protect buildings there, but a north wind eased the danger and rain early Tuesday morning put a stop to the fire. — Owing to the prevalence of typhoid fever, Maxville's Public School has been closed. — Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wightman of Maxville, passed through town yesterday on their return home from their honeymoon trip to St. Thomas, Ont. — On Monday evening, the horse belonging to A. Lalonde, tinsmith, suddenly bolted down Bishop street from the station. Joseph Corbett succeeded in catching the horse in the vicinity of Kincardine street. The race was a pretty one and was proof of Mr. Corbett's sprinting ability. — One of Maxville's most successful business men, Johnson Hoople, left on Tuesday, with his family for Vankleek Hill. He will continue to carry on business in his handsome block with S. W. Cline as manager.

BOOK'S LOOKS

We always had an idea that banks steered clear of politics. But now we're wondering.

Our old red bank book got filled up last Friday and the ledger-keeper presented us with a shiny new one — but it was as blue as the new government at Ottawa. Seems too much of a co-incidence just when the Liberal reign has ended.

It's possible, though, that politics has nothing to do with it. Maybe Gus Blinn is getting tired of seeing us in the red all the time and hopes we'll take the hint. Anyway it's nice to know we're not in his black books — or are we?

People who sleep like a baby probably haven't got one.

TO BE SURE

The trigger fingers of our nimrods are itchy about this time of year. Let them get a bit too itchy we reprint this poem, author unknown, which first appeared in the Philadelphia Ledger in 1909. The lesson still has to be learned by some, judging from the annual toll in hunting mishaps.

"Be Sure When You Pull The Trigger", it's captioned, and it goes like this:

A hunter popped a partridge on a hill,
It made a great to-do and then was still,
It seems (when later on his bag he spied),
It was the guide!

One shot a squirrel in a nearby wood—
A pretty shot, off hand, from where he stood.
It wore, they said, a shooting hat of brown,
And lived in town!

And one despatched a rabbit for his haul
That later proved to measure six feet tall;
And lest you think I'm handing you a myth,
Its name was Smith!

Another nimrod slew the champion fox,
He glimpsed him lurking in among the rocks;
The rapid shot — it never spoke or moved,
The inquest proved!

A cautious man espied a gleam of brown;
Was it a deer, or Jones, a friend from town?
And while he pondered on the river's brim,
Jones potted him!

Don't knock your church, it may have improved since the last time you were there.

THEY'RE BETTER ORGANIZED

The Russians have launched a man-made satellite into space and have it circling the globe at tremendous speed. And the news leaves us cold, doesn't worry us more than a bit. It's way over our head.

The Communists, it now appears, will rocket to the moon before the Americans are anywhere near ready for space travel. But even that prospect doesn't fazz on us. In fact if Krushchev and a few of his cronies found greener pastures on some other planet we of the Western world wouldn't miss them one bit.

According to the reaction of scientists around the world this is a significant victory for Russian engineering. They beat the U.S. in developing the dread intercontinental ballistics missile, which supposedly can hit any part of this continent under radio control from its launching sites in Russia. And now they've launched the earth's first man-made satellite into outer space. One wonders what other deadly new weapons are now in their arsenals that we of the democracies cannot yet match or defend ourselves from.

Perhaps the Russian scientists are brainier than their democratic contemporaries. But to our way of thinking it's probably just a matter of organization. The Reds have regimentation and that makes for efficiency. While Communism can channel all its available scientific know-how toward one end we see in the U.S. and our own country a duplication of effort that is wasteful of both money and brains. The U.S. Army has its projects that practically duplicate what the Navy is experimenting on. The Atomic Energy Commission jealously guards discoveries which other scientific brains in the laboratories of big business may be still trying to fathom. Billions of dollars are being spent on new type planes and Gus Ryder (left), world famous swimming coach is seen chatting with Douglas Phelps, a young victim of muscular dystrophy, and Dr. David Green, Toronto physician, who is first vice president of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada, at the time of the organization's annual meeting. Mr. Ryder has just announced that he will again act as honorary chairman of the Association's 1957 campaign for funds.

