ONE OF CANADA'S AWARD-WINNING WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS

Town councillors must have been in a gambling mood when they decided to go for double or nothing.

One of the winners of the Fordson Hamburg Stakes, Paul Roy won't be eating hamburg next week.

Next Town Council Will Serve A Two-Year Term

Alexandria's next Town Council, Public Utilities Commission and Separate School Board will retain office for a two-year term as a result of a by-law passed by town council Monday night. The move for the longer term emanated from members of the present council, according to Mayor Simon, and the by-law received unanimous consent. Until a few years ago, a referendum was required for such action but the Municipal Act was changed to make it unnecessary for a Council to get the voters' consent. A referendum on Sunday morning picture shows will be voted on in the December 5th municipal elections in Alexandria. At the request of P. E. Viau, proprietor of the Garry Theatre, Council passed a by-law calling for a vote on the question of Sunday movies.

We understand such a referendum is to be held in various towns and cities across the province even though present provincial legislation is to be asked for new legislation which theatre owners feel would be only fair in view of Sunday television and teletel programs.

Died Suddenly Last Night

Amedee Marcoux, 84, died suddenly last night at his home on Chisholm street, when he suffered a heart attack. Mr. Marcoux died about 7:30 p.m., shortly after eating his supper.

Word of his sudden death came as a shock to family and friends.

The body is resting at the Marcoux & Morris Funeral Home and the funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday at Sacred Heart Church and cemetery.

Mr. Marcoux was born at Cascades, Que., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Orlas Marcoux, and came to the Alexandria area more than 60 years ago. He farmed in the 3rd Kenyon and later in the 2nd Lochiel, and was employed for some 35 years at the Munro & McIntosh plant. Mr. and Mrs. Marcoux moved to Alexandria on his retirement some 15 years ago and they were privileged to celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary last year.

Of a genial, friendly disposition, he had many friends who mourn his sudden passing.

Surviving are his wife, the former Amanda Delage; three sons and six daughters. They are: Albert, 2nd Kenyon; Louis, of Montreal, and Wilfrid, of Alexandria; Mrs. Eva Hogue, Mrs. Alice Laframboise, Mrs. Harold Darlington, Adorilla, and Miss Berezina Marcoux, all of Montreal; Miss Pauline Marcoux, Kingston, and Mrs. Wilfrid St. Germain, Aquila, of Cornwall.

One brother and one sister also survive. Jos. A. Marcoux, Alexandria, and Mrs. Joseph Des Fosse, Montreal.

Train Running Almost On Time

First experience with the new local train service at the CNR station here has been very satisfactory, according to the local agent, J. M. Langlois.

No. 4, the transcontinental now filling the role of local on this Division, was a half-hour late on Monday, but since then has never been more than 10 or 15 minutes behind its 9:18 arrival time.

Progress In The Wake Of Time

Contributed by MAJOR ANGUS McDONALD

It was exactly sixty-one years ago this Fall, that the new locks at Coteau Landing released the waters of the St. Lawrence River into the Soulanges Canal, thus by-passing the hazards of navigation presented by Les Cedres Rapids. The electrically lighted roadway, built on the north bank of the canal, was at the time considered the acme of perfection in highway construction.

It took twelve years to complete the project. Steam shovels and horse-drawn scrapers (slushers) did the basic work, while men with picks and shovels performed the preliminary work throughout the summer months.

Few people today can recall the long columns of horse-drawn Bain wagons, loaded with men and equipment, that rumbled over the dirt roads in early Spring to the dispersal centres, at Coteau Landing and St. Dominique, to return again in late Fall when frost set in. There were stopping places at points along the return routes, when copious quantities of refreshments were served to regale the spirits of the work-wearied men.

Many of the taverns located in the little villages along the routes were enlivened with the violin tunes, Gaelic songs and French Chansons that were popular at that time. Interesting and humorous tales, born out of these sojourns and early experiences, are still recalled by Glen garrigans to this day. Because of the nature of the work in the building of the then-called Coteau Canal, there was a great demand for engineers (civil), steam shovel operators, teamsters, blacksmiths, stone masons, pick and shovel men, time-keepers and clerks. The big contractors were "Raynor" (a little fast-talking Yankee with a nasal voice) and "Poupart & McDonald". In the human fabric comprising the imported labor from foreign lands, as shown on the payrolls, there also appeared peculiar identifying nomenclatures like "The Octopus", "Sandy the Blacksmith", "Big Alex the Walking Boss", "Duncle the Timekeeper", "Allan the Butcher" and many others so typical of the times because of the similarity of names.

It was here at Coteau, in the famous boarding house "Leroux" on lazy Sunday afternoons in the shade of the orchard, that many of the famous Glengarry anecdotes and witticisms were coined.

Now the passing of time and the progress of commerce, has brought about the abandonment of this once-prized man-made water route, and with it the ultimate disappearance of the hall-mark of many of Glengarry's pioneer builders. No doubt, too, the great Commodore, Jacques Cartier, if he were here, would feel the pangs of nostalgia on witnessing the conversion of his stately river to a mighty seaway route reaching to the very heart of the North American continent.

Was It Theft Or A Prank?

A five-ton Fordson Major diesel tractor complete with front-end loader and trencher on rear, is missing since Halloween and Provincial Police are not yet certain whether this was a Halloween prank or a theft.

The big machine is the property of Menard Construction, Green Valley, and it was left Monday night in their gravel pit in the 1st Lochiel. Tuesday morning it was gone.

The Provincial Police at Lancaster have checked nearby bushes and sideroads to no avail and Corporal Jean Trudel asks the co-operation of the public in its recovery. If it was a prank, the pranksters would be wise to get word to him. Hunters will be out next week and anyone spotting the lost equipment is asked to notify the OPP.

Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Grant, 1402 St. Antoine street, Montreal, marked the 50th anniversary of their marriage on Monday, October 31st. She is the former Lilla Rozon of Glen Nevis, and Mr. Grant is a native of Alexandria.

Testing For Fire Rates

G. L. deLaplante of the Dominion Fire Underwriters, Toronto, was here this week testing water pressure, fire services, etc., with a view to Alexandria fire insurance rates being lowered.

Council and the Board of Trade have been asking for a reduction since the new fire truck was secured.

No. 2 Crumbling Along Canal

No. 2 Highway along the Soulanges Canal is threatened by the crumbling of the canal wall beside the highway. Fill is being dumped to support the road and heavy transports are being forced to travel at slow speed.

The canal was drained recently in order to permit building of earth causeways to replace the four bridges that traverse the canal. The lack of water pressure is believed to have weakened the canal bank along the highway.

Accidentally Shot

Robert Woods, 15, of 1196 Union Avenue, Montreal, is a patient in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, as the result of a shooting accident near Lancaster Saturday afternoon.

The Woods boy, with a companion, Eldon McDowell, 17, of the same address, went hunting with a .22 calibre rifle just off the Fifth Concession, Lancaster.

While the circumstances are not too clear, police are inclined to think McDowell mistook the Woods boy for an animal. Woods was shot in the lower abdomen. His condition was reported at the hospital as not too serious.

Constable E. E. Foreman of Lancaster detachment, Ontario Provincial Police, who was called to the accident, is continuing investigation.

Escaped Injury In Tractor-Car Mishap

Howard McCulloch of Glen Roy, escaped with a sore back, Monday afternoon, when thrown from the tractor he was driving on Main street north.

Mr. McCulloch was hauling a thrasher behind his tractor, when a car driven by Gerald Robinson, RR 1, Dalkeith, struck the left rear wheel of the thrasher as the two vehicles passed each other. The thrasher was upset and McCulloch was thrown from his tractor seat.

Chief Ed Dupuis investigated. No charges will be laid.

New Street Lights Up

Alexandria's new fluorescent street lights are now up, all 43 of them, stretching along Main street from St. James to McDougall avenue.

The 300-watt lights removed from Main are being put up on corner posts on the side streets from McDougall to Lochiel.

Featured Artists For Concert

There will be a change of format for this year's St. Andrew's Concert to be held in Alexander Hall, November 25th and 26th. Instead of a play, outside artists will be featured, with Glengarry talent, in song, music and dance.

Mrs. Jean Baines of Deep River, Ont., a native of Scotland, will be featured in Gaelic and Scottish songs, which she will accompany herself on the clarsach. That is a Celtic harp.

Jimmy McLellan of Sudbury, formerly of Cape Breton, will entertain with his violin. He is well known as a recording artist.

Mrs. Rae McCulloch is preparing some folk dances which will feature her school of dances.

Lost Brother

Mrs. John C. Gauthier, 4th Kenyon, was bereaved recently with the death of a brother, James V. McMahon, of Finch Township. One brother and seven sisters survive.

Beautiful Bird And Friendly

Glengarry has an unusual visitor this week, a big hand-somely colored sand hill crane which has been making its home in the Second Kenyon, near the Kenyon dam.

Many from town have driven out to see it and get colored camera shots of this friendly bird which one can approach within five feet. Mrs. J. T. Smith identified it from her Audubon book and reports it winters in the south, summering in the northern prairies.

Much taller than the ordinary crane, it has a seven-foot wing spread and is most photogenic. It boasts a red spot on the head and rusty pink wings shade into blue. Its tail feathers droop.

It is conjectured the bird was blown off course and likes Glengarry so much it is lingering on.

Sodalists Depict Living Rosary

Sixty members of the senior sodality of St. Finnan's Parish took part in a candle-light procession Sunday night and stood in rosary formation in the aisles of the Cathedral while the beads were recited by the participants.

The five decades were composed of fifty girls — students of Iona Academy, the Prep School, Alexandria District High, and Grade 8 of the Alexander. The ten boys taking part in the function were from the above-mentioned schools and formed the other beads of the "living rosary".

Special for the occasion was a short but timely sermon on the tremendous need of the youths of today cultivating a true devotion to the Mother of God. Rev. J. D. McPhail, rector, introduced the preacher, the Rev. W. J. McGinnis, C.S.C., of Montreal. Father McGinnis had that afternoon concluded the exercises of the annual retreat for the men of the parish.

The Sanctuary, suitably decorated with autumn flowers in honor of the great liturgical feast of the day — Christ, the King — bore the international Sodality flag and local parish banner.

New Owners To Enlarge IGA Store

Jean-Paul Touchette of Long Sault, a member of the Touchman Co., Ltd., of Cornwall, Tuesday took over management of the Alexandria IGA store from Mrs. Mary Gauthier. The Touchman Company has purchased the local business and will lease the store building from Mrs. Gauthier.