During the past two years, with Mr. Ryder at the helm, and the assistance of hundreds of Canadian fire departments and other service organizations, nearly $500,000.00, has been raised by voluntary donations to begin an intensive research effort to try to find the cause, and it is hoped, a cure for this presently fatal disease. Already there are sixteen projects underway at various universities and medical institutions across Canada, and additional projects are scheduled to begin soon. Stepping up the program could save thousands of lives.

Gus Ryder's work with handicapped children and adults is well known and since The Muscular Dystrophy Association was formed three years ago, he has given freely of his time and effort to further its object. The bulk of the money raised is devoted to research at present, since there is no known cause or cure. However, three clinics are now operating to find the victims of muscular dystrophy and help them as much as possible.

That is what worries us when we read of a Russian man-made moon circling the globe. Communist effort can be all-out on a goal, while the democracies waste vast sums of money and scientific know-how in competing one against the other and they get practically nowhere.

If we of the democracies ever hope to reach the moon, our governments will first have to get down to earth and organize for one concerted all-out effort.

WHEN new federal buildings, or new highways with elaborate cloverleaves, or new city halls are constructed, they must be built with the taxpayers' money.

Very often such expenditures are enthusiastically approved, because each of us seems to think it is some other person's tax money which is being spent so lavishly.

Canadians can help themselves, and the men and women they have elected to office, only if they remember that governments have no funds except the taxes they take from each of us.

Vern DeGeer Of Montreal Gazette Reminisces On Late Leo Macdonell

The following is reprinted from the sports column of Vern De Geer, sports editor of the Montreal Gazette, Tuesday edition:

WORLD SERIES BUGLE CALL . . . Leo Macdonell, 69, former sports editor for the Detroit Times, died Sunday at Northridge, California . . . he was one of the last of a rugged school of sports writing that marched through lean and fat years with Jack Adams and his Detroit Red Wings; Joe Louis on the way to boxing fame; and Mickey Cochrane's colorful American League pennant winners of 1934 and 1935 . . . Leo hailed from Superior, Wisconsin, and from a state currently being made famous for baseball as well as brew . . . he was a sports writer, baseball executive and later managing editor of the Superior Telegram before being shifted to Detroit 33 years ago . . . many of his relatives lived at Apple Hill, Ontario . . . he was president of the Baseball Writers Association of America and a long-time executive with this sterling organization . . . for many years Leo pounded both the major hockey and baseball beats in Detroit and was one of the most popular typewriter travellers in the business . . . illness forced him to relinquish the Detroit Times sports editorship several years back . . . he dropped out of the hockey picture as well but continued to follow the Tigers in Spring training, at home and on the road until a year ago . . . Leo was one of the jolliest of sports writers and a long time friend of Adams and Cochrane . . . his favorite baseballer was Charley Gehringer of the Tigers who started his diamond career with London, Ontario, and then shifted to Toronto Leafs before becoming an all-time great with the Tigers.

Back in 1934 when the Tigers and Frankie Frisch's St. Louis Gas-house Gang were locked in a World Series that Dizzy Dean loves to talk about, Macdonell was commissioned to "ghost write" articles for Gehringer . . . Leo saw Gehringer only once during the series but managed to produce some deathless prose that were outstanding ghosting items . . . after the first games of the 1934 series Leo managed to catch Gehringer for brief moments . . . "What did the guy suggest?" ghoster Leo was asked . . . "he asked about my family, said it was a good game and he hoped I didn't involve him in a libel suit" . . . returning from St. Louis to Detroit during the series, Gehringer, visited the dining car where scribes were holding forth and spotted Leo . . . "Hi, Leo," said Gehringer, "and what are we saying about the series?" . . . One of Macdonell's favorite stories was about a visit to Montreal during a Stanley Cup scribble between the Red Wings and Maroons in 1933 . . . a party of scribes visited the old Frolles for late evening relaxation . . . the tab for the first round of drinks was $25.00 . . . Leo paid the check, scowled at the waiter and said, "Gee whiz, you must think I'm a Duluth oil magnate" . . . then he left the joint . . . Larry Vincent, a long time Detroit night club favorite, was the MC star and Leo never forgave him for the outrageous tab for half a dozen beers and a couple bottles of ginger ale.