On Tuesday the new proprietors started tearing down the old shed in rear of the store, and an immediate start will be made on construction of a 40-foot addition in rear, complete with storage cellar. Excavation for the addition got underway yesterday.

The Touchman Company already operates two IGA Foodliners in Cornwall, and a third in Long Sault, where they also operate a restaurant. The firm derives its name from the brothers, Lionel and Jean-Paul Touchette, and their brother-in-law, James Hickman, who are associated in the company. They have been in the grocery business for the past eight years, starting in now inundated Mille Roches and being rehabilitated to the new town of Long Sault when Hydro revamped the face of Seaway Valley.

The new manager of the local IGA, Jean-Paul Touchette, hopes to move his wife and family here from Long Sault as soon as housing arrangements can be completed. They have one son and three daughters. For the past two years he has served as president of the Long Sault Board of Trade and he plans to take an active interest in Board activities as soon as he gets settled in.

Mr. Touchette is no stranger to Alexandria. "When Father McPhail was parish priest at Long Sault," he recalls, "I used to come out with him to your Scottish concerts and I liked what I saw of your community and people." Mrs. Gauthier, who came here four years ago from Ottawa with her late husband, Tom Gauthier, to operate the IGA, has no intention of leaving Alexandria. She will remain on the store staff as will her sister, Miss Theresa Rowan.

Rev. Lafontaine Died Suddenly

A former pastor of Sacred Heart Church, here, and a native of Moose Creek, Rev. Louis Bertrand Lafontaine, O.P., died suddenly in Victoria, B.C., October 21st.

A chaplain with the Royal Canadian Navy, Father Lafontaine was due to board ship on his last assignment with the Navy when he suffered a heart attack.

Father Lafontaine was a popular member of the community and of the diocesan clergy from 1938 to 1945 when he served as parish priest at Sacred Heart Church. He was instrumental in building of the parish hall beneath the church and also modernized the parish cemetery.

A service was held at Victoria, October 25th, and the body was conveyed to the Dominican Order's residence in Ottawa, where many Alexandria friends and members of the clergy attended the funeral Mass on Monday. The body was then conveyed to St. Hyacinthe for interment in the Dominican cemetery.

Farmers Worried Into Posting Land

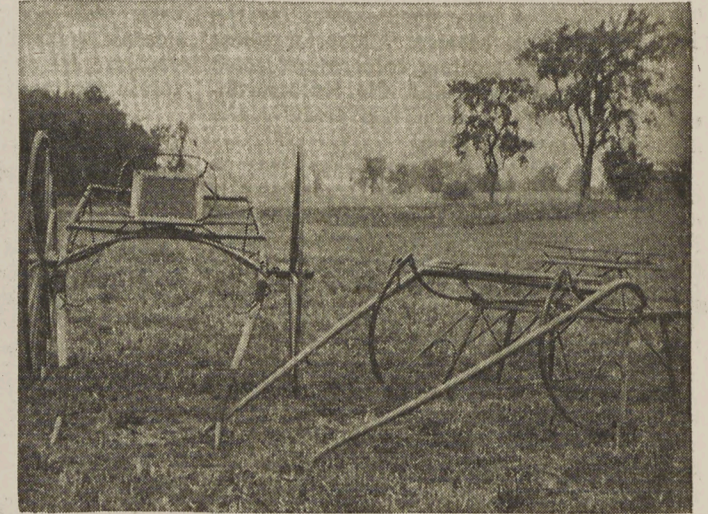

The four-day deer hunting season in Glengarry opens Monday, and many area farmers have been posting up "No Trespassing" signs in order to keep hunters off their land.

A bull belonging to Rene LaTrelle, St. Raphael, was shot in his pasture, recently, and there have been many reports of farm animals being shot by hunters in other parts of the province.

Sweet Peas Picked Oct. 31st

We've had more than our share of early frost through October, but the flowers don't seem to have been aware of it.

Mrs. Alex Maclaren, Alexandria, picked a bouquet of sweet peas, Monday, on her Garry Fen property.

MUSEUM PIECES — An old high-wheeled racing sulky and a racing sleigh made in the old blacksmith shop at North Lancaster, are now owned by Miss Evelyn MacLeod of Montreal. Though over 70 years old, they are still being used for pleasure at the home of Mrs. D. A. MacLeod, Glen Nevis. According to Miss MacLeod, the sulky was used for racing at North Lancaster and possibly Alexandria, while the sleigh raced on the St. Lawrence. The sleigh is especially rare, Miss MacLeod reports, "and there is real craftsmanship in the making of both". The blacksmith shop in which they were made is now part of Pioneer Village near Morrisburg.

Former Resident Killed In Alberta Car Accident

Mrs. Allan Macdonald, 72, of Claresholm, Alberta, a native of Alexandria, was killed in a car accident near Namo, Alberta, Tuesday of last week, according to word received by her niece, Miss Helen Costello, of Ottawa.

Mrs. Macdonald was the former Isabel McPhee of Alexandria, the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. McPhee. She had resided in the Claresholm district since her marriage to the late Mr. Macdonald, also a native of Alexandria.

Details of the accident have not been received, other than that Mrs. Macdonald was driving with a son-in-law when their car was in collision with another.

Several children survive, as well as two brothers, Donald McPhee of Berkeley, California, and Bergin McPhee, in Florida.

Broke Leg In Motorcycle Mishap

Marcel Lalonde, 18, of Boundary Road, Alexandria, suffered a broken right leg at 5:10 Tuesday night in a motorcycle mishap.

Lalonde was riding his motorcycle, which was being towed by a car, when the chain broke and his machine swerved into the guard posts on the curve south of Alexandria.

He was taken to the office of Dr. J. Rhea Lacroix for treatment before being conveyed by ambulance to Hotel Dieu, in Cornwall.

Early Report On School Progress

A preliminary report on each student at Alexandria — Glengarry District High School is being sent home to the parents, according to an announcement by Principal C. C. Fraser.

He points out that results of the Christmas examinations, which begin the week of November 21st, will not be available to the parents until late in December. This preliminary report is intended to give parents an idea of the progress of their children since school opening in September.

After studying the report, signing and returning it to him, the principal indicates, parents will be welcome to discuss individual cases with him should they so desire. An appointment can be made through the school office.

Cenotaph Parade

Remembrance Day, next Friday, will be marked by the annual parade to the Glengarry War Memorial here.

Alexandria Legion Branch is in charge of arrangements and veterans are asked to fall in on the Mill Square at 10 a.m. with berets and medals.

Those laying wreaths are asked to pick them up at the cenotaph at 10:45 o'clock.

Clifford Britton Repeats Win In Old-Time Fiddling Contest

The annual Old Time Fiddler's contest, sponsored by the Glengarry Historical Society, was held Friday night at the Bonnie Glen Pavilion. An excellent crowd enjoyed dancing to Gauthier's orchestra, and when the contest began they encouraged the various contestants with hearty applause.

A junior competitor from Cornwall aroused interest, and suggested the possibility of a junior competition, if junior entries increase. The judges were George Proctor of the Ottawa Museum, and Philip Baker of Cornwall. Following a few tunes on the pipes by Messrs. Melville MacLeod and Bobby MacCrimmon, of Dunvegan, the contestants drew numbers, and took their places. Last year's winner, Clifford Britton of Monckland, successfully defended his title, and again walked off with the cup, and a money prize as well. Second prize went to Yvon Cuellier, Montreal, while third was a tie between John Angus Macdonald, St. Andrews, and Duncan Macdonald, Glen Roy. Following the judging, "Little Jack" Macdonald, accompanied by Mrs. Walter MacCuaig, favored the gathering with several selections.

EDITORIALS

IT'S OUR OPINION

Daily Mail, Whenever It Arrives

THE CNR must have good reason for the switch-over at Ottawa this week which sees the local morning train transformed into a through train and the transcontinental turned into the local mail train on the Montreal-Ottawa division.

Possibly passenger traffic has become negligible along the line and the railway is catering to Ottawans in a hurry to reach Montreal. Or it could be that the transcontinental is so invariably behind schedule in reaching Ottawa from the West, provision has to be made for Ottawans who are making connections at Montreal.

The type of local train service we are going to get on this train will certainly be no improvement on the old. People planning to spend the day in Montreal will be totally in the dark as to when they will reach the city. Until the transcontinental reaches Ottawa each morning, there will be no way of them even knowing when to expect its arrival in Alexandria. We see the local station staff receiving a lot of calls inquiring as to the train's expected arrival time. And we pity the poor traveller who doesn't make inquiry before going to the station. He or she may have hours of waiting in that waiting room.

And what of the mail that late train is going to be carrying? One will never know what hour to expect one's morning mail from the west. The Post Office staff will have to have elastic plans for its handling. And the postmistress may be tearing her hair after telling the umpteenth mail seeker that the mail has not yet arrived.

This kind of service is not good enough. We would suggest to the Post Office department that it is time to plan truck service out of Ottawa. If the railway can no longer give service it should not be carrying the mail.

We suggest this regretfully for we have a feeling if the mails are taken off the trains on this Division, it will not be long before we have no local train service on this line. That will be a backward step.

Do We Want To Curb Drivers?

CAN nothing be done to stop the highway toll, a letter to the editor in last week's issue asked? And the editor suggests it is time the higher echelons of government took a more realistic approach to the problem.

Undoubtedly our governments might be doing much more than they presently do to curb the traffic toll. They could be ridding the roads of $50 jalopies many youngsters are driving when they long ago should have been consigned to the scrap heap. They might be making it more difficult for poor drivers, and the irresponsible, to secure driving permits. They might be putting more teeth in The Traffic Act, making the penalty more nearly fit the crime in such cases as motor manslaughter.

But government is not likely to follow a get-tough policy unless and until public opinion prods it into action. And we see no indication that the majority of the people, or even a small minority, want anything drastic done to curb the poor driver.

Almost every adult drives today, and even with the weekend accident toll staring him in the face he drives with the comforting assurance that "it can't happen to me". That feeling is strengthened by the many near-accidents he somehow avoids and his sympathies are invariably with the driver involved in an accident, even when the evidence points to gross carelessness, drunken driving, or plain incompetence.

Until enough drivers have a change of heart, see that there is no room for the poor or irresponsible drivers on our highways, we will continue to add to the traffic toll. You who have come to the conclusion "it's no fun driving any more, it's too dangerous", should be preaching restriction of driving permits. Until enough of you do, any Tom, Dick or Harry who can raise the down payment on an old jalopy will be free to give you the soft shoulder.

We Pay The Chips When Politicians Play Poker

THE premiers of our ten provinces were in Ottawa last week discussing with the federal government the possibilities of a new tax-sharing agreement. And reading the news reports of this conference gave us the chills.