Motorcycle Races At Rigaud Park

Motorcycle racing fans, here is your last chance this year to see your racing favorites in action. Sunday, October 13th, at 2 p.m., Labelle, the promoter of Rigaud Park, is presenting the best program of the season. The usual professional cyclists from all across Canada and the U.S. will be in action.

These drivers offer keen competition amongst themselves and all have but one thought, to be declared winner even though it may mean a few scratches. On the preceding program, two drivers crashed through the safety fence, on bend four. This did not deter the other drivers to speed recklessly on, finishing "en masse" and the judges having to declare two winners.

This week, there will be an obstacle race, which is unique and promises many laughs. This type of race is always a favorite with the crowds, for the drivers must be speedy as well as skilful.

Also on the same bill, one of the most daring riders in the Province of Quebec, riding at hazardous speed, will crash through a flaming wall.

All this means you simply must see this show.

Labelle wishes to assure its public, that it is adequately protected from all accidents. Spacious free parking and several restaurants are at the public's service.

Rigaud Park is situated 35 miles

Open Mile — Denis Borris, Harvey Sauvé.

WEEKLY EDITORS SAW SEAWAY PROGRESS—High above the dried-out bed of the St. Lawrence, where a year ago the racing waters of the Long Sault Rapids boiled, a group of Ontario Weekly editors is pictured during a recent tour of the Seaway and power project as guests of Hydro. The officers of the provincial association were joined by other editors from the St. Lawrence Valley for the tour.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on 'nerves'—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better.

Weekly Editors Make Inspection Tour Of Hydro's Power Project

Officers of the Ontario Weekly Newspapers Association, accompanied by James A. Blay, Ontario Hydro's Director of Information, visited the St. Lawrence Power Project on September 26th.

The inspection of the powerhouse and associated works by this group coincided with some of the most significant advances made since the first sod was turned in August, 1954, to mark the start of construction on the Power Project.

Undertaken jointly by Ontario Hydro and the Power Authority of the State of New York, the St. Lawrence Power Project, when completed in 1960, will have a total installed capacity of 1,640,000 kilowatts which the two agencies will share. First power is expected to be available from this development by mid-1958.

Excellent progress has been made to date on all phases of the work. By mid-September of this year, concrete placing on the Ontario Hydro powerhouse reached the 76 per cent mark with over 740,000 cubic yards of concrete having already been placed on this principal structure. The installation of mechanical parts for the 16 units is continuing apace and at the present time turbine pit liners have been installed as far as unit 11 and speedrings to unit 12.

Striking progress has been made also on the construction of the 3½ mile-long Cornwall dyke, an important adjunct of the powerhouse. The placing and compacting of glacial till on two incomplete sections of the dyke is virtually finished and to date approximately 4,500,000 cubic yards of the total of 5,100,000 cubic yards of earth required have been placed.

The commencement of flooding operations in the vast Galop Island excavation and the virtual completion of dry excavation work at Iroquois Point mark a significant step forward in the Commission's channel improvement program.

One of the most unusual operations undertaken by Ontario Hydro in connection with the St. Lawrence Power Project is the Rehabilitation Program, involving the relocation of some 6,500 persons living in a 20,000-acre area which will be affected by the flooding operation.

In carrying out this program, Hydro established three completely new communities — Iroquois, Ingle-side and Long Sault — and is moving the homes of residents of seven villages affected by the project to locations in the new townsites. In addition, part of Morrisburg is being relocated in a new subdivision on the community's northeast periphery.