The heads of all eleven of our senior governments seemed to be sitting around a poker table, each one of them intent on leaving the game richer in tax potential. And the chilling thought was that the chips they were playing with were all ours. We, the people who pay the taxes, were supplying the chips; we had absolutely no say in the game; and no matter who won, we were destined to be the losers.

Every one of those heads of government appeared intent only on getting a bigger share from the tax trough. There was not a hint from any of them that economy in public spending might be a smart, new idea.

We pictured it as a poker session, that Dominion-Provincial conference, when Prime Minister Diefenbaker opened it with a bluff the provincial premiers refused to call. At the last conference, some months ago, the provincial heads had asked for much larger slices of the federal tax take; the Prime Minister had estimated their collective demands at a cool two billion dollars more than they are now getting. This time the federal government held its cards close to its chest as the Prime Minister opened the conference by suggesting an entirely new approach to the problem. The provinces might be permitted to collect their own income taxes and succession duties, he proposed. And all ten premiers threw in their hands.

They weren't calling that one. They much prefer to spend public money the federal government has collected for them. They want Ottawa to give them more of what it takes in taxes, with no strings attached.

That bluff worked; so Mr. Diefenbaker tried another. If all the ten provinces agreed, the federal government would support a constitutional amendment permitting the provinces to levy an indirect sales tax at the retail level. He knew seven of the provinces already have a direct sales tax collected on each retail sale. He also was aware Ontario's Premier Frost wants the added revenue from a sales tax but that he would prefer an indirect tax which Ottawa could collect for him and which might save his political skin at the expense of Ottawa.

The Diefenbaker government was going for that, and Honest John had bluffed them out of the pot even before they could get around to making their bids. In doing so he piously affirmed a policy that had previously fallen on deaf ears in Ottawa and every provincial capital.

Every government should tax for the monies it requires to finance its spending, we have long maintained. The provincial government should not be spending millions of dollars Ottawa has collected from the taxpayer. Then there is little sense of responsibility; their appetites for more of the same easy money become insatiable. Neither should the municipal councils be taxing for relief, for example, when Queen's Park ordains the expenditures each council must make on welfare.

Mr. Frost's government should not have the authority to force our local council to pay relief to any family receiving unemployment insurance which provincial welfare agents deem inadequate to the needs of that family. Here we have the sad picture of Alexandria property owners being taxed a little bit more by their council because of regulations framed in Toronto and which depend to a large extent on the administration of the federal Unemployment Insurance plan which can be conservatively described as the biggest waste of public funds in Canada.

Relief and welfare, which Mr. Frost's government is dispensing with a prodigal hand, should be paid entirely by the Ontario government, which should have to tax the people of this province for the needed money. Alexandria's council has no say in this spending; it should not have to collect even one penny of the cost of this program.

In this game of poker the premiers were playing at Ottawa last week, Mr. Diefenbaker was smart enough to take the opening hand with what appeared to be a big bluff. But the provincial premiers are smart, too, and they plan to get together in Quebec City in December to co-ordinate their game, possibly raise the ante so they will be in a better position to put their chips on the table next time they are called into a game at Ottawa.

The present tax-rental system will be in effect until 1962 and there will probably be quite a few more gatherings at Ottawa before the chips are finally won.

The Weeklies Say

HUNTING TRAGEDIES

The feeble excuse — "I thought it was a deer" — is scant consolation for a bereaved family and little solace to the conscience of a hunter who kills one of his counterparts in the woods. — Grande Prairie (Alta.) Herald-Tribune.

Bulbs are being offered for sale in the stores. They are easy to grow and repay the planter with glorious blooms each spring. Try a few of the newer kinds for a pleasant surprise. — Picton (Ont.) Gazette.

DOLLAR EXCHANGE

With two countries and two people as close to each other in all respects as are Canada and the United States, it seems ridiculous that our money should be rated above or below theirs. Maybe this is not good economics nor in the best interests of the favored country, but it's not very good public relations to tell a visitor that his money is not worth as much as ours, particularly when we are anxious to encourage Americans to visit Canada. — Humboldt (Sask.) Journal.

WASTED LAND

With acre upon acre of good farm land lying unused, we don't worry too much about a bit of erosion here and there, but two generations from now the scarcity of land for growing food for our population may become a serious handicap. — Napanee (Ont.) Post-Express.

HIGHWAY HYPNOSIS

One of the most puzzling features of the summer's terrible (traffic) toll is that many of the accidents have occurred on straight stretches of highway in near-perfect weather and visibility conditions. . . . The conclusion is inescapable that a form of highway hypnosis has played a major role in this year's grim record. — Grande Prairie (Alta.) Herald-Tribune.

Brains Moving South

(The Letter-Review)

Sharp rise in number of native Canadians leaving Canada for the United States is reported by the U.S. Immigration Service in its annual report for the year ended June 30th, 1960. In the year, 30,990 native Canadians emigrated to the U.S., compared with 23,082 in the previous year.

Report also showed that U.S. immigrants giving Canada as their last place of permanent residence increased to a postwar high of 48,868, a rise of 12,069 from the previous year. These included a number of immigrants to Canada from Europe, who had taken up residence in Canada for only a short period.

Loss of Canadians is regrettable, even though it may be offset by some Canadians who return to their native land after finding out that the far pastures were less succulent than they appeared from a distance. What is deplorable about the loss is that many of the emigrants seeking their fortunes south of the border are those who have had expensive professional educations in Canada. Those who contribute to expansion and maintenance funds of Canadian universities may wonder why they should do so if the net result is to deprive Canada of some of her potentially best citizens.

Government must share some responsibility for the loss of citizens in so far as it has neglected to stimulate by its tax policies and in other ways the type of enterprise that can produce worthwhile opportunities for the young Canadians now being lost to the U.S.

BIG CARS

We still say that Canadian cars are too big and many a garage has to be made larger and this means more expense. . . . Plainer, sturdier, more economical and serviceable cars will woo the buyer more than the futuristic designs and fancy looks. . . . — Huntingdon (Que.) Gleaner.

REGULAR TESTS

Driving a car on a public highway is a privilege, not a right. . . . To detect possible "killers" in advance, every motorist should undergo a severe test before being issued a driver's licence. These tests should be repeated periodically every few years. — Granby (Que.) Leader-Mail.

WITH OUR RAMBLING REPORTER by ED.

Don't worry about avoiding temptation. As you grow older, it starts avoiding you.

GET HUNGRY, GANG A lot of Ottawa's football faithful will be worrying more than a little this week after watching the Rough Riders throw away Saturday's game.

A win would have given them first place and a week's rest before the league final. Instead they have to get by Montreal in the semi-final on Saturday, and ordinarily there wouldn't be too much to worry about that. But if they can give away a game they'd already won, what might happen in a sudden-death play-off, the fans begin to wonder?

Either Coach Frank Clair was caught napping in not ordering a ground game in the last minutes of play, or the Rough Riders preferred second spot and the $300 each gets for playing an extra play-off game.

It's to be hoped the Riders will be hungry again on Saturday and that they'll stay that way from here through the Grey Cup game. Our money stays on them in spite of Saturday's sad finish.

A dog is man's best friend because he wags his tail instead of his tongue.

FALSIES FOR BOYS, YET?

By the Billie Whiskers where is this world of ours heading? Or have you read of the new false craze that's sweeping Britain. Hundreds of young men are buying fake beards and moustaches for evening wear.

"They say a beard makes them feel good" reports a Manchester theatrical dealer, "but they can't grow their own because their bosses would object". So the young fellows in their late teens and early twenties are plastering on sideburns, vandykes, moustaches or full beards for a night out on the town. Sounds dismal, doesn't it? But perhaps this is their way of getting even with the girls.

"Boys will be boys", used to be the accepted excuse for their transgressions. Maybe they're trying to look like men with this false whisker crop, in protest against their girl friends appearing as women with another type of false. Perhaps they'd be content to be themselves if the female of the species would stop trying to give the impression she's another Marilyn Monroe. Or is M.M. wearing falsies, too?

This business of falsies is a fraud that would long ago have been outlawed if man was still in the driver's seat. The laws of the land do not permit false advertising of an inferior product; there is a weights and measures act which could be extended from groceries to encompass the female frame.

If men were men this craze for falsies might long ago have been stopped by law. Maybe these boys in Britain are using fire to fight fire, by the Billie Whiskers.

When it comes to doing for others, some people stop at nothing.

IN A HOT SPOT

Out of darkest Africa last week came a National Defence photo of an Alexandria youth, Corporal Ronnie Lefebvre, who is serving with the UN forces in the Congo. He and his buddies looked cool enough in their khaki, but the weather was just about perfect here at home and your Rambling Reporter felt thankful he was no longer young enough to be airlifted to such a hot spot.

He knows nothing about winter weather conditions in the Congo, but he's happy to accept the cold that's coming in preference to the present climate in the Congo which is definitely on the hot side.

Those United Nations' troops must be having a real testing time trying to stave off chaos in the Congo. From what we read we gather the Belgians left a country that was anything but ripe for self-government.

Only a score or so of the natives boasted a university education and we doubt if even a hundred more could write such godawful names as that of their premier, Lumumba, the army chief Mobutu, the president, Moise Tshombe.

There is no civil service such as we know it in Canada, entrenched in the seats of real power and capable of directing our destiny no matter the party in power. The army (Continued on Page 3)

GIANT FUNNEL IN PLACE—One of the finishing touches to the superstructure of the new Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada — the placing of her giant 64-ton steel and aluminum funnel — was completed October 8th. The 27,300-ton liner, launched last May, is scheduled to go into service between Liverpool and Montreal in April, 1961. Owing to the weight of the huge funnel, the ship had to be moved from her fitting out berth at the Vickers - Armstrong Yard at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, down to where the giant hammer-head crane was holding suspended the gleaming buff colored funnel with its red and white checkered house flag. The whole operation of lifting, moving the ship, and putting the funnel into position was completed in 60 minutes. —Canadian Pacific Photos everybody's problem. It is not only Africa that is searching, the whole world is searching for Peace and Security, searching for a way and a guide. Africa faces the question "What Way Young Africa?" And Canada the question "Which Way Canada?" Hymn 559, "Take Up Thy Cross, The Saviour Said", verses 1, 2 and 3, was sung. Mrs. MacLean closed this portion with prayer.

The president, Mrs. A. D. Stewart, presided for business and thanked all who took part in the meeting. Sixteen responded to the roll call. Twenty visits and four cards were reported. One visitor present.