Large house-moving machines, capable of lifting up to 200 tons, are being used to relocate homes and to date 465 houses have been moved. In addition, Hydro has undertaken to provide complete water, sewage and electrical services in each new town, and also churches, schools and public buildings wherever they are required.

An important milestone in regard to the Rehabilitation Program was reached in August of this year when house-moving operations were completed in Cornwall township for the new town of Long Sault. To date,

GLEN ROY

At the MacMillan home over the weekend were Mrs. Margaret MacMillan, Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McMillan and Mr. and Mrs. Regy MacMillan, all of Montreal.

Mr. Pearsall and Mr. Hill were attending the convention of Safety Fuse Companies of Canada, U.S. and Mexico, held at St. Marguerite, Que.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moon of Hawkesbury, were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Fergus McRae, on Sunday.

the entire Rehabilitation operation is more than 90 per cent completed.

Also finished recently was a new 40-mile double track railway line between Cornwall and Cardinal. This diversion replaces an old section of the main Canadian National Railways' line which was in an area to be affected by the flooding operation. Similarly, 35 miles of main highway diversion are being built to replace part of No. 2 Highway which will be affected. This work is progressing favorably.

The interest shown in the St. Lawrence Power Project by residents of Ontario, the other Canadian provinces, the United States and countries abroad is indicated by the fact that, to date this year, more than 100,000 persons have visited Hydro's information headquarters at Cornwall to take advantage of the Commission's daily bus tours of the powerhouse area. In addition, over half a million visitors have viewed the project from Hydro's various lookout points. Many thousands of others have visited points of interest over the large project area and, during June and July of this year alone, some 7,000 toured the rehabilitation area.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
"My trade of late is getting bad,
I'll try another ten-inch ad."

If there be, go mark him well,
For him no bank account shall swell;
No angel watch the golden stair
To welcome home a millionaire.

The man who never asks for trade
By local line or ad displayed
Cares more for rest than worldly gain,
And patronage but gives him pain.

Tread lightly, friend, let no rude sound
Disturb his solitude profound,
Here let him live in calm repose
Unsought except by men he owes.

And when he dies, go plant him deep,
That naught may break his dreamless sleep;
Wherein no clamor may dispel
The quiet that he loves so well.

And that the world may know its loss
Place on his grave a wreath of moss;
And on the stone above, "Here lies
The guy who wouldn't advertise."

OCTOBER CHEESE FESTIVAL

DAIRY FARMERS OF CANADA
409 Huron Street, Toronto

From Farm Hand To President, Carnation Company Head Honored

Alexandria, Iowa. — Alfred M. Ghormley, president of Carnation Company, was named Guest of Honor for 1957 at the ninth annual meeting of the Dairy Shrine Club, national organization devoted to honoring great dairy leaders of the past and present.

During ceremonies attended by breeders of purebred dairy cattle, dairy products manufacturers, educators and industry leaders a portrait of Mr. Ghormley was unveiled. It will be hung in the Club's galleries.

Many men have established outstanding purebred herds after succeeding in business. Alfred Ghormley reversed the process. Youngest of four sons of a Tacoma minister, he began his career in 1915 as a farm hand at Carnation Milk Farms, near Seattle. His interest in the Holstein breeding program at the farm was natural. At home he had developed within his own backyard poultry flock several outstanding exhibition birds. This interest also came to the attention of Elbridge A. Stuart, founder of Carnation Company, and Carnation Farms. Young Ghormley soon was promoted to herdsman and later, when the farm manager resigned, he was given that responsible position in spite of his youth.

A natural judge of livestock, Mr. Ghormley also displayed keen administrative talents, technical ability, and sound judgment in developing the Carnation herd. His herd development program emphasized proper feeding and care of the Farms' animals in addition to bringing only those animals with the most desirable characteristics to the Farms for breeding purposes.