It was moved by Mrs. W. S. MacLean that the 1960 slate of officers be re-elected for the incoming year, 1961, namely:

- Honorary President—Mrs. Malcolm MacLeod.
- President—Mrs. A. D. Stewart.
- Secretary—Mrs. Rod F. McRae.
- 1st Vice-President—Mrs. W. S. MacLean.
- Treasurer—Mrs. W. A. MacEwen.
- Home Helpers' Secretary—Mrs. A. J. MacEwen.
- Supply Sec.—Mrs. Hugh Blair.
- Expense Sec.—Mrs. E. Bickerstaff.
- Glad Tidings Secretary—Mrs. James Cumming.
- Welcome and Welfare Secretary—Mrs. E. Bickerstaff.
- Organist—Mrs. W. S. MacLean.
- Press Sec.—Mrs. Rod F. McRae.

This motion was seconded by Mrs. Alex Kennedy.

Mrs. Stewart expressed her thanks for the wonderful response made for the sale, which had been sent in. A letter was read giving the list of vacancies in Glengarry Presbyterian. This was discussed, several names were mentioned for some of the offices. It was decided to hold this over for the December meeting. A letter from the corresponding and recording secretary of the WMS on Stewardship, was read asking us to increase our givings by 25% for 1960. This was discussed.

The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. W. S. MacLean, in the absence of Mrs. W. A. MacEwen; this was seconded by Mrs. A. J. MacEwen. Offering was received and dedicated. Mrs. W. S. MacLean read a request for reports from the literature secretary, librarian and welcome and welfare secretary. First two verses of Hymn 594, "Rescue The Perishing, Care For The Dying" was sung. Mrs. Malcolm MacLeod thanked Mrs. Stewart for her hospitality. Meeting closed by repeating The Lord's Prayer in unison. A social hour followed.

DUNVEGAN

On Sunday, October 30th, guest preacher here was Rev. Prof. D. N. MacMillan, of the Presbyterian College, Montreal. He administered Baptism, assisted by D. N. MacRae, representative elder, to Norma Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd V. Nixon. He was accompanied by Mrs. MacMillan and sons, Donnie and Robert, and they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George MacDonald, and Alastair Cameron, who was guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. MacLeod.

Mrs. D. Wm. MacLeod and sons, D. A. and W. K., and Mrs. MacLeod, visited with son Donald H., Mrs. MacLeod and children, Heather and Catherine, in Montreal, Sunday. They also visited John D. MacLeod, who is a patient in the General Hospital. We are glad to know he is improving.

Mrs. K. K. MacLeod, who spent some time at her home here, left for Montreal on Monday.

Mrs. Annie Campbell and daughter, Miss Harriet, of Cornwall, made several calls here Saturday enroute to Alexandria.

Her many friends were sorry to hear of the serious illness of Mrs. A. Grant, which necessitated her removal by ambulance to the Civic Hospital, Ottawa, Sunday afternoon. Her daughters, Mrs. Mack Lowrey and Mrs. Alastair MacKenzie, who were in attendance, accompanied her, also other members of her family. We sincerely regret the news that Mrs. Grant died Tuesday morning.

The Halloween party staged by the Dunvegan Sunday School in the Orange Hall on Friday evening, was a great success and enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Renwick and baby Jimmy, of Vankleek Hill, visited Mrs. Renwick's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Austin, on Monday evening.

The Cold War is also thrusting in on this hot spot, to further complicate an awesome mess. This is the ideal trouble spot the Communists help to fashion.

If the UN solves this problem of the Congo it will have proved itself. We hope it does, and soon, for we wouldn't want Ronnie Lefebvre and others of our Canadian contingent to miss another bracing winter such as we are due to know. Right now the Congo is unhealthy hot.

FALCON FORDOR SEDAN—one of Ford of Canada's fine cars... built in Canada

Remarkable record for a new car, isn't it? But then, the Falcon is a rather remarkable car. It has honest room for six, combined with handy size and dimensions that make it terrific for driving in traffic, a pleasure to park. It delivers up to 35 miles to a gallon, with 85 lively horsepower designed for Canadian roads and loads. (There's an optional 101 horsepower engine available in the '61 Falcon if you want even snappier performance.) The Falcon runs so smoothly and quietly you sometimes forget the engine is on. Trunk room is generous, visibility practically unlimited. And as for style, in all modesty, it really is a beauty!

All Invited To Try Curling As Season Opens Friday Night

Curling enthusiasts take to the ice lanes Friday night to open the season at the local rink. President Jos. Filion extends an invitation to anyone interested in the roarin' game to drop in and try the new ice.

Everyone will get a chance at a bit of curling at least, he promises; and the ladies will be providing a light lunch to mark the opening of the season.

The ice lanes have a new look this year, due to the new wall boarding. The sheets appear longer and narrower and better lighted. And chief ice-maker Alme Menard hopes they are much truer than last year. He has fashioned two ice lanes that are eye-catching, with the help of other volunteer workers in the club; the stones boast a fresh coat of paint, as do the chairs in the clubroom.

Local competitions will get underway next week and the opening men's bonspiel is set for the week of November 28th - December 3rd.

Remember when you used to go to bed with the curfew? Today they just blow it to wake you up.

Junior Team To Represent Town

Alexandria will have a team in an area Junior Hockey League this winter, it was decided at an organization meeting last week. It will play in a league boasting a Maxville entry and four teams from Cornwall.

Decision to enter a junior league was made because of the number of young hockeyists in town and district who are now too old for minor league play and yet a bit young for Border League action, we understand. This team will provide a "farm" for the big team, officials hope, and thus should be worthy of support at the box-office.