During his ten years as Carnation Farms manager, Mr. Ghormley was instrumental in building the Carnation Holstein herd to national prominence and recognition.

In 1929, shortly after Carnation entered the fresh milk and ice cream business, Mr. Ghormley was called from the Farms to enter supervision in this field. In 1933, he became a Carnation vice-president and director.

A year later he was appointed president of Albers Milling Company, Carnation's cereals and feeds subsidiary. In this capacity, Mr. Ghormley's sound background in the management of dairy herds and farm flocks greatly influenced the development and improvement of the Albers line of farm feeds. In 1938, he returned to the fresh milk and ice cream division in full charge.

On February 22nd, 1957, Mr. Ghormley was elected president of Carnation Company after having held the important administrative post of assistant to the president since 1951.

Absorbing as his many executive responsibilities have been, Mr. Ghormley has remained active in the continuing development of the Carnation Holstein herd and in the feeding and management of livestock of all types.

TOURING VANKLEEK HILL

Written for The Glengarry News by T. J. HUGHES

Seems like the Town Council is getting elated over the fact that natural gas will soon be piped to the Hill. How about piping a little water to the Hill? Let's do first things first. It would seem the Town Council should do a little fighting for waterworks and let the gas alone. The companies who are anxious to get the gas in here will see that it comes here no matter whether the Council agrees or not. To them that's business.

The mechanic put a bottle of Scotch in his pocket. On his way across the street, he was knocked down by an automobile. Picking himself up, he started to walk away when he felt something warm trickling down his leg. "Heavens!" he thought, "I hope that's blood."

Bill Quinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Quinton, was married last Saturday morning in Toronto. The Quintons made the trip to Toronto for the ceremony.

Pepsi-Cola wanted to marry Coca-Cola and went to Dr. Pepper. Dr. Pepper explained, "Impossible, you're both pops."

The Hill World's Horse Drawing Contest is getting great publicity and last week yours truly had a call from the CBC in Toronto. They are seriously thinking of putting the Draw on TV's "Country Calendar". The CBC will televise the Draw if proper lighting arrangements can be made.

The harassed driver was busily engaged with a spade in the mud beside his car when a stranger hailed him. "Stuck in the mud?" asked the stranger. "Oh, no," exclaimed the driver cheerfully. "My motor just died and I'm digging a grave for it."

As in other towns, we are having our share of the flu. Why all the fuss and publicity for this is beyond most people. One doctor in Hawkesbury told me we have had the flu going around every year and because they know this year there will be an epidemic they get everyone excited. When the flu is of mild variety why excite and panic everyone.

The husband reading the newspaper said to his wife, "It says here that in some of the places in the world, fish are used for money". The wife answered, "Heavens it must be messy putting one in a vending machine."

It's hard to get much out of anyone this past week with baseball, football, hockey and the flu taking the spotlight. Even my own boys won't talk to me. They are too busy figuring out who will win the next football game.

The boss informed his secretary, "I don't want any callers this afternoon". "If they say their business is important, just tell them that's what they all say". That afternoon a lady called and insisted on seeing him, "I am his wife", she exclaimed. "That's what they all say", replied the secretary.

The Hill High School has decided against changing their school hours for October. Too many complaints from parents led the school authorities to leave the hours as they have been in the past.

CAR BADLY DAMAGED
A combination of fog, darkness and unfamiliarity with the road resulted in $1,000 damage to a car driven by V. M. Smith of Ottawa, when it left the road near McCrimmon's Corners, early Sunday morning.

Neither the driver nor his passenger, Frank Pierce of Ottawa, was injured.

Constable Roy Seed, OPP at Hawkesbury, investigated.

Effective Organization Is Important CWL Sub-Division Is Reminded

"The degree of accomplishment the CWL can achieve through effective organization is great indeed", reminded Mrs. A. M. MacDonald at the October meeting of St. Finnan's CWL, held at the home of Mrs. Albert Dale, on Wednesday night. Mrs. MacDonald, in reporting on the Provincial Convention in Pembroke, relayed the messages of guest speakers, in regard to an increase of vocations in the home.

The president, Mrs. Earl Leroux, explained the necessity of conveners reporting monthly, and reminded members to save their IGA slips and Betty Crocker box tops for remuneration for charity.

It was decided to purchase crepe paper to make roses for sale on Mother's Day, and that the members would make the roses following the meetings.

Following the Spiritual Convener's report, given by Mrs. Gerald McDonald, it was decided to purchase religious pamphlets for circulation among members. It was also decided that they should purchase the picture of Our Lady of Good Counsel.

A subscription drive for the Canadian Register is to be put underway at once.

Mrs. Lloyd McHugh expressed her thanks for the travelling clock presented her in recognition of her achievements when president of St. Finnan's sub-division, and in honor of becoming diocesan president. The presentation was made at a previous meeting of the executive at the home of Mrs. P. J. Morris.

Approval and disapproval cards were distributed to be sent to radio and TV stations in evaluating programs.

To increase membership, the following members will launch a door-to-door campaign in November — Mrs. Lloyd McHugh, Mrs. Gerald McDonald, Mrs. A. M. MacDonald, Mrs. Dan O'Connor, Mrs. R. J. McCallum, Mrs. E. Leroux, Mrs. R. Watt and Miss Marge Seger.

Father J. McPhail blessed the members at the conclusion of the meeting. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Glen Nevis CWL Held Meeting

Mrs. Mervyn MacDonald, who was guest speaker at the September meeting of the Glen Nevis CWL, gave a most interesting and informative address outlining the highlights of the Provincial Convention held in Pembroke recently.

Fostering vocations in the homes was stressed by Rev. Leo MacDonell, and in so doing he urged parents to guide their children in every way possible to make the proper choice. "Family prayer and good example are the most important stepping stones by which we may attain this goal", he declared.

It is hoped that the young boys of the parish will be come members of the Knights of the Altar, a society for the altar boys.

A resume of the Diocesan executive meeting held at Ingleside, September 29th, was given by Mrs. J. D. A. MacDonald.

A paper entitled "Graces Derived from the Mass", read by Mrs. John McDonald, was very much enjoyed.

It was decided that a Baking Sale and Tea would be held October 11th in the North Lancaster Township Hall.

After adjournment, a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. J. A. MacDonald.

Isabellas Staged Card Party

A euchre party, sponsored by the Daughters of Isabella of North Lancaster and Green Valley, was held in the Township Hall at North Lancaster, September 29th.

The evening was a very successful one. The Daughters of Isabella were well represented by members from Cornwall, Alexandria and the vicinity. Many people from Glen Nevis parish were also present.

Attractive prizes were won by Ladies' — 1st, Mrs. Gilbert Gauthier; 2nd, Mrs. Wilfrid Cullerier; 3rd, Mrs. Hubert Filion; 4th, Mrs. Arcade Trottier; 5th, Mrs. Ubald Poirier.

measured in minutes
gasoline costs you less

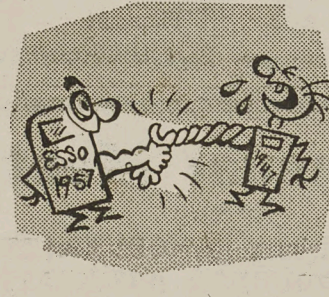

If you work at a job—and most of us do—how many minutes does it take to earn enough to buy a gallon of gasoline?

83 minutes?
Well, that was true for the average Canadian back in 1939. 29 minutes?
You're right if you're thinking about prices in 1946.

16 minutes?
Correct. According to government figures, that's how long it takes an average Canadian today to earn the price of a gallon of gasoline.

On the score of performance, you're getting an even bigger bargain. For today's regular gasolines are far superior to the premium grades sold only ten years ago.