Club officers are:
Hon. Pres.—Rev. C. F. Gauthier.
Pres.—Dr. Bernard Villeneuve.
Vice-Pres.—Norman Laperle.
Sec.—Treas.—Bert Lalonde.
Manager—R. J. Graham.
Trainer—Claude Levac.

Any player wishing to try out for the team is invited to come out to a practise Saturday night from 10 to 11 o'clock.

The Border League, we understand, is to have its reorganization meeting on November 15th.

Montreal Students To Honor Coach Andy McGillis

Andy McGillis, coach of St. Leo's School in Westmount, will be honored by former students at a testimonial dinner to be held in the Queen's Hotel, Montreal, November 24th at 7 p.m.

Hundreds of Montreal pupils have come under Andy's wing during his 24 years at St. Leo's. He coached 10 city high school hockey championship teams and eight football titlists during his tenure at St. Leo's.

A number of golden gloves champions started off with Andy and he was responsible for developing Frankie Creaghan, former middle-weight amateur champion of Canada.

Andy also coached the junior Westmount football team that won the Eastern championship in 1938. Track and field was another sport which he specialized in at St. Leo's. Mr. McGillis was born at Glen Robertson, the son of the late James McGillis and his wife, Lorraine McMillan. The family left Glen Robertson in his youth, but he has retained his Glengarry connections while resident in Montreal.

WILDER'S Stomach Powder

Proven in use for generations!

ON NOVEMBER 7th, 1885, a group of bearded, frock-coated, beaver-hatted, Canadian Pacific officers and directors, surrounded by railway engineers and trackworkers, gathered in the chilly mist of Eagle Pass at Craigellachie, British Columbia, to watch the driving of the spike that completed Canada's first transcontinental railway. Historians say that Lord Strathcona's hammer-taps were literally heard around the world, since the linking of the rails at Craigellachie fulfilled the terms of Confederation, making Canada at last truly a nation "from sea unto sea". In Montreal, N. R. Crump, president of today's Canadian Pacific, commenting on the 75th anniversary of the event, said: "While on this historic occasion we pay homage to the great figures of the past — the men who built Canada's first transcontinental railway — it should not be forgotten that it was their vision of the future which laid the economic foundations of nationhood and also established the basis of the world-wide transportation enterprise of Canadian Pacific today." Canadian Pacific has grown in the seven and a half decades since Craigellachie into an integrated transportation system of 85,000 route miles serving Canada and the world by land, sea and air.

He expressed his appreciation to the staff of the school, who have worked hard in preparing the school for the event.

Mr. Fraser also spoke briefly upon the achievements of the district during the past year. "It is not," he said, "my intention to review the activities of District 27 during the past year, but I would like to comment on one very encouraging feature. While the improvement of material benefits must always loom large with us because they are a very important factor in creating an atmosphere in which a teacher can do his best work, nevertheless there is an increasing emphasis being placed on professional development, on the acquiring of better methods of teaching, on the deepening of scholarship and there is much greater awareness that the most important element in the educational set-up is the children who are entrusted to us for education."

"The inspiration for this new movement can be credited to the OSSTF, of which you and I are members. We are now in the third year of our existence as a District; the fledgling years have passed; we are now safely launched, and I believe we can look forward to the prospect of greater activity resulting of course in benefits to the Cause of education in this area."

Following the presidential address, Mr. Ronald McPherson, chairman of the School Board, welcomed the teachers to the use of the buildings for this occasion.

The teachers then separated into study groups according to subjects. In most groups a guest speaker outlined teaching methods or techniques which should prove beneficial to the newer teachers and the older ones alike. Most groups had a discussion period.

At 12:30, a "Smorgasbord" luncheon was served in the gymnasium under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the Alexandria United Church.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Dr. Emmett O'Grady, head of the English department at the University of Ottawa. His talk was entitled: "Levity and Learning in Literature". Dr. O'Grady demonstrated vividly how the teacher can prove himself interesting and make his students eager to know more about the subject involved. He said that no matter what was taught, it should always be in the light of the world in which the children live. He also passed on many gems of wisdom from authors such as Jonson, Shaw, Chesterton, Wilde, Byron and Shelley.

Dr. O'Grady reiterated that teachers should, "learn everything about something, and something about everything". He added that the teacher should be interesting enough so that the students will meet the teacher half-way. "This, he said, "is essential if we are to have communion of thought between teacher and student."

"The task of the teacher", he went on to say, "is to bring to the student the wisdom of the past in the hope of brightening the future."
Mrs. E. Slingerland, vice-president for District 27, thanked the guest speaker and assured him that she felt sure that all present had enjoyed his lively and educational talk.
The annual assembly was concluded with a short business meeting at which time the officers for the coming year were installed. Mrs. El Slingerland took office as president; Leo Byrne, as vice-president; Mrs. O. Gorman, as chairman of Salary committee; Miss Rosemary Burns, as chairman of Professional Development committee, and E. E.

Forgues remained as District public relations officer.

One of the highlights of the luncheon was the presentation to J. T. Smith of an Associate Life Membership in OSSTF. Mr. Smith retired as principal of Alexandria-Glengarry District after forty-four years in the teaching profession, for twenty-six of which years he was principal. The presentation was made by Jack Callan, principal of Nepean High School, and a past provincial president of OSSTF.
